Banker Son's Body Discovered In Ohio

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The FBI agents are gone now. Only the shock and sorrow linger in the Grasse Pointe, Mich., home of James Crawford Sr. and his wife, Theresa, Scottish immigrants who came to this country in 1957 when their son, James, was only seven years old.

For six days, the FBI and the Crawfords anxiously awaited word on the fate of their son, now 25, who was kidnapped a week ago as he arrived for work at a branch of the National Bank of Detroit, where he was an assistant manager.

The vigil ended Thursday when Crawford's body was found wearing a blood-streaked shirt and tan trousers in a wooded clump along a backwoods road 13 miles from this quiet, Christmas decorated town in central Ohio. Three men and a woman have been arrested in the case.

The FBI relayed the news to Tom Edgar, a banker and a friend of the family's from their days together in Scotland. It was left to Edgar and a son-in-law of the Crawfords to tell them.

Later, Mrs. Crawford answered the telephone when a reporter called. She was unable to speak, stricken with emotion, Edgar said the Crawfords, both in their early 50s, were under heavy sedation under doctor's orders.

"They are in a state of shock and cannot totally comprehend what happened to them," said Edgar. "I suppose it was God's will. I can't understand it and neither can the family."

Dr. George A. Gressle, the Licking County, Ohio, coroner, said young Crawford bled to death from more than 20 knife wounds in the chest, back, neck and the side of the head. He said Crawford died sometime after 9 p.m. Tuesday after apparently "fighting desperately" for his life.

Gressle said "defense wounds" on his left hand indicated Crawford had tried to wrest the narrow bladed, sharp pointed knife from his assailant.

He also suffered a right black eye and Gressle said he assumed he was punched with a fist.

Sheriff Max Marston said Crawford was stabbed at the desolated wooded area, within three miles of a rented home where he was held hostage, but despite his wounds managed to stagger up a road for nearly a quarter of a mile apparently seeking help before he collapsed and died. An abandoned station wagon, stolen from a Detroit suburb and believed used in the kidnap plot was found along the roadway nearby.

FBI agents had traced the auto to the house, which authorities said had been rented by one of the three men arrested, John S. Garsides, 39, a former resident of Columbus, Ohio. The agents had the house under surveillance and trailed Garsides and William Nabozny 38, of Dearborn, Mich. there.

Garsides, Nabozny and Sharon Scheurell, 24, of Columbus, were arrested together Wednesday as they drove toward Indiana on Interstate 70 about 20 miles west of Dayton. The third man accused in the case, Chester S. Wysocki, 36, of Dearborn, was arrested in the Detroit suburb of Farmington.

The three men, have been charged by federal authorities with conspiracy to commit bank larceny through use of a hostage. The woman, described by authorities as the common-law wife of Garsides, has been charged with being an accessory after the fact. All are being held on bonds ranging from $100,000 to $500,000 pending further hearings on the federal charges.

Sheriff Marston said in Newark that murder charges would be filed by his office but that he didn't know against whom or when. He said he would have to confer with the FBI.

Sources close to the investigation said that Miss Scheurell, while not charged with abduction, relayed coded messages from Garsides while he was in Detroit to Nabozny who allegedly was holding Crawford in the rented house

Reluctant Hoffa Witness Is Jailed

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
While federal investigators readied equipment in New Jersey to dig up a Jersey City dump, presumably in search of the body of Teamsters Boss James Hoffa, the government jailed a New Jersey Teamsters official who refused to answer grand jury questions in Detroit. Stephen Andretta, 40, of Little Ferry, N.J., was imprisoned for contempt of court Thursday after a judge had given him immunity from prosecution in the Hoffa case. The grant of immunity was an attempt by the government to force Andretta to testify against his brother and two Teamster associates who a secret government witness says abducted and killed Hoffa.

Andretta's brother, Thomas, and Salvatore and Gabriel Briguglio appeared in a police lineup over the weekend in front of a witness to Hoffa's abduction. A source told the Associated Press the witness picked one of the three out of the lineup.

The three have denied through their attorney that they were in Michigan last summer and that they therefore could not have taken part in the crimes.

Stephen Andretta is associated with Teamsters Local 560 of Union City, N.J. His brother and the Briguglio brothers also are employed at the local. All four are associates of Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, one of three men Hoffa believed he was on his way to meet the day he disappeared.

Atty. William Bufalino, who represents several Teamster members in the Hoffa probe, was admitted to St. John Hospital in Detroit Tuesday night suffering from what doctors called a mild heart attack.

But Bufalino was well enough to issue a three-page statement from his hospital bed, subsequently read by his lawyer son, William II, accusing the FBI of "gestapo-type tactics" in forcing Andretta to jail.

Officials refused to say when the excavation would begin at the 60-acre site known as Mos-cato's Dump, a landfill in Jersey City that has not been used for years.

Robert C. Stewart, a member of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force, said Thursday, "Within the past 24 hours the government has received information from an informant whose information has proved reliable in the past, which should enable the government to focus attention upon a more precise and limited area of the dump."

Sources said the informant who supplied the information was a convicted member of organized crime who may be trying to trade information about Hoffa in return for leniency in an unrelated case.

He is currently under protective custody by federal marshals, and federal officials have refused to make any public comment about him.

The warrant does not name Hoffa as the object of the search. It directs the FBI to find the body of a reputed loan shark named Armand "Coke" Faugno, who disappeared three years ago after he was indicted on counterfeit charges. However, sources said the informant provided information related to Hoffa's burial.

Officials theorized that solving the disappearance of Faugno could provide leads in the Hoffa case.

Federal sources said the witness may provide information, unrelated to Hoffa, that could be used to put pressure on three men under investigation by a grand jury in Detroit in the abduction of Hoffa.

No Mower Horn; OSHA Fines School

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board last night decided to pay under protest a $138 fine assessed against the school district by the state department of labor. The fine followed an Oct. 29 inspection of school facilities in which minor safety violations were found by a labor department inspector.

All of the violations found were said to be hazards under Michigan's occupational safety and health act, according to Supt. John Schuster.

He said Berrien Springs was one of the first four school districts in the state to be inspected under the law.

Schuster said violations found included no horn on the school district's riding lawn mower, failure of a teacher and students to wear safety goggles in sewing class, the storage of oxygen and acetylene tanks together in the welding shop, and lack of an enclosed office space for the bus supervisor in the bus garage where buses are repaired.

The Michigan act is patterned after a similar federal act, but the federal act does not include schools.

Schuster said the protest and fine would be forwarded to State Rep. Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph). Schuster said Gast had earlier agreed to present the fine and protest in person to the labor department.

Peter Rudell, board president, said of the inspection, "This is a new law for jurisprudence in this country. Not only are they (labor department inspectors) the judge and jury, but they are also the arresting officer."

Stanley Macklin, business manager, said the district had been promised assistance before an inspection was made, but the assistance did not materialize. He said all 138 violations on the inspection report were listed as "other than serious."

In other areas, Rudell exercised a tie breaking vote in favor of a motion to purchase various types of insurance from the low bidders rather than as a package from one agent.

Voting with Rudell were Dr. Weldon Croke, Edwin Kerlikowski and George Bennett. Voting in favor of purchasing a single package were Jeff Porter, William Boyd and James Betchek. The administration had recommended purchasing from one agent.

The Eldon Smith agency, Benton Harbor, was awarded the bid for Workman's compensation and umbrella liability. The Farm Bureau of Berrien Springs was awarded the bid for fleet insurance.

REWARD POSTED: Los Angeles Police Sgt. Gary Broda explains to newsmen how department hopes to gain information on slaying of fellow officer Michael Edwards some 19 months ago. Edwards was found cuffed and shot in the back of the head, and no clues to his killing have been uncovered. Police feel someone knew of the slaying and the $15,000 reward will bring them forward. ## Coat Of Ice Slick Roads, Shuts Schools

By ALAN AREND

Freezing drizzle during the night brought a major portion of southwestern Michigan into a glare of ice, causing hazardous driving conditions and the closing of numerous schools today. Area police agencies reported a rash of traffic accidents last night and early this morning, but few injuries. Over 70 accidents were reported by area police, including 41 in the Twin Cities area in a 16-hour period.

Ten public school systems were reported closed due to the icy road conditions this morning plus four parochial schools.

The weather bureau issued a traveler's advisory for southwestern Michigan today, with light snow mixed with freezing rain expected. Tonight's forecast calls for a chance of snow with rain expected Saturday, possibly beginning as snow or freezing drizzle. Probabilities of measurable precipitation are 40 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight, and 70 per cent Saturday.

Public school systems reported closed today were Coloma and Watervliet in Berrien county; Bangor, Bloomington, Covert, Decatur, Hartford and Lawrence, in Van Buren county; and Cassopolis and Marcellus in Cass county. Also closed were St. Joseph Catholic of Watervliet, Faith Lutheran of Coloma, Grace Christian of Watervliet, and Hartford Seventh Day Adventist.

School buses were reported running up to an hour late in Dowagiac and East Claire.

No icy roads were reported in Allegan county or the New Buffalo to Niles area. Allegan county sheriff's deputies reported roads were snow covered and slippery, however. State police from New Buffalo and Niles posts said roads in their area were wet, but not icy, as temperatures in that area were above freezing early this morning.

Cass and Van Buren county sheriff's deputies said county roads were icy and extremely hazardous.

Van Buren deputies said Mrs. Sue Ellen Conolly, 24, of route 2, Paw Paw, was injured around 1 a.m. when the car she was driving slid off the curb, north of Paw Paw, into a tree. She was reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, where she is employed as a nurse. She was heading home from the hospital when the accident occurred.

Labor Sponsoring Swainson Benefit

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A few hours after James Ryan is sworn in as Michigan's new Supreme Court Justice, several hundred people will sit down to a $10-a-plate spaghetti dinner for the man he replaced.

The labor-sponsored dinner, set for Tuesday in a union hall here, is a benefit bash for former governor and ex-Supreme Court Justice John Swainson, who resigned his place on the bench after being convicted of perjury last month.

"It's a party to show John that people still like him," says Hugh Smale, lobbyist for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

"I want people, not money. I want a good turnout for my friend John," said Smale, who served in the House of Representatives in the early 1960s when Swainson was Michigan's lieutenant governor.

Profits from the dinner, which Smale hopes will draw 500 people, will go toward expenses. About 200 tickets have been sold so far of the 5,000 printed.

"This dinner is for the regular, normal people who can't write a check for $1,000," said Bob Johnson, president of AFSCME Council 23 in Southfield.

Johnson, who said Swainson always listened to labor while others ignored it, said the council thought "what he was found guilty of was pretty damned phoney."

Ryan will be sworn in by Chief Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh at 11 a.m. Tuesday. The dinner will be at the head table.

Refugee Resettlement Proves To Be Success

Seven months ago, many Americans seemed to have forgotten the message inscribed on the Statue of Liberty: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free." For the thousands of Indochinese refugees who left their countries because of the Communist takeover, American hospitality often left much to be desired. There were complaints that the refugees would take jobs away from Americans or divert government funds from projects that assisted poor or minority citizens. A Gallup Poll released early in May found that only 36 per cent of those interviewed thought Vietnamese refugees should be allowed to live in the United States.

That hostility to the refugees abated and that the vast majority of them found homes was due in part to the work of the Interagency Task Force for Indochina Refugees, a group set up by President Ford last April to coordinate government activities for refugee and resettlement problems relating to the Vietnam conflict. The task force, which was staffed by about 500 individuals from other federal agencies, supervised efforts in the four refugee centers in this country, oversaw a sponsorship program that discouraged resettlement in areas of high unemployment, and worked with the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees to help those who sought repatriation. Despite initial criticism of the program, most observers agree that it has been more successful than was originally expected. By Nov. 30, 123,580 refugees had been resettled, 6,563 had been accepted in third countries, 1,564 had been repatriated and 76 had died in relocation centers. Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., had already closed, and the 1,000 refugees at Fort Indiantown Gap, Pa., were expected to be resettled within a few weeks. The task force predicted that the remaining 6,000 refugees at Fort Chaffee, Ark., would find homes by Saturday, Dec. 20.

The task force will cease operations on Dec. 31 and what remains of the $503 million allocated by Congress for the refugees will be used by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for refugee assistance and education programs. Those seeking more aid or better programs to help the refugees adjust to American life will face an uphill battle. The refugees from Indochina are no longer front-page headline material, but the program that resettled them seems to have been one of those great rarities — a government project that was sensible and successful.

Congratulations to the Ford Administration!

Time Running Out On Capitol Hill

With only days remaining in this session of Congress, it has become a race to see which comes to a conclusion first — the pages of the calendar or the important legislation still awaiting final action. It is not unusual to find months of leisure and inaction capped by frantic last-minute efforts to push through at least the essential bills.

This year Congress finds itself in a bind over several important pieces of legislation. One is the energy bill, which by actually encouraging the lowering of fuel prices before the 1976 elections only to have them ascend afterward invites a presidential veto.

Another is the much-touted tax reform bill, which by now has been amended away from many of its earlier provisions and does not come close to satisfying what the President has said on numerous occasions are requisites for his signature. Because so little time remains in this session, a veto of either or both of these bills could mean no legislation enactments this year on either.

That would mean the 1976 election year would begin with a bitter wrangle brewing between the legislative and executive branches over who scuttled two of the more important measures to come before Congress this session. It also could mean an increase in taxes for nearly everyone at the beginning of the year.

On the last day of 1975, the temporary tax relief provided earlier in the year expires. Lacking a replacement tax package, or at least an extension, the old rates would go back into effect on Jan. 1.

Grant Needs Santa

What would W.T. Grant Co. like for Christmas? A nice boost in sales would be fine, thank you. The nation's seventh-largest general-merchandising retailer declared bankruptcy in October and is struggling to stay in business. Its troubles can be traced to the 1960s, according to business page post-mortems, when it started a rapid expansion. Then came the recession and a pile of bills.

In 1973 Grant's profits dropped by 78 per cent, and last year it reported the first loss in its history. At the end of the 18-month period that ended July 31, Grant had suffered losses of $288 million. After the announcement in September that Grant was operating with a "negative net worth," the Securities and Exchange Commission suspended trading of the company's stock on the New York Stock Exchange indefinitely. A month later, on Oct. 2, Grant filed for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Act, listing assets of $1.02 billion and liabilities of $1.03 billion. It was the biggest business collapse since the Penn Central railroad succumbed in 1970. The court has permitted Grant to continue operating while it tries to come up with a plan to pay back its creditors. That plan is due on Friday, Dec. 19, but according to a spokesman for Grant's attorneys, it is understood that the court will probably extend the deadline.

Meanwhile, Grant is trying to reorganize into a more viable company. Under the direction of a Los Angeles promoter, the company is holding going-out-of-business sales in more than 500 stores. These shutdowns will leave the company with a more manageable number of stores in the Northeast and as much as $60 million in additional cash. W.T. Grant Co. still has a long way to go, but a little assistance from Santa would certainly help move things along.

GOOFY-LOOKING SANTA CLAUS?

Editor,
What happened to Santa Claus?

For years when we saw the familiar little house downtown, we knew Santa would be coming soon. It was so nice to take the children shopping and stop off to have a talk with the jolly old man. My children looked forward to asking for that special present.

I had my five-year-old downtown last night and when we were a half a block away from this goofy-looking Santa, and his animal friends, she said "mommy, look at that man in that Santa Claus costume." She wouldn't even talk to him because, as she told me later, "There's no sense telling him anything; he's just going to go home and take the costume off. When can we talk to the real Santa?"

I am writing this letter, mainly to warn parents who might be going to take their little ones downtown. It's confusing for them to see such an obvious fake trying to pass himself off as our "real Santa." If the downtown merchants don't want to have a good Santa, I for one wish they would stick to silly looking animals or elves. But not a silly looking Santa. I plan on keeping my two smaller children away from downtown St. Joe.

CONCERNED OVER CHURCH'S ROLE

Editor,

Following the Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion, anti-abortion forces began a concentrated drive for passage of a constitutional amendment that would guarantee "the right to life of the unborn."

Has anyone figured out a way to ask a fetus if it wishes to be born?

The bishops made it clear at their fall meeting that they're adopting an ambitious plan to set up tightly organized pro-life groups in each congressional district, whose aim is essentially to elect an anti-abortion congress.

Although the bishops insist the groups will be independent, bipartisan, non-sectarian and not agencies of the church, the plan was made with little or no consultation with other anti-abortion groups, with whose methods and literature I am quite familiar.

Once this purpose is accomplished, according to an article in The Detroit Free Press, the church will try to prohibit the sale and use of all contraceptives. Their answer to the question of over-population is "Grow more food."

Because of the organizational and financial resources commanded by the Catholic church there is a great cause for concern on the part of people who believe in a very definite separation of church and state.

Again I say, no church has the right to force their beliefs on anyone else.

Our forefathers came to this country to escape religious persecution. Are we going to have to leave it for the same reason?

By the way, how many noticed that the man being considered for the seat on the Supreme Court made the statement that he "wasn't sure of his position" on the Equal Rights Amendment?

This is the calibre of man who makes the laws under which we live.

Sen. Church's Anti-Climax

We now have before us the 347-page report of the committee chaired by Senator Frank Church which has been looking into alleged plots by the CIA to assassinate foreign leaders.

Naturally there has been a hullabaloo in the media and columnist Mary McGrory has gone so far as to come out for a Church Presidency on the basis of his investigative achievements.

But the Church report is a ludicrous anti-climax. Operatives of the KGB must be giggling into their vodka. Agents of England's MI-6 are doubtless exchanging dumbfounded glances over scotch and soda.

After months of digging and a good deal of public posturing, it turns out that the Church committee has been able to unearth only two instances in the course of 28 years in which US officials initiated schemes to assassinate foreign figures (Patrice Lumumba and Fidel Castro). In both cases CIA efforts flopped ludicrously, fit subjects for an Evelyn Waugh satire.

Lumumba was actually killed, as it is usually put, by his "Congolese rivals." The truth, widely known but not much publicized, is that he was done in at the command of the present Zaire president, Joseph Mobutu. This was revealed by Moise Tshombe to his Algerian interrogators while under the influence of sodium pentathol and other persuaders. Both Dwight Eisenhower and Mobutu clearly wanted Lumumba out of the way in order to frustrate Soviet designs on the large, strategic, and resource-rich Congo (now Zaire). But Mobutu, not the CIA, knew how to get the job done.

In a transparent attempt to add some spice to his anti-climactic findings, Sen. Church apparently felt obliged to pad the report with three deaths resulting from plots the CIA neither initiated nor directed, but to which at one point or another it contributed in some wholly trivial way. Trujillo, Diem and the Chilean general Rene Schneider. All three deaths resulted from local power struggles to which the CIA was irrelevant.

Senator Church has gone in for a lot of jowl-shaking moralism, apparently on the assumption that assassination on grounds of power politics is always wrong. That is a dubious assumption. In the present climate of opinion it may sound incredible, but I think that American Presidents ought to be given the benefit of the doubt. We elect them, after all, because we have at least some faith that they will exercise their best judgment when making the choices forced upon them by history.

On Senator Church's showing, however, the assorted crooks, despots, and racist murderers who run most of the countries in the non-Western world have little to fear from the CIA, even if they happen to pose a dire threat to U.S. interests.

Perhaps the CIA should turn its dart guns over to the Israelis — and perhaps Senator Church ought to join the Salvation Army.

NOW Movement Opposes Stevens

WASHINGTON — President Ford's nomination of Judge John Paul Stevens to the Supreme Court appears to be grim news for the women's equal rights movement.

Female activists were disappointed when President Ford passed up the historic opportunity to select the first woman for the High Court. But their disappointment is turning to anguish as lawyers delve into Stevens' record on the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

The National Organization for Women (NOW) has already announced its opposition to Stevens and will testify against him during his Senate confirmation hearings.

Stevens, in his five years on the bench, has demonstrated a stubborn insensitivity to the problem of sex-based discrimination against women, which is illegal under Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

In a leading sex discrimination case, the Seventh Circuit majority ruled in 1971 that a United Airlines policy of requiring stewardesses to remain single while permitting male employees to be married was a violation of Title VII, Stevens dissented.

Stevens objected to the decision on narrow procedural grounds, in which he ignored the forest for the trees. A similar approach is frequently taken by Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist to explain his consistently negative votes on women's rights cases.

Stevens argued in his dissent that female stewardesses were not victims of discrimination because at that time no males were eligible for the job. In fact, he wrote, since only females could become stewardesses United Airlines was actually discriminating in favor of them.

He noted, incredibly, that the policy was legal because the requirements — only "discriminated against stewardesses as opposed to other females." He was also impressed by the fact that United had offered the complaining stewardess a job in an available ground capacity, thereby proving she was not disqualified from employment, just from the job she wanted and had held before her marriage.

He further wrote that the majority's opinion might be "unwise." His logic indicated little understanding of the problem. "The removal of irrational stereotyped categories within an area of exclusive female employment would increase the supply of female applicants without changing the demands for employees and would thus tend to depress the female wage level," he wrote.

Stevens again dissented from the Seventh Circuit majority in a 1973 sex discrimination case. The court reversed a lower court summary judgment against a female worker at the Bridgeport Brass Company, who had charged the company with violating her seniority rights by favoring male employees with lesser seniority and discrimination against her as a woman by reclassifying her job as a press operator to add a weight-lifting requirement that could only be met by men. The majority held that the sudden drop in female press operators after the new rule raised the possibility that the job reclassification had a discriminatory effect.

Ship Sinks; 14 Survive, 10 Missing

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Rescuers picked up 14 survivors and continued to search today for 10 crew members missing since a Liberian freighter sank early Thursday in the Atlantic Ocean, the Coast Guard said.

Thirteen of the survivors were picked up from a large life raft about 80 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras by a Navy research ship that spotted a flare.

"All seem to be in fairly good condition," the pilot of a search plane said of the survivors aboard the Hays.

The 14th man was picked up from a small boat or raft about 17 miles north by a helicopter. He was found after a passing merchant ship heard voices in the water about 3 a.m. and notified the Coast Guard.

Refugee Resettlement Proves To Be Success

Seven months ago, many Americans seemed to have forgotten the message inscribed on the Statue of Liberty: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free." For the thousands of Indochinese refugees who left their countries because of the Communist takeover, American hospitality often left much to be desired. There were complaints that the refugees would take jobs away from Americans or divert government funds from projects that assisted poor or minority citizens. A Gallup Poll released early in May found that only 36 per cent of those interviewed thought Vietnamese refugees should be allowed to live in the United States.

That hostility to the refugees abated and that the vast majority of them found homes was due in part to the work of the Interagency Task Force for Indochina Refugees, a group set up by President Ford last April to coordinate government activities for "refugee and resettlement problems relating to the Vietnam conflict." The task force, which was staffed by about 500 individuals from other federal agencies, supervised efforts in the four refugee centers in this country, oversaw a sponsorship program that discouraged resettlement in areas of high unemployment, and worked with the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees to help those who sought repatriation.

Despite initial criticism of the program, most observers agree that it has been more successful than was originally expected. By Nov. 30, 123,580 refugees had been resettled, 6,563 had been accepted in third countries, 1,564 had been repatriated and 76 had died in relocation centers. Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., had already closed, and the 1,000 refugees at Fort Indiantown Gap, Pa., were expected to be resettled within a few weeks. The task force predicted that the remaining 6,000 refugees at Fort Chaffee, Ark. would find homes by Saturday, Dec. 20.

The task force will cease operations on Dec. 31 and what remains of the $503 million allocated by Congress for the refugees will be used by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for refugee assistance and education programs. Those seeking more aid or better programs to help the refugees adjust to American life will face an uphill battle. The refugees from Indochina are no longer front-page headline material, but the program that resettled them seems to have been one of those great rarities — a government project that was sensible and successful.

Congratulations to the Ford Administration!

Time Running Out On Capitol Hill

With only days remaining in this session of Congress, it has become a race to see which comes to a conclusion first — the pages of the calendar or the important legislation still awaiting final action. It is not unusual to find months of leisure and inaction capped by frantic last-minute efforts to push through at least the essential bills.

This year Congress finds itself in a bind over several important pieces of legislation. One is the energy bill, which by actually encouraging the lowering of fuel prices before the 1976 elections only to have them ascend afterward invites a presidential veto.

Another is the much-touted tax reform bill, which by now has been amended away from many of its earlier provisions and does not come close to satisfying what the President has said on numerous occasions are requisites for his signature. Because so little time remains in this session, a veto of either or both of these bills could mean no legislation enactments this year on either.

That would mean the 1976 election year would begin with a bitter wrangle brewing between the legislative and executive branches over who scuttled two of the more important measures to come before Congress this session. It also could mean an increase in taxes for nearly everyone at the beginning of the year.

On the last day of 1975, the temporary tax relief provided earlier in the year expires. Lacking a replacement tax package, or at least an extension, the old rates would go back into effect on Jan. 1.

The manufacturing end of the new corporation is to be taken to South Bend, where a large factory is to be erected. The experimental and designing shops will stay at Buchanan, at least for the present.

The opera house was filled with enthusiastic spectators who cheered every victory of the hero and groaned at every triumph of the villain.

Snow fell all day Tuesday in Berrien Springs and covered the ground with a depth of several inches. This was in contrast with the bare ground in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. Berrien Springs is only fifteen miles from the new county seat and yet it has another climate and enjoys sleighing when the roads in this vicinity are very rough.

SJ Rental Inspection Violations On Increase

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Increasing numbers of St. Joseph landlords are violating the city's rental inspection ordinance, according to Carl Conklin, director of building and inspection.

Conklin said that in the past two months five or six landlords have been sentenced in Berrien Fifth District court for failure to have housing units inspected before re-renting them. Fines have ranged from $100 to $150 he added.

Conklin noted the ordinance is not new, but some landlords are either unaware or are forgetting it.

"Before a rental unit is re-occupied it must be inspected," Conklin said. A call to the inspection department early in the day usually means a rental unit is inspected the same day.

There is no charge for the inspection. The ordinance applies to both single family homes and apartments. Conklin said the problem with landlords failing to contact the inspection department is one that runs in cycles and presently there appears to be an increase in violators.

He said it is important that the rental dwelling be inspected because, "we've found a person can wreck an apartment in a week and new tenants don't say anything because they think the rent will be raised."

He continued, "It's ridiculous to have to pay a fine when a telephone call to the inspection department is all that's needed."

Conklin said it is very seldom the department finds an apartment in a housing code violation most of the time it is straightened out within a short time and the dwelling can be rented again.

Conklin said his department checks plumbing, electrical outlets and wall deterioration.

According to Conklin, he does not believe the city has an unusually high rate of rental turnovers, but strict enforcement is needed to keep buildings and neighborhoods up to code.

Weisbruch To Step Down As Manager Of Ross Field

Edward J. Weisbruch, 62, will retire as manager of Ross field as soon as the Twin City airport board finds a successor for the post. Weisbruch has held the post 22 years.

Weisbruch said he will remain just long enough to acquaint his successor with the job. He expects his retirement will become official in the spring.

Weisbruch informed the board in October of his retirement intention, but it didn't become public until The Herald-Palladium learned of his plans just before yesterday's airport board meeting.

Board Chairman John Banyon said a search is underway for a successor and some applications have been received.

When Weisbruch came to the airport owned by Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, the field was used mainly by recreational pilots. A major milestone was reached in 1960 when North Central began scheduled airline service.

A new terminal, control tower and other improvements have increased Ross field's worth from $700,000 to more than $3 million, Weisbruch said. "And we still have a long way to go," he added.

Weisbruch took his first flying lessons at age 17 in Peoria, Ill., despite a warning from his mother that "You'll be dead in three weeks time, and I think you've lost your mind completely."

He said his mother, now 86, became his biggest booster and now believes flying is the only way to travel.

Weisbruch operated a flying service at Peoria and trained military pilots at Parks Air college before coming to Ross field.

He and his wife, Hazel, live at 558 Monterey drive, Fairplain. They have three sons: John, a North Central pilot; Jim, an Eastern Airlines pilot; and Peter, employed in the chemical laboratory at Auto Specialties, and a daughter, Helen, a teacher at Hinsdale, Ill.

In retirement, Weisbruch said he wants to do some of the things he hasn't had time for, such as play golf and travel.

Roti Motors Leases New Home In BH

Roti Motors, Inc., has leased the former Jewel Food store on West Main street in Benton Harbor to obtain more space for its Chrysler-Plymouth dealership.

Bruno Roti, president of Roti Motors, said both new and used car operations, presently located at 257 West Main street, Benton Harbor, will be moved to the former Jewel store at 499 West Main after the store is remodeled — sometime in the spring.

The 125 by 125-foot building and the 175-car parking lot west of the building is being leased to Roti by Consumers Investment Co., owners of the building.

Roti presently leases the building and property at 257 West Main from Joe Carver. Although the lease has been signed on the Jewel store, Roti said it will not become effective until remodeling is completed and Roti Motors begins occupying the building.

Roti said the building will be remodeled for a display and sales room and service department. The parking lot will be used to display new and used cars, he said.

Roti Motors, Inc., has been in business 19 years. It operated in Benton Harbor for the past 16 years and prior to that was located in St. Joseph for three years.

The Jewel Food store on West Main closed last April. When it opened, in 1959, it was the first Jewel Food store in Michigan.

Fire Station At Twin City Airport Is Under Study

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Twin City airport board members Thursday discussed the possibility of building a Benton township fire department station on airport property.

No action was taken pending obtaining cost estimates. Airport Manager Edward Weisbruch said he believed the airport would be required to pay about 25 per cent of the cost and the Federal Aviation Administration would probably provide 75 per cent of that share.

Remainder of the cost would be up to Benton township.

The township is considering replacing its fire station No. 1 at 1056 Territorial road located near the airport. Weisbruch said FAA regulations require a fire station close enough to the airport so that an alarm can be answered in 3 1/2 minutes or less.

The fire station matter came before the airport board yesterday in a letter from Benton Harbor City Manager Charles Morrison.

Morrison said he had been informed by Benton Supervisor Martin J. Lane that the township is considering a fire station that would be constructed next to the township municipal building on Territorial. The present station No. 1 is considered structurally deficient.

However, the township is willing to consider an alternate location on the eastern edge of the airport, Morrison said he was informed by Lane. Carver was to study the possibility of liability insurance that would cover board members collectively and individually. The airport is presently covered by liability insurance but not the board.

The board also voted unanimously to enter into a one lease agreement with William Schumacher of Schumacher Construction and Real Estate companies, Benton Harbor.

The agreement is for the lease of a hangar previously occupied by Alpha Aviation, Inc., for the purpose of establishing a fixed base operation.

Schumacher, in a letter to the board, stated he wanted the hangar for these reasons:

—To establish a maintenance and repair facility.

—Provide flight instruction.

- Establish a charter service.
- Continue used aircraft sales.

The agreement voted on by the board included an "escape clause" which would allow the board to terminate the lease after 90 days notice within the year if so desired.

Board Member Gerald W. Heppeler reported that he has been informed the Benton Harbor city commission will vote soon to accept the airport's offer to provide land for disposal of sand and silt dredged from the local harbor.

The proposed land for dredgings needs approval of both Benton Harbor and St. Joseph city commissions before it can be submitted to the U.S. Corps of Engineers for final approval.

St. Joseph city commissioners have already approved the site. Weisbruch also reported the parking system at the airport had been changed and motorists are asked to put $1 in coins in a machine as they leave instead of when they enter the lot.

He said there are still some flaws which because people are still paying when they enter the lot.

SJ Rental Inspection Violations On Increase

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Increasing numbers of St. Joseph landlords are violating the city's rental inspection ordinance, according to Carl Conklin, director of building and inspection.

Conklin said that in the past two months five or six landlords have been sentenced in Berrien Fifth District court for failure to have housing units inspected before re-renting them. Fines have ranged from $100 to $150 he added.

Conklin noted the ordinance is not new, but some landlords are either unaware or are forgetting it.

"Before a rental unit is re-occupied it must be inspected," Conklin said. A call to the inspection department early in the day usually means a rental unit is inspected the same day.

University Teacher Retiring In Spring

HARBERT — A member of a family that has lived in the Birchwood District of Harbert since 1890 will retire from university teaching this spring and is now completing one of his final theater productions for Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore.

He is Theodore "Ted" Sizer of the Birchwood Sizer family. His mother is Mrs. Lillian Sizer.

Sizer's mid-December production at Pacific is Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" in which he plays the part of the stage director and is also the director of the production which combines the talents of students, townspeople and professional actors.

Thornton Wilder, author of the classic and recipient of three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, died Sunday, Dec. 7, of an apparent heart attack at the age of 78.

Sizer says that he is "not really retiring, but wants to appreciate the world," which is the message of "Our Town."

He will continue living in Oregon, except for his summers in Michigan, and will remain active in theater and with his antique and history hobbies.

He agrees with the idea "Our Town" presents that "we should get back to basics" and thinks that "Our Town" is a good post-Watergate Bicentennial play for American society.

Sizer has directed and helped produce at least 50 plays in his nearly 12 years at the university. They range from Greek tragedies through Shakespeare and Shaw to modern plays.

Before coming to Pacific university, his career included directing civic theaters in Fort Wayne and Gary, Ind., working in photography and with Wayne State university theater in Detroit and teaching at Olivet college and at Indiana university while in Gary.

In Oregon he has also been influential in community and high school theater in Washington county. He looks to the theater as a "humanizing experience" for those on stage, back stage and in the audience.

He sums up his own attitude in Thornton Wilder's words, "Enjoy your ice cream while it's on your plate."

Hang Photographs On Tree

Make your friends and loved ones a part of your Christmas tree decor by using jar caps and snap-shots you already have.

Simply trace jar cap onto photos and cut out the circle. Press picture inside cap. Glue ribbon to the inside and outside edges of the cap, leaving enough over on the outside to form a loop for hanging.

These frames can be turned into inexpensive gifts by simply gluing three of the units described above on a foot-long piece of matching ribbon. Eliminate the individual hanging loops. Hang the threesome vertically on the wall with a shiny brass tack.

Besides costing almost nothing to make, decorating your Christmas tree as a "tree of friendship" helps the ecology by reusing things ordinarily thrown away.

Hang Photographs On Tree

Make your friends and loved ones a part of your Christmas tree decor by using jar caps and snap-shots you already have. Simply trace jar cap onto photos and cut out the circle. Press picture inside cap. Glue ribbon to the inside and outside edges of the cap, leaving enough over on the outside to form a loop for hanging. Everybody will love to see his or her picture as part of your Christmas display. It's a warm holiday touch. These frames can be turned into inexpensive gifts by simply gluing three of the units described above on a foot-long piece of matching ribbon. Eliminate the individual hanging loops. Hang the threesome vertically on the wall with a shiny brass tack.

Besides costing almost nothing to make, decorating your Christmas tree as a "tree of friendship" helps the ecology by reusing things ordinarily thrown away.

University Teacher Retiring In Spring

HARBERT — A member of a family that has lived in the Birchwood District of Harbert since 1890 will retire from university teaching this spring and is now completing one of his final theater productions for Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore. He is Theodore "Ted" Sizer of the Birchwood Sizer family. His mother is Mrs. Lillian Sizer. Sizer's mid-December production at Pacific is Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" in which he plays the part of the stage director and is also the director of the production which combines the talents of students, townspeople and professional actors. Thornton Wilder, author of the classic and recipient of three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, died Sunday, Dec. 7, of an apparent heart attack at the age of 78. Sizer says that he is "not really retiring, but wants to appreciate the world," which is the message of "Our Town." He will continue living in Oregon, except for his summers in Michigan, and will remain active in theater and with his antique and history hobbies. He agrees with the idea "Our Town" presents that "we should get back to basics" and thinks that "Our Town" is a good post-Watergate Bicentennial play for American society. Sizer has directed and helped produce at least 50 plays in his nearly 12 years at the university. They range from Greek tragedies through Shakespeare and Shaw to modern plays. Before coming to Pacific university, his career included directing civic theaters in For Wayne and Gary, Ind., working in photography and with Wayne State university theater in Detroit and teaching at Olive college and at Indiana university while in Gary. In Oregon he has also been influential in community and high school theater in Washington county. He looks to the theater as a "humanizing experience" for those on stage back stage and in the audience. He sums up his own attitude in Thornton Wilder's words "Enjoy your ice cream while it's on your plate."

Make A Calico Wreath

Forget the holly. Why not deck the halls with calico? Decorations with a "down-home" look are easy and fun to make.

This country wreath is from the December Family Circle magazine. To create your own, make a straw base by covering a 50-inch wire circle with straw, or buy one at a florist. Bind with a crisscross of one-inch fabric strips about three inches apart. Cut three-inch wide strips of bright calico in four different colors, cutting across the grain of the fabric. Divide the strips into six-inch pieces and cut the ends in an inverted "V" on each end. Spray-starch each piece to make stiff.

With 50 old-fashioned dime-

Decorations Are Fun

New Ideas

Looking for new decorating ideas? Check your kitchen — it's full of normally-discarded items which can be turned into bright holiday decorations.

The glittering circles make a sparkling mobile to hang from a doorway. They are made of three six-pack plastic holders, stapled together to form a triangle. Each circle is rimmed with gold sticky trim. Little gold balls are hung with nylon thread.

The clear circles with cat, angel and holly are based on clear plastic tops from supermarket containers. Cut pictures from old Christmas cards, glue in place and trim with metallic sticky tape. Hang in your windows.

The tree ornaments — bell, star, Wise Man and dove — are made from styrofoam meat trays. Cut shapes with utility knife, making slots to fit sections together. Cover bell with bright felt, using a spray adhesive. Trim with ball fringe, rickrack and braid.

Trim the star with stick-to-it metallic trim. The Wise Man is made with felt, black rickrack and metallic trim. His eyes are from a small single piece of black rickrack. The bird is

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Brushing Off Ex-Husband

Dear Ann Landers: What do I do about an ex-husband who surfaces after 27 years and hasn't changed a bit?

A few days ago I was shopping with my mother and my teenage children by my present marriage. Up walks this obnoxious, grinning ape. He yells, in a voice that he heard all over the store, "I used to sleep with you! Hoh heh!"

Before I was able to pry myself loose he announced that he had been married twice since we parted company. One wife died, one he divorced, and at present he is unmarried and would like to be friends.

The following day he telephoned me "just to chat." I had a hard time getting off the phone. Five minutes ago he phoned again. How can I get rid of this pest? I don't want my husband to know he called. It could mean real trouble.

Dear Wish: The way to avoid "real trouble" is to tell your husband at once that the ape called and ask him what he thinks about getting an unlisted phone number.

Afraid To Talk

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl 14 in the ninth grade with a problem I'm ashamed to take to anyone else. I can't bring myself to read in front of the class. The sound of my own voice frightens me. I even have trouble raising my hand and answering a question because I can't seem to find the right words.

When I'm in a group (other than my family) I am quiet because I can't start a sentence without saying, "Um-mm..." or something stupid like that. There is nothing mentally wrong with me although I'm sure some people think I'm short a few marbles. It's just this problem of talking. What can I do to get over my horrible handicap? — Locked In

Dear Locked: Start by reading aloud to yourself for 30 minutes every evening in front of a mirror. After two weeks ask one other person to listen to you. Next check with your school counselor and ask where you can go for speech lessons. Follow through and don't let anything stop you.

Your problem is not unique. It is shared by thousands of others in varying degrees. It can be overcome if you will work at it. Get going and good luck.

Guide Dogs

Dear Ann Landers: I have a

friend who is blind. She has chosen to use a guide dog to help her get around.

Unfortunately, about 90 percent of the restaurants, food stores, etc., hire ignorant personnel who don't know that guide dogs are permitted by law to accompany their masters nearly everywhere. My friend is frequently stopped by these uninformed people who question her in a manner that is irritating and offensive. She must then defend herself which is humiliating.

Since your column is the world's largest billboard, please ask your readers to look for a harness on the dog in question.

All guide dogs wear one. The dog wearing a harness is allowed by law to go to almost every public place with his master. Tell people not to embarrass sightless individuals who need dogs to replace their eyes. They deserve to be treated with consideration. Thank you. — Santa Barbara Friend

Dear Friend: Here's your letter on "the world's largest billboard." I hope it helps.

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." Send 50 cents in coin plus a long stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Erma Bombeck Not Good Enough

It is absolutely no surprise to me to read that by 1990, two out of every three meals will be consumed outside the home.

Do you have any idea how tough it's getting for a homemaker to compete with the drive-ins? Making a pretty good hamburger or pizza or chicken just isn't good enough anymore.

A couple of years ago, I erected golden arches above the stove, with an electric scoreboard, and focused a red light on the pie to keep it warm. Last year, I added a lighted menu and a drive-in window. The kids will prefer eating out of a paper bag.

The other night, the children came home for dinner and I was ready for them.

My husband and I looked at the time step, leaped over the divider, formed a chorus line all the while singing, "You! You're the one. You are the only reason... You! You're the one. We take great pride in please."

One child yawned and said, "I'm not in the mood for a hamburger."

I jumped over the counter, slid into a billed cap and smiled.

"Hold the pickle, hold the lettuce, special orders don't upset us, all we ask is that you let us serve it your way."

"I don't want a hamburger," he insisted.

Undaunted, I took off the cap, put on a straw hat, grabbed a cane and a banjo and began to hustle the frozen pizza.

"I'm not in the mood for pizza," one of them sighed.

"Tell you what I'm gonna do," I said. "I can give you chicken, regular or extra crispy, white or dark, wings, thighs, or knees, with cole slaw, gravy, macaroni salad, whipped potatoes and fresh strawberry pie."

"Yeah, but it's on a plate," said our son.

I looked at my husband. "I hate to do it," I snarled. "It's degrading."

"I know," he said. "But it's the only way I know to get them to eat at home." Slipping into a clown's suit and hat, I propped my mouth open with a fork and listened as my son yelled into my mouth, "A jumbo taco, a large mail and two fries." "Watch out, McDonald's!"

The whole subject of part score bidding has been given very sketchy treatment by writers. There is a good reason for this. Each part score creates its own special problems.

Choose Toy With Care

This Christmas don't give a preschooler just any toy.

Consider a musical toy that helps develop listening skills — important skills when a child goes to school.

A color-keyed piano, for example, brings learning value to play as the child matches colors in the music sheet with the properly colored keys, thereby developing eye-hand coordination.

There is one area of general agreement about two bids with part score which is that the strong-suit two bid is a one-round force even though it is a bid of game.

With 60 on score, North elected to open two hearts. South responded two notrump and North decided to pass. His reason was that his hand should take eight tricks and might not take none.

His idea turned out to be a good one. The defense started with five spade tricks. South discarded the six of diamonds and jack of clubs from dummy and took the final eight.

If North had played at three hearts he might have found some way to make the contract but it would require considerable help from his opponents and we have found that opponents don't always cooperate.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know the correct rebid with:

♠ A K x x x ♥ A Q x x x ♦ x x x ♣ x

after you have opened one spade and partner has raised you to two spades.

The answer is that you bid four spades. You should want to be in game. Why not just bid it!

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Why would there be a sudden flareup of gout in a person who had one attack many years ago and seemed to be free of it ever since?

Mr. J.I. Penn

Dear Mr. L.: Gout is a disturbance in the production of uric acid and its accumulation in the blood.

It is well known that recurrence of attacks of painful gout may occur at unexpected intervals and for unknown reasons.

Many people do stay in good health, free of pain, with a simple restricted diet and with the continued use of the antigout medicines that are now available.

Some people who are free of symptoms may suddenly, without any apparent reason, develop swelling and pain in the joints of the legs, the feet, the shoulders or the hands. Even those who take sustained doses of medicine may, with overindulgence in alcohol or, following an infection, induce the onset of gout.

Gout is a very complex disorder. It affects many organs of the body. Most people who have this condition are told that they must maintain restricted diets and continued to take their anti-gout medicine.

Frequently, when no symptoms are present for many months there is a temptation to get careless with the regularity of taking the anti-gout drugs. This may be the reason why after such a long interval, a recurrence takes place.

It is simple to take a blood test. This quickly shows whether or not the uric acid content is high in the blood and if more active forms of treatment are necessary.

Can a spinal tap done in childhood cause back pain

Mr. G.E. Mass.

Dear Mr. E.: A spinal tap, done for the purpose of removing spinal fluid and testing its contents, is a very safe although unpleasant procedure.

It is difficult to conceive of any long-range problems that could result from this simple procedure.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
The whole subject of part score bidding has been given very sketchy treatment by writers. There is a good reason for this. Each part score creates its own special problems.

Choose Toy With Care

This Christmas don't give a preschooler just any toy.

Consider a musical toy that helps develop listening skills — important skills when a child goes to school.

A color-keyed piano, for example, brings learning value to play as the child matches colors in the music sheet with the properly colored keys, thereby developing eye-hand coordination.

There is one area of general agreement about two bids with part score which is that the strong-suit two bid is a one-round force even though it is a bid of game.

With 60 on score, North elected to open two hearts. South responded two notrump and North decided to pass. His reason was that his hand should take eight tricks and might not take none.

His idea turned out to be a good one. The defense started with five spade tricks. South discarded the six of diamonds and jack of clubs from dummy and took the final eight.

If North had played at three hearts he might have found some way to make the contract but it would require considerable help from his opponents and we have found that opponents don't always cooperate.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know the correct rebid to:

after you have opened one spade and partner has raised you to two spades.

The answer is that you bid four spades. You should want to be in game. Why not just bid it!

Suit To Challenge Political Reform Law

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Chamber of Commerce and four organizations representing thousands of local officials will file a massive suit challenging key provisions of Michigan's new political reform law.

The suit will be filed within a week in the Ingham County Circuit Court, said Chamber President Harry Hall. It could move all the way to the state Supreme Court.

"Hundreds, literally hundreds of local county officials, township officials, school board officials, on and on and on, have said they are going to resign en masse Jan. 1 because of this law," said State Bar lobbyist Jerry Coomes, an organizer of the challenge.

"This suit is to protect these people, all 25,000 officials in the state, and to protect the state of Michigan from losing that kind of talent," he said.

It challenges provisions requiring elected and appointed, paid and volunteer officials to reveal their financial interests; sections tightening controls on lobbyists; and those allowing the Political Ethics Committee, which the bill creates, to operate largely in secret.

Besides asking if certain parts of the law are unconstitutional, the suit will seek an order barring the financial disclosure part of the law from taking effect Jan. 1. Coomes said attorneys and officials believe the law may require them to report financial interests for three months before April 1, the law's actual effective date.

The state Supreme Court has already been asked to give an opinion on 10 questions about the law. The questions were submitted to the court as a House resolution, approved Wednesday. Many of the questions are identical to those asked in the suit.

The suit does not touch on campaign financing rules in the law, though those are being challenged by other groups.

Besides the Chamber of Commerce, Hall said plaintiffs in the suit will include: the Michigan Association of School Boards; the Michigan Association of Community College Boards; the Michigan Township Association; and the Michigan Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Lobbyists say the law, which demands they register and report expenses, restricts their right to affect the political process or "to petition the government for the redress of grievances."

Newspersons claim it restricts First Amendment freedoms of press and speech by enshrining the Ethics Committee's deliberations.

Though it requires no dollar values be listed, the law says any public official must file information about all property owned. It also requires information on the office-holder's debts and those of his or her immediate family.

Interests in businesses by the office-holder and family would also have to be listed, as well as any gifts received worth more than $100.

Others challenging specific provisions are the Michigan Association of Broadcasters, which will challenge a provision allowing the Ethics Committee to work in secret; the Michigan State Agricultural Commission, questioning financial disclosure rules; and the Michigan Library Association and the Michigan Grange. Critics of the law also say it will frighten away qualified persons from filling local offices, a criticism Gov. William Milliken has made too.

Housewife's Lottery Triumph Is Second For Fraser Family

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — A 30-year-old housewife whose husband won $10,000 last year in the Michigan lottery won the top $200,000 prize Thursday in the Michigan lottery weekly Super Drawing.

Carol Kotila of Fraser carried a rabbit's foot given to her husband, Russell, last year when he walked away with $10,000 from a lottery drawing. A lottery official gave the rabbit's foot to her husband.

This is the second time someone has won $10,000 to be followed by a relative who comes up with the $200,000 prize.

The $25,000 winner was Arnold Hertel, 67, of Madison Heights.

Other winners were Slove

Guty, 57, of Sterling Heights, $15,000; Carl F. Peters, 30, of Ada, $12,900; and Fred Zielske, 73, of Flint, $10,000.

Poll Pleases Reagan Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key strategist for Ronald Reagan is pleased with a poll which shows the former California governor well ahead of President Ford in their race for the GOP presidential nomination. But he cautioned that the important polls open early next year. A Gallup poll released today shows Reagan leading Ford by 40 to 32 per cent among GOP voters with a preference. The survey, taken Nov. 21-24, updates an October sample which had Ford ahead 45 to 28 per cent. "It's a long way to Feb. 24 and those other primary dates," said Reagan adviser Lyn Nofziger on Tuesday. "We'll be very happy if we do as well in those polls as we're doing in this one." An aide to President Ford dismissed the figures as evidence of a temporary gain produced by Reagan's formal announcement of candidacy.

East Coast Trucking Firm Comes Under Eye Of Feds

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Federal authorities investigating the disappearance of former Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa and Teamsters Union racketeering have begun a massive probe here of Eastern Freightways, the East Coast's largest trucking firm, a source told The Associated Press on Thursday.

The authorities are sifting through data to present to a federal grand jury in Newark that has been looking into allegations of misuse of Teamsters pension funds, according to the source.

On Nov. 18, the Securities and Exchange Commission filed a broad civil action against Eastern Freightways, headquartered in nearby Carlstadt, charging the firm perpetrated "fraud and deceit on the public."

When Eastern gained control of Associated Transport, another large trucker, in August 1974, the operation combined to do $180 million in business, making it the largest trucking combine on the East Coast.

Angelo Provenzano, 60, who is Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano's older brother, is Eastern's assistant vice president. In New York, it was revealed Wednesday that Anthony Provenzano had been indicted along with two other men on charges they conspired to kick back money from a union pension fund loan to a union official.

Anthony Provenzano also was one of three men Hoffa believed he was to meet with the day he disappeared. U.S. Justice Department officials in Washington said members of U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force here have been participating in the fund, the largest of the Teamsters' pension programs, for underworld influence and the possible misuse of funds.

Jay Bee Corp. of New Jersey, an extinct subsidiary of Shein's Express, another trucking firm that Eastern bought out in 1961, borrowed $400,000 from the Central States Pension Fund. Eastern has until 1982 to repay the loan.

On June 12, the American Stock Exchange suspended trading of the Eastern stock because of an unexplained sudden increase in the stock's price and on July 16, Daniel E. Shevell, Eastern's president, committed suicide.

The SEC accused Shevell and other principals in the firm of manipulating the market price of the stock. According to the SEC complaint, the stock's price went from 2 1/2 to 5 on June 8.

Shevell used his personal stock holdings in the company as collateral for a $5 million loan an Eastern subsidiary obtained from a New York bank. According to the SEC charges, when the price of Eastern's stock began to decline Shevell became worried since the bank could foreclose if the value of the stock sank below what was owed the bank.

The commission accused

Shevell of having a third-party purchase blocks of Eastern stock to increase its price on the exchange and charged the firm illegally obtained a controlling interest in Associated Transport.

The SEC has called for the appointment of an independent counsel to investigate Eastern and the U.S. District Court in Washington has ordered the firm's current president, Myron Shevell, Daniel's brother, to step down. Myron Shevell also has been ordered to put his stock in a voting trust for five years.

Eastern also has been ordered to appoint new trustees for its pension fund, subject to SEC approval.

School Aid Bill Over One Hurdle

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved legislation to help local school districts deal with state budget cutbacks in school aid.

Local school districts face the possibility of deficit budgets under an order from Gov. William Milliken, which cut state spending by $123.7 million. Included was a reduction by $40 million in aid to public schools.

But under state law, deficit financing by local school districts is illegal. And any district which does go into the red risks having its state aid cut off altogether.

The Senate, on a 22-7 vote Thursday, sent to the House a bill permitting state aid to continue to deficit-ridden school districts as soon as the district files a plan to overcome the cash shortage.

The bill permits deficit financing, but requires that the school district spell out how it intends to balance its books within two years.

Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said: "The deficits are the fault of the economic crunch on the state, not the fault of the school districts themselves."

Six Charged In Jackson Prison Heroin Smuggling

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Three Southern Michigan Prison inmates, a prison foreman and two Lansing residents were charged Thursday with illegally smuggling heroin into the maximum security facility.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Thursday arrests Wednesday night and Thursday morning culminated a two-month investigation by his agency's Organized Crime Division, the Michigan State Police and the Lansing police.

Charged in Jackson District Court with various counts of delivery, possession and conspiracy to deliver and possess heroin were prison foreman James Roy Jr., 40; inmates Harrison Berrier, Jesse Clark and Jerry Tallson; and Lansing women Valerie Biggs and Rose Marry Tallson.

Penalties for the charges could put each in prison for 20 years or more.

The foreman was freed on $10,000 bond, and the women freed on $2,000 bond each Thursday, pending a preliminary examination Tuesday. The inmates were sent back to the prison.

Kelley said investigators found two separate smuggling operations. He said they found Berrier used foreman Roy as his contact, and Clark used the Lansing women and inmate Tallson as his contacts. Deputy Atty. Gen. Stanley Steinborn said Rose Marry and Jerry Tallson are believed to be cousins.

State Police Sgt. Gary Radtke at the Jackson post said Roy was arrested in a discount store parking lot as he made the third of three "deals" to deliver heroin with an undercover agent from the attorney general's office. Radtke said that investigation was sparked after a tip from an inmate that such a deal was possible.

Roy was also charged Thursday with violating regulations of the state Department of Corrections by accepting money for his own personal benefit.

The Lansing women were charged with bringing heroin in on their persons during visiting times and giving it to the inmates, who are only randomly checked before returning to their cells.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Steinborn would not say how much narcotics or money was exchanged.

A prison official said inmate Berrier, 46, was serving a 20-to-40-year term for second degree murder and had been at the prison since February 1971.

Clark, 32, had been in for only 10 months on a two-to-four-year term for larceny from a building.

Tallson, 28, has been serving a life sentence for first degree murder since January 1968. He is concurrently serving a short term for attempted unarmed robbery.

Roy had worked a little more than a year as a foreman in the prison's garment factory, a spokesman said.

It was not known what relation Valerie Biggs had with the inmates.

Warren Judge Accused Of Associating With Criminals

DETROIT (AP) — District Judge Roy N. Gruenberg of Warren Thursday was charged by the state with associating with known criminals, influencing court cases and illegally raising funds.

The Judicial Tenure Commission, which filed the formal complaint, asked the state Supreme Court to suspend the judge pending action before the court to remove him from office.

"Although I requested a meeting with the (Judicial Tenure) Commission and those conducting the investigation ... I was not afforded any (meeting)," said Gruenberg. "As to the charges, I categorically deny each and every allegation and feel certain I will be vindicated."

Gruenberg said that for the past 10 years he has been the target of "a concerted political-police effort to discredit me."

The commission's executive director, Brian J. McMahon, announced the complaint at a news conference in Detroit.

Gruenberg, 46, is a former Warren city council president. He was elected a municipal judge in Warren in 1963 and automatically became a district judge in the court reorganization of 1968.

The commission's complaint alleged: —A $40-a-ticket outing was held in Gruenberg's behalf on Sept. 19, more than 180 days prior to any election in which he might be a candidate. The commission called Gruenberg's conduct in this "clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice...."

Other sources said the outing was at a north Macomb County golf course and that more than 400 persons purchased tickets. At the time, Gruenberg's court clerk was quoted as saying the money was destined for a charity the judge favored.

—Gruenberg "maintained relations with and made himself accessible to known criminals and persons of unsavory reputation." The commission said they included Robert Gowsky Sr., Charles Grzywinsky and Roger Rebnicky.

—The judge told Rebnicky he would attempt to influence the case of Timothy Brady, charged in Macomb County Circuit Court with receiving and concealing stolen property, and later "did act in furtherance of such attempt."

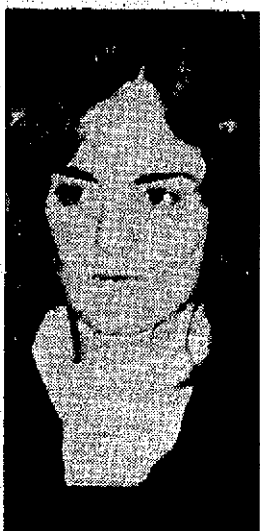

—Gruenberg accepted a guilty plea on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property from Gowsky on Sept. 7 while maintaining a "wrongful and improper relationship with the defendant." The agency said the judge visited Gowsky at his home on Sept. 28, before sentence was passed.

—On or about Oct. 8 Gruenberg dismissed drunken driving charges against Gowsky after discussing the case with him and his father at the Sept. 28 meeting.

Gruenberg said Wednesday he has been required to spend all his savings against "two unwarranted prosecutions."

Both were for knowingly and willingly filing false income tax returns. The original trial ended in a hung jury. In the second trial on the same charge, Gruenberg was acquitted.

Lottery Winner Deadline Is Today

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Today is the deadline for the holder of a lottery ticket worth up to $200,000 to step forward, lottery officials say.

One man, Ara Arthur Sogolian, 50, of Dearborn Heights made the deadline by three weeks when a newspaper story prompted him to sift through a shoebox full of old tickets.

In the box he found the ticket he bought from his own party store a year ago Dec. 12. Because both three-digit numbers on the Super Play ticket matched the numbers drawn, Sogolian can try for the top $200,000 prize on the Super Play lottery television show in the next few weeks.

He'll win at least $10,000 on the show.

According to lottery rules, winners must turn in their tickets to a lottery office within one year of the drawing date to be eligible for the prize.

The winner from last Dec. 12's drawing who is still at large bought a ticket with the numbers 350-175 from Dunlevy's Horseshoe Bar in Detroit, officials say.

Unclaimed prizes return to the state's general fund.

Ship Spring Is Common, He Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stormy waters caused the Edmund Fitzgerald to spring, but all lake carriers do so under such circumstances, a former first mate of the stricken ore carrier testified Thursday.

The 720-foot Fitzgerald went down without survivors Nov. 10 in a Lake Superior storm. There were 29 crewmen aboard.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Coast Guard board of inquiry probing the disaster said a decision may be made this week whether to attempt to send divers to view the wreckage. He said it was more likely that underwater television equipment would be used but that the decision hadn't been made yet.

Capt. Delmar Webster, temporary master of another ore carrier, the J. Burton Ayers, told the board that the action of the Fitzgerald wasn't unusual compared with that of other

Warren Judge Accused Of Associating With Criminals

DETROIT (AP) — District Judge Roy N. Gruenberg of Warren Thursday was charged by the state with associating with known criminals, influencing court cases and illegally raising funds.

The Judicial Tenure Commission, which filed the formal complaint, asked the state Supreme Court to suspend the judge pending action before the court to remove him from office.

"Although I requested a meeting with the (Judicial Tenure) Commission and those conducting the investigation... I was not afforded any (meeting)," said Gruenberg. "As to the charges, I categorically deny each and every allegation and feel certain I will be vindicated."

Gruenberg said that for the past 10 years he has been the target of "a concerted political-police effort to discredit me."

The commission's executive director, Brian J. McMahon, announced the complaint at a news conference in Detroit.

Gruenberg, 45, is a former Warren city council president. He was elected a municipal judge in Warren in 1965 and automatically became a district judge in the court reorganization of 1968.

The commission's complaint alleged:

—A $40-a-ticket outing was held in Gruenberg's behalf on

Other sources said the outing was at a north Macomb County golf course and that more than 400 persons purchased tickets. At the time, Gruenberg's court clerk was quoted as saying the money was destined for a charity the judge favored.

—Gruenberg "maintained relations with and made himself accessible to known criminals and persons of unsavory reputation." The commission said they included Robert Gowsky Sr., Charles Grzywinsky and Roger Rebnicky.

—The judge told Rebnicky he would attempt to influence the case of Timothy Brady, charged in Macomb County Circuit Court with receiving and concealing stolen property, and later "did act in furtherance of such attempt."

—Gruenberg accepted a guilty plea on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property from Gowsky on Sept. 7 while maintaining a "wrongful and improper relationship with the defendant." The agency said the judge visited Gowsky at his home on Sept. 28, before sentence was passed.

—On or about Oct. 8 Gruenberg dismissed drunken driving charges against Gowsky after discussing the case with him and his father at the Sept. 28 meeting.

Gruenberg said Wednesday he has been required to spend all his savings against "two unwarranted prosecutions."

Both were for knowingly and willingly filing false income tax returns. The original trial ended in a hung jury. In the second trial on the same charge, Gruenberg was acquitted.

Lottery Winner Deadline Is Today

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Today is the deadline for the holder of a lottery ticket worth up to $200,000 to step forward, lottery officials say.

One man, Ara Arthur Sogioan, 50, of Dearborn Heights made the deadline by three weeks when a newspaper story prompted him to sift through a shoebox full of old tickets.

In the box he found the ticket he bought from his own party store a year ago Dec. 12. Because both three-digit numbers on the Super Play ticket matched the numbers drawn, Sogioan can try for the top $200,000 prize on the Super Play lottery television show in the next few weeks.

He'll win at least $10,000 on the show.

According to lottery rules, winners must turn in their tickets to a lottery office within one year of the drawing date to be eligible for the prize.

The winner from last Dec. 12's drawing who is still at large bought a ticket with the numbers 350-175 from Dunlevy's Horseshoe Bar in Detroit, officials say.

Unclaimed prizes return to the state's general fund.

Ship Spring Is Common, He Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stormy waters caused the Edmund Fitzgerald to spring, but all lake carriers do so under such circumstances, a former first mate of the stricken ore carrier testified Thursday.

The 729-foot Fitzgerald went down without survivors Nov. 10 in a Lake Superior storm. There were 29 crewmen aboard.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Coast Guard board of inquiry probing the disaster said a decision may be made this week whether to attempt to send divers to view the wreckage. He said it was more likely that underwater television equipment would be used but that the decision hadn't been made yet.

Capt. Delmar Webster, temporary master of another ore carrier, the J. Burton Ayers, told the board that the action of the Fitzgerald wasn't unnatural compared with that of other

Senate OKs Mechanic Licensing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Every auto mechanic in Michigan would have to pass a test and obtain state certification by 1981 under legislation which has passed the state Senate.

The measure, approved Thursday 27-0 and sent to the House, is intended to tighten up Michigan's new auto repair law, which took effect earlier this year. But it also relaxes rules on written estimates and permits repair shops to slightly exceed their estimates without penalty.

The state is in the process of administering certification tests to auto mechanics around the state.

However, under the original law, not all mechanics have to be certified. It requires that by 1978, all licensed repair facilities must have at least one "master mechanic" certified in all major repair work or a specialist certified in each kind of repair work the facility performs.

The weaker version was accepted when it passed a year ago in order to attract enough votes for passage. But its sponsor, Sen. Earl Nelson, D-Lansing, immediately introduced a new bill this year to require certification of all mechanics.

The latest bill also makes several other significant changes in the law.

—It deletes the requirement that all repair facilities purchase $10,000 surety bonds. The secretary of state's office said that many facilities would not be able to obtain such a bond — up to 90 or 80 per cent of the shops in inner cities.

The law required the bond to assure that if the shop goes out of business, any claims resulting from bad repair work would be paid. But state officials said bonds don't appear necessary and in fact may themselves force shops to close.

—It drops a requirement that a written estimate be made for all repairs. Under the new bill, written estimates would be required for repairs totaling more than $50, although the customer could demand an estimate on any repair work.

The original law also permits customers to waive their right to a written estimate, and to orally approve repairs in excess of the written estimate.

—It permits repair costs to exceed written estimates by 10 per cent without customer approval. The original bill requires shops to stick to their estimates.

The original law was intended to curb dishonesty and incompetence in the auto repair business. Opponents have argued it will raise costs drastically to consumers.

The law also requires the licensing of repair shops which do major auto repair work, exempting gas stations, tire and muffler shops and other minor repair shops; requires them to provide replaced parts for inspection.

Veto Battle Looms On Tax Cut

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Congress are gearing for a veto battle that will determine whether Americans find their income taxes increased by about 8 per cent on the first day of 1976.

A bipartisan group of senators met with the President late Thursday to discuss differences on legislation to extend last year's tax cuts into the new year, but the session ended in a deadlock. Sen. Russell Long, D-La., told reporters after the meeting with Ford, "We were unable to agree on anything."

Ford told the lawmakers he will veto the tax cut measure if it is sent to him without an attached spending ceiling of $85 billion for the next fiscal year.

If Ford vetoes the tax cuts and if his veto is upheld, most American workers will face an automatic tax increase on Jan. 1. The tax cuts in effect this year expire on Dec. 31 unless extended by Congress.

James T. Lynn, director of the Office of Management and Budget, told reporters after the Thursday meeting that the President had informed the senators that he "respectfully disagrees" with their efforts to continue tax increases without placing the limit on federal spending and that Ford told them "we'll have to let the system work."

"The President made it very clear that without an expenditure ceiling he will veto the proposal put forth by the Finance Committee," Lynn said.

Ford has said he believes Congress will not override his veto. Congressional Democratic leaders predict "it will be close."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee, said, "The President still insists that any tax cut be accompanied by a commitment to a $395-billion spending ceiling."

Long said a tax bill is expected to clear Congress early next week and it should be on the President's desk late in the week. Asked about a Ford veto, Long replied, "We'll try to override and we may or may not. Then we'll see what happens after that."

Of the four senators at the White House meeting, only Carl Curtis, R-Neb., supported the President's position. He predicted that the House, at least, would sustain a Ford veto.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., told reporters, "We're not all that far apart," but he concluded Ford is asking Congress to violate procedures prescribed by the new congressional budget law. Under that law, Congress won't consider spending for fiscal 1977 until next spring.

Car Boom Is Predicted

DETROIT (AP) — The chairman of General Motors Corp. says his auto company is looking forward to 1976 as "one of the best years in the history of the industry." The budding auto sales boom, which resulted in a sharp sales gain for domestic car makers last month, could flourish next year, Thomas A. Murphy said today in a year-end statement. That is, he said, if the boom isn't nipped in the bud by "overly stringent" government emissions standards and rocky going at upcoming contract talks with the unions. Murphy also noted that rising unemployment rates will be "a major challenge to both government and industry in the year ahead."

Lid Off Power Sale Limit

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to remove limits on how much power city utilities can sell beyond city limits was signed into law Thursday by Gov. William Milliken. The bill would let a city utility sell as much power as its board of directors chose to investor-owned utilities like Consumers Power Co. at lower wholesale prices, or to nearby homes and businesses at regular rates. Until now state law has limited the sale of power outside city boundaries to 25 per cent of the amount sold within the city.

Three Charged In Knight Slaying

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police charged three Philadelphia men Thursday night with the slaying of newspaper editor John S. Knight III.

Joseph Golden, chief of detectives, said police believe robbery was the motive. None of the three men has yet been arrested and Golden said, "We don't know where they are." But he said the FBI was being asked to join the case and said the trio is being charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Charged were Salvatore Soll, 38; Steven Maleno, 25; and Isaiah "Felix" Melendez, 20. Warrants signed by Municipal Court Judge Edward Quinn charged each of the three men with murder, three counts of robbery, attempted murder, criminal conspiracy and aggravated assault.

Knight, special projects editor at the Philadelphia Daily News and the grandson of the founder of the Knight newspaper empire, was stabbed to death early Sunday in his luxury center city apartment. A house guest, Mrs. Rosemary McKinnon, was also stabbed as she tried to flee. Her husband, John, was not hurt.

Jewelry, silverware, and a $4,000 wristwatch were taken from Knight's 23rd floor apartment overlooking scenic Rittenhouse Square, but the three intruders left untouched an estimated $300,000 in paintings and other artworks.

On the basis of statements reportedly made by Mrs. McKinnon about the intruders, police had been interviewing homosexuals in their investigation and Golden said Wednesday that Knight, 30, was bisexual.

But Golden repeatedly refused Thursday night at a news conference to discuss what, if anything, police know about any possible relationship between Knight and the three men named Thursday. There had been reports at least one of the men may have known Knight.

Golden also refused to release any other information about the

Control Of Beirut Hotel District Is Leftist Cease-Fire Condition

By EDWARD CODY
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Leftist Moslem gunmen besieging the last major Christian position in the heart of Beirut vowed today to ignore all cease-fire agreements until they drive their foes from the downtown hotel district.

"The cease-fire is not binding until the Phalangists get out of the Holiday Inn," said a Nasserite lieutenant running an operations room in the Palm Beach Hotel.

"We will not lay down arms until the district is purged of Phalangists, even if the state and the army threaten us. When the area comes under our complete control, it will be reopened to tourism and business."

Other Moslem warriors said that, despite the declaration of a new cease-fire, they would not stop fighting until the Christians agreed to Moslem control of the government, parliament, army and economy, all of which have been dominated by the Christians.

After occupying the partially gutted St. Georges and Phoenixia hotels, the Moslems were firing on holdouts of the rightwing Christian Phalange party in the rocket-pocked, 500-room Holiday Inn on a hillside overlooking the other hotels.

The besieged Phalangists had only one lifeline left to their headquarters about a mile to the east. About 100 yards of that was exposed to Moslem sniper and machinegun fire.

The fighting was accompanied by sharp sonic booms from Israeli reconnaissance jets flying over the city at low altitudes. Air raid sirens wailed.

The government radio announced Thursday night that all the warring factions agreed to a cease-fire to take effect at 2 a.m. today. But the police reported that more than 30 persons were killed and another 40 were wounded after the truce hour, raising the confirmed death toll in Beirut since the civil war resumed last Saturday night to at least 388.

Heavy fighting also was reported in Zahle, a resort town 35 miles east of Beirut, with 12 killed and 16 wounded.

Premier Rashid Karami called a meeting of his ceasefire committee to try to find out why the truce agreement was not being observed. There were reports that moderate Palestinian leaders were pressuring the leftist Moslems to heed Karami's peace appeal. But they were being ignored by the Nasserite, Socialist and Communist gunmen battling for the hotel district.

Zarb Now Says Bill Could Cut Costs Of Energy

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, who earlier expressed doubts that a congressional energy plan would mean lower fuel prices, now says the bill should save consumers about 2.5 cents a gallon on fuel oil and gasoline.

Although the Democratic-sponsored plan would temporarily run counter to President Ford's own energy program, he has not said whether he will veto it.

Zarb told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in a letter that while the congressional plan's price cuts might not be felt immediately, "prices will be less in future months than they otherwise would have been under a continuation of the present program" of price controls.

Portions of the Dec. 8 letter from Zarb were printed in a conference committee report on the compromise energy bill, on which a final vote in the House and Senate will come next week. The letter was released Thursday.

Congressional economists say the bill could mean a temporary saving of 3.5 cents per gallon on gasoline or home-heating oil, and they predict lower prices may be felt as soon as the bill becomes law — if it does.

Zarb has urged Ford to sign the bill as the best energy plan he can get from Congress this year, but conservative lawmakers adamantly oppose it on grounds it would increase dependence on foreign oil.

While the conferees were writing the compromise bill, Zarb said publicly he would be surprised if the plan resulted in a rollback of even one cent per gallon.

But in the letter to Jackson, Zarb wrote:

"Regardless of the rate at which the cost reductions flow through in the lower prices to consumers, the conferees may rest assured that their actions, if enacted by the Congress and signed by the President, should result in a savings to consumers of about 2.5 cents per gallon on petroleum products."

Democrats predict Ford will have to sign the bill, with its temporarily lower fuel prices, or jeopardize his chances in the nation's first presidential primaries of 1976. Those tests are scheduled in 2½ months in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, wintry states heavily dependent upon oil for heating.

The compromise bill, worked out during a 16-day conference, would retain controls on oil prices through March 1976. At the start of the program, the average price of U.S. domestic oil, now about $10.50 a barrel, would be rolled back to $7.66.

The biggest share of the rollback would be accomplished by removing the $2-per-barrel tariff that Ford imposed earlier this year on all imported oil and on that portion of U.S. production that is not subject to price controls.

Cautious Consumer Delaying Recovery?

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Economic recovery is being delayed by the "unusually conservative and skittish mood" of the American consumer, University of Michigan economists reported today.

Consumer confidence dipped slightly in the fourth quarter of 1975 after improving steadily throughout the year, experts at the U-M Survey Research Center said.

While attitudes have improved substantially since the record low of December 1974, they are still as shaky as they were at the bottom of the 1970 recession, the experts said.

They warned that consumers need good economic news in the form of reassurances about the future of New York City and an increase in real income, including a continuation of federal income tax cuts.

The most pessimistic finding of the current survey was that only 11 per cent of those interviewed said they expected good times over the next five years. The figure was down from 18 per cent in the third quarter, but was up from 8 per cent at the end of 1974.

At the same time, 31 per cent said they personally expected to be better off a year from now, up from 25 per cent in the third quarter and 24 per cent a year ago.

The researchers also reported decreasing concern about inflation and said continued good news about the economy would reinforce strengthening attitudes about peoples' personal financial outlooks.

But they warned that bad economic news could quickly lead to a decline in confidence, which is used as a measure of expected retail purchasing.

"The data suggests that bad news in the months ahead might have an unusually unfavorable influence on consumer attitudes because it would reinforce uncertainties that are already intense," the researchers said.

"This, together with the fact that improvement in consumer confidence has already been halted, suggests that it is particularly important to avoid having bad news in the months ahead."

Some 41 per cent of those surveyed said it was a good time to buy large household goods, down from 42 per cent in the third quarter, but up from 30 per cent a year ago.

Attitudes toward buying a car improved somewhat, support for home purchases declined.

One sign of increased conservatism was stronger interest in savings. The researchers classified 71 per cent of those surveyed as "saving-minded," up from 64 per cent in the third quarter.

"It is important that improved consumer expectations about their personal financial situation be reinforced by continued gains in real income," the researchers said.

"In this context, it seems highly likely that failure to extend the federal income tax cuts would be widely viewed as a significant piece of bad news."

They also suggested that a resolution of the problems facing New York City would tend to improve long-term consumer attitudes.

"The problems of New York City have contributed to the recent increase in general uncertainty about the economy because they reinforce two attitudes already strongly held by many consumers:

"First, that everyone (consumers, business, and government) is having a hard time making ends meet these days; and second, that government is not capable of solving problems."

Survey results were released in conjunction with today's annual Conference on the Economic Outlook at U-M.

The latest results were based on interviews in October and November with 1,367 persons.

From responses to a series of standard questions, the researchers computed an Index of Consumer Sentiment at 75.4, with the sentiment in the first quarter of 1966 defined as 100. The index was down slightly from 75.8 in August-September, but was up about 20 points in December 1974.

Zarb Now Says Bill Could Cut Costs Of Energy

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, who earlier expressed doubts that a congressional energy plan would mean lower fuel prices, now says the bill should save consumers about 2.5 cents a gallon on fuel oil and gasoline.

Although the Democratic-sponsored plan would temporarily run counter to President Ford's own energy program, he has not said whether he will veto it.

Zarb told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in a letter that while the congressional plan's price cuts might not be felt immediately, "prices will be less in future months than they otherwise would have been under a continuation of the present program" of price controls.

Portions of the Dec. 8 letter from Zarb were printed in a conference committee report on the compromise energy bill, on which a final vote in the House and Senate will come next week. The letter was released Thursday.

Congressional economists say the bill could mean a temporary saving of 2.5 cents per gallon on gasoline or home-heating oil, and they predict lower prices may be felt as soon as the bill becomes law — if it does.

Zarb has urged Ford to sign the bill as the best energy plan he can get from Congress this year, but conservative lawmakers adamantly oppose it on grounds it would increase dependence on foreign oil.

While the conferees were writing the compromise bill, Zarb said publicly he would be surprised if the plan resulted in a rollback of even one cent per gallon.

But in the letter to Jackson, Zarb wrote:

"Regardless of the rate at which the cost reductions flow through in lower prices to consumers, the conferees may rest assured that their actions, if enacted by the Congress and signed by the President, should result in a savings to consumers of about 2.5 cents per gallon on petroleum products."

Democrats predict Ford will have to sign the bill, with its temporarily lower fuel prices, or jeopardize his chances in the nation's first presidential primaries of 1976. Those tests are scheduled in 2½ months in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, wintry states heavily dependent upon oil for heating.

The compromise bill, worked out during a 16-day conference, would retain controls on oil prices through March 1979. At the start of the program, the average price of U.S. domestic oil, now about $10.50 a barrel, would be rolled back to $7.66.

The biggest share of the rollback would be accomplished by removing the $2-per-barrel tariff that Ford imposed earlier this year on all imported oil and on that portion of U.S. production that is not subject to price controls.

Mother Vows To Stand By Unconscious Son Till Death

LONS LE SAUNIER, France (AP) — Walking home from a 20-year-old Paul Balay, and two friends were run down by a car. One friend died and Balay suffered head injuries that put him into a coma from which he has never emerged. For 16 of those 20 years, his mother has cared for him at home in this little town in eastern France. "I will look after him all my life if necessary," said 63-year-old Marie Balay. "God put us on this earth, and He will take us back when He so desires." She says she doesn't agree at all with the parents of Karen Ann Quinlan, "but of course everyone is free to think what they wish." Miss Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma for eight months in a Denville, N.J., hospital. A judge last month rejected an appeal by her parents that lifesupport equipment be disconnected. Mrs. Balay still refuses to leave her son's side, although she said, "After the operation, doctors told me that his central nervous system had been too badly damaged to ever expect him to recover." She has made several pilgrimages to Lourdes to pray for a "miraculous" recovery, which she admits is the only hope for a change in her son's vegetative existence. Balay was in a hospital for four years after the accident. His father had died two years before the accident. His widowed mother decided he was "getting practically no care" and that the hospital charges were too high. She brought her son home. "I had no medical training, but it's not difficult to look after Paul," she said. "He had a tracheotomy, and I have a respirator for him, and he gets food through a nasal tube. It really does not require very much work, but of course I can't ever leave him for very long, a few hours at most, but I sometimes have a nurse or someone to spell me for a while." Social security pays most of the cost of keeping Balay alive, and Mrs. Balay still receives small insurance payments from the accident judgment. Her livelihood is the income from a small shop. She said her religion helps her cope with the emotional strain. "I am a Catholic, a practicing Catholic, and I have very great faith," she declared. The future is in God's hands, she added, but "as long as I live, I will look after Paul."

Serrell Resigning From Gobles City Commission

GOBLES — Gobles City Commissioner Gary Serrell announced last night he is resigning from the commission.

Leaving commission

Serrell, a commissioner since 1970, was re-elected to a three-year term in November. That term was to begin at the next city commission meeting, Jan. 8.

Serrell made the announcement at the city commission meeting. He said he would be soon moving to Allegan as his wife has accepted a job as a teacher with the Allegan school district.

Mayor Timothy Peters said an appointment would be made at the January meeting to replace Serrell.

Serrell, 32, is a mathematics and physical education teacher at Gobles high school. He said he would move to Allegan because he would rather drive to Gobles each day than have his wife drive to Allegan.

In other areas, Peters said Van Buren Probate Judge Meyer Warshawsky had asked for commissioners to endorse him as a replacement for Van Buren Circuit Court Judge David Anderson, Jr., who is resigning Jan. 1.

Peters showed the commission a letter from the judge asking for the endorsement, but no action was taken. A successor to Judge Anderson will be appointed by Gov. William Milliken.

Peters said that anyone in the city who has received a second notice for an unpaid water bill will have the water shut off today. The decision came after Mrs. Loretta Laughlin, city clerk, told the council a total of $833 in water bills was overdue.

Peters said that in cases of rental property, the owner is responsible to pay the bill unless he has informed the city the tenant has agreed to pay the bill.

Vigil Too Much For Parents Of Comatose Youth

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — "We're not monsters. We loved our little boy, but we did what we thought was right."

So says Jennie Turney, who sought a new life for her family thousands of miles from the hospital where her first-born son lay unconscious in a coma for nine years.

Timothy Turney, who suffered severe brain damage when he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on his way to kindergarten in January 1967, died Sunday at age 14 without ever regaining consciousness.

At the time of Timothy's death, his legal guardian was listed as the Alameda County welfare department, and the coroner's office said it was unable to locate his parents.

But the Turneys returned this week from their new home in Fairbanks, Alaska, to arrange funeral services for the son they left behind seven years ago.

"The first two years were hell," Mrs. Turney said Thursday. "My husband Ted and I both came close to a breakdown. That's the reason we pulled out and moved to Alaska. We had practically neglected the other children."

She said the strain showed especially on the second-oldest boy, Jeff, who started "doing really bad in school."

"Some people thought we were monsters for leaving our little boy, but we loved him and he was always in our prayers," she said.

The Turneys made several trips to Fairmont Hospital in Oakland after moving to Alaska, where Turney works on the Alaska Pipeline at Prudhoe Bay. He works nine weeks straight and then gets two off.

Mrs. Turney said her other three sons, the youngest of whom is 8, "are all doing fine now."

Timothy's grandmother, Hazel Crosson, of nearby Vacaville, said she visited the boy at the hospital at first, but finally stopped because "it tore me up too bad."

Doctors said Timothy's vital organs continued to function while he stayed in the coma, breathing without aid of a respirator. He barely grew, and at death was 55 inches tall and weighed only 45 pounds.

Man Sentenced For Contempt

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Judge William C. Buhl said he found a Paw Paw man in contempt of court for arguing with him during district court proceedings here yesterday.

Judge Buhl said he sentenced the man to 10 days in jail but suspended five days of the sentence after an apology was made. Buhl said his action came as the result of a least six outbursts during the man's arraignment.

Sentenced was Tom Englehart, 20, DeVan Mobile Home park.

Buhl said the arguments were over either the charges or bond which totalled $1,850.

Englehart was arraigned in the Seventh District court on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Englehart was arrested by Paw Paw police on the DUII charge Wednesday evening, and during a search of his car a hunting knife was found, police said.

He pleaded innocent to the drunk driving charge and demanded a preliminary examination on the knife charge, which was scheduled for Dec. 23.

At the time of Timothy's death, his legal guardian was listed as the Alameda County welfare department, and the coroner's office said it was unable to locate his parents.

But the Turneys returned this week from their new home in Fairbanks, Alaska, to arrange funeral services for the son they left behind seven years ago.

"The first two years were hell," Mrs. Turney said Thursday. "My husband Ted and I both came close to a breakdown. That's the reason we pulled out and moved to Alaska. We had practically neglected the other children."

She said the strain showed especially on the second-oldest boy, Jeff, who started "doing really bad in school."

"Some people thought we were monsters for leaving our little boy, but we loved him and he was always in our prayers," she said.

The Turneys made several trips to Fairmont Hospital in Oakland after moving to Alaska, where Turney works on the Alaska Pipeline at Prudhoe Bay. He works nine weeks straight and then gets two off.

Mrs. Turney said her other three sons, the youngest of whom is 6, "are all doing fine now."

Timothy's grandmother, Hazel Crosson, of nearby Vacaville, said she visited the boy at the hospital at first, but finally stopped because "it tore me up too bad."

Doctors said Timothy's vital organs continued to function while he stayed in the coma, breathing without aid of a respirator. He barely grew, and at death was 55 inches tall and weighed only 45 pounds.

Man Sentenced For Contempt

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Judge William C. Buhl said he found a Paw Paw man in contempt of court for arguing with him during district court proceedings here yesterday.

Judge Buhl said he sentenced the man to 10 days in jail but suspended five days of the sentence after an apology was made. Buhl said his action came as the result of a least six outbursts during the man's arraignment.

Sentenced was Tom Englehart, 20, DeVan Mobile Home park.

Buhl said the arguments were over either the charges or bond which totalled $1,650.

Englehart was arraigned in the Seventh District court on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Englehart was arrested by Paw Paw police on the DUIL charge Wednesday evening, and during a search of his car a hunting knife was found, police said.

He pleaded innocent to the drunk driving charge and demanded a preliminary examination on the knife charge, which was scheduled for Dec. 23.

State Tax Break Delay Rejected By Legislature

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — One day after legislative committees approved the governor's $123 million spending cut to help balance Michigan's budget, lawmakers have defeated an emergency bill which would have averted the loss of $8 million to $15 million in tax revenue. However, the move is good news for many property owners who will get a tax break.

The House on Thursday twice rejected a measure to delay until 1976 tax breaks and refunds for some 75,000 property owners — mainly farmers. The state had planned on the delay until a surprise attorney general's opinion Tuesday said the tax breaks apply to 1975. Without a delay, income tax revenues will drop for this fiscal year by up to $15 million, said House Speaker Bobby Crim.

Tax credits for the property owners will range from $500 to $1,200. As legislators trickled away to begin a weekend at home, or rejected pleas by governor's aides and Democratic leaders, votes for the bill fell short 54-34 and 50-23 — with 56 votes needed.

"I've never seen such fiscal irresponsibility in all my life," said Crim, D-Davison, angered at Republican leaders' failure to deliver votes.

Crim was unsure if a third attempt would be made in the House, or if the potential deficit would be dumped into Gov. William Milliken's lap to be solved by further spending cuts. Solutions to the matter are made difficult by the need to act before the tax year ends Dec. 31, and by lawmakers' strong desire to go home before then — even if it causes more deficit. If the House did correct the matter, the Senate would still have to act.

The problem arose with passage of Milliken's single business tax last August. To get support, another bill was passed raising the maximum income tax credit for property owners from $500 to $1,200.

"That ceiling, given to people paying high property taxes was intended to take effect Jan. 1, 1976, applied to tax returns due in April, 1977. But Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's ruling said it actually took effect Aug. 27, 1975, in time for this tax year."

Today In MICHIGAN

Troopers Rap Cuts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's order to cut state spending by $123.7 million "will further demoralize" State Police officers and "result in less law enforcement," according to the Michigan State Police Troopers Association. "The new four per cent State Police budget cut, combined with ridding the State Police Pension Fund of $1.8 million, shows the indifference of the Milliken administration to State Police morale and good law enforcement," said Don Brown, executive secretary of the 1,350-member association. Brown said the cutback "will emasculate the goals of the agency," cut funding for 150 trooper positions and take away from overtime. It will also kill any new recruit school for another year, he said.

Ford Threat Conviction

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — A jury in U.S. District Court in Marquette has found a Kalkaska man guilty on one count of a two-count indictment for threatening the lives of President Ford and Vice President Rockefeller. After about eight hours of deliberation, the jury found Patrick M. Scott, 26, guilty of threatening to shoot Ford during his visit to northern Michigan last summer. Scott faces a maximum $1,000 fine and five years in prison.

Murder Convictions Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The felony murder convictions and mandatory life sentences of two Detroit men for the Feb. 7, 1972, killing of grocery store owner Odell Moore have been upheld by the state Court of Appeals. Delvin Jones Jr. and Stanley Arno Watkins appealed their conviction before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Robert Colombo but the motions were rejected by the appeals court in an opinion released Thursday. The court held that a lineup identification of Watkins by witnesses was valid, even though it resulted from an illegal police arrest. Watkins was picked up after his car was stopped for bad brake lights.

Washtenaw Farmers File Suit

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A group of Washtenaw County farmers has filed a $123,000 lawsuit claiming their animals were contaminated by the fire retardant commonly known as PBB. The suit is the first filed in Washtenaw County Circuit Court. It quotes a county agricultural agent, Bill Ames, as saying he knew of the PBB problem in Washtenaw County, but kept it quiet to protect the farmers. The five Chelsea area residents who filed the action claim the chemical, also called polybrominated biphenyl, was mixed into cattle feed, causing death or serious illness in 50 dairy cows. Plaintiffs are William Van Riper, his wife Dorothy, Gary A. White, his wife Linda, all of Lima Township, and E. Jay Hopkins of London Township. The defendants are Farm Bureau Services Inc., and Michigan Chemical Corp., which could not be reached for immediate comment.

Help For Democrats

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The legislature gave final approval Thursday to a bill which would help Michigan Democrats avert possible challenges to their delegation at next summer's national presidential convention. The House passed 58-28 and sent to the governor legislation to allow Democrats to select national delegates in state congressional district meetings instead of during the state presidential primary next May. That will keep Michigan Democrats in conformity with national party rules forbidding selection of delegates in elections in which non-Democrats could participate. Without the measure, delegate selection during the May primary election could be influenced by "cross-over" votes from Republicans.

Bill Aims At Banning PCB

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation banning the sale or manufacture of the insulating chemical PCB in Michigan has been sent to the state House for initial action. The bill to reduce chemical contamination of food and animals — especially lake trout — cleared the House Marine Affairs Committee on a 6-0 vote Thursday. "It lets the federal government know that at least one state is taking steps in this direction," said committee chairman Rep. David Danior of the legislation's example for nationwide action.

Police Seeking Identity Of Eight Buried Bodies

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — Police sources say two of eight bodies found buried near a rural farm town are believed to be the wives of two men charged with killing several other victims.

Meanwhile, Florence County Sheriff William Barnes said Thursday that "the investigations are just starting" into the deaths of the eight persons whose bodies have been unearthed in the town of Prospect.

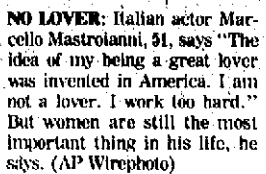

Deputies spent Thursday searching a site about a mile down Highway 341 from a cornfield where six bodies were found last week.

Two victims, believed to be a young woman and a child, were discovered at the site where deputies searched Thursday. Some sources said other sites may be searched, but Barnes wouldn't confirm it — "Whether we'll go anywhere else or not I couldn't say right now."

Barnes said he was "not at liberty to talk about a motive." A police source said the two female victims found in the cornfield site are believed to be the wives of two men charged with some of the slayings.

The source said the victims are believed to be Diane Bellamy Neely, the wife of Walter Leroy Neely, and Jessie Judy, the wife of James K. Judy. Mrs. Neely was also believed to be the sister of Dennis Bellamy, a victim whose body has been positively identified.

Signs Irk Banker

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon bank president is upset with a sign near his office which lauds his competitors for furnishing loans for a Muskegon mall project.

Lyndon D. Comstock, president of Hackley Union Bank and Trust Co., is so upset, he says he tore down two of the cardboard signs which proclaimed Old Kent Bank of Grand Rapids, Muskegon Bank and Trust Co. and the National Lumberman's Bank furnished $3 million for the mall project.

"I've been tearing them up," Comstock said Thursday.

"Those signs say nothing about the city and the county which loaned the project $1 million each."

"It's just an obvious attempt to cop all the credit," he said.

A Bill For Consumers

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill spelling out sneaky business practices and making them illegal was put into position for passage in the state House with few changes Thursday. The landmark measure also gives consumers a choice of clearly defined legal avenues for recovery of losses that are unavailable under current law. Biked consumers now have a weak weapon to fight back with under Michigan's "malicious intent to defraud" laws, says Rep. Lynn Jondahl, House Consumers Committee chairman. Contained in the bill is a 22-item list of things businessmen may not do, such as say a used product is new or lie about competing brands.

U.S. Intervening In Angola?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has spent nearly $50 million in aiding two anti-Soviet factions in the Angolan civil war. The Washington Post said in Friday's editions. In a story that quoted unidentified informed sources, the newspaper said the bulk of the U.S.-supplied military equipment has been sent to the former Portuguese African colony in the last six months and that most of it is being funneled through neighboring Zaire. Recipients of the reported aid are the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola (UNITA) and the National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA), which are battling the Soviet-backed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA).

Ford Pushed To Veto Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor John Dunlop says President Ford is under tremendous political pressure to veto a controversial construction site picketing bill that Ford earlier had personally endorsed. And Senate conservatives, who had threatened a filibuster to block final action on the measure, agreed to permit a vote on Monday after the House approved the legislation on a 229 to 189 vote. The bill is considered by many Republicans to be Ford's No. 1 current political headache, despite the fact that the measure has been around Congress for 25 years and received virtually no public attention.

Lawrence Schools Prohibit Nepotism

LAWRENCE — An anti-nepotism policy was adopted by the Lawrence school board last night.

The policy prohibits the hiring of any person who would be subordinate to relatives already employed by the school or who are members of the school board.

School officials said the policy would not apply to persons already employed by the school when a relative becomes superintendent or school board member.

In other action, the board gave its support to a special, Feb. 24 millage election by the Van Buren intermediate school district.

The intermediate district is seeking 1½ property tax mills and approval of a $1,010,000 bond issue for a building and program for the mentally impaired.

The Lawrence school board also set the date for the next board meeting as Jan. 15.

State Tax Break Delay Rejected By Legislature

By JIM KEEGSTRA
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — One day after legislative committees approved the governor's $123 million spending cut to help balance Michigan's budget, lawmakers have defeated an emergency bill which would have averted the loss of $8 million to $15 million in tax revenue. However, the move is good news for many property owners who will get a tax break.

The House on Thursday twice rejected a measure to delay until 1976 tax breaks and refunds for some 75,000 property owners — mainly farmers. The state had planned on the delay until a surprise attorney general's opinion Tuesday said the tax breaks apply to 1975. Without a delay, income tax revenues will drop for this fiscal year by up to $15 million, said House Speaker Bobby Crim.

Tax credits for the property owners will range from $500 to $1,200.

As legislators trickled away to begin a weekend at home, or rejected pleas by governor's aides and Democratic leaders, votes for the bill fell short 54-34 and 50-23 — with 56 votes needed.

"I've never seen such fiscal irresponsibility in all my life," said Crim, D-Davison, angered at Republican leaders' failure to deliver votes.

Crim was unsure if a third attempt would be made in the House, or if the potential deficit would be dumped into Gov. William Milliken's lap to be solved by further spending cuts.

Solutions to the matter are made difficult by the need to act before the tax year ends Dec. 31, and by lawmakers' strong desire to go home before then — even if it causes more deficit. If the House did correct the matter, the Senate would still have to act.

The problem arose with passage of Milliken's single business tax last August. To get support, another bill was passed raising the maximum income tax credit for property owners from $500 to $1,200.

That ceiling, given to people paying high property taxes was intended to take effect Jan. 1, 1976, applied to tax returns due in April, 1977. But Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's ruling said it actually took effect Aug. 27, 1975, in time for this tax year.

Today In MICHIGAN

Troopers Rap Cuts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken's order to cut state spending by $123.7 million "will further demoralize" State Police officers and "result in less law enforcement," according to the Michigan State Police Troopers Association. "The new four per cent State Police budget cut, combined with raiding the State Police Pension Fund of $1.8 million, shows the indifference of the Milliken administration to State Police morale and good law enforcement," said Doll Brown, executive secretary of the 1,350-member association. Brown said the cutback "will emasculate the goals of the agency," cut funding for 150 trooper positions and take away from overtime. It will also kill any new recruit school for another year, he said.

Ford Threat Conviction

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — A jury in U.S. District Court in Marquette has found a Kalkaska man guilty on one count of a two-count indictment for threatening the lives of President Ford and Vice President Rockefeller. After about eight hours of deliberation, the jury found Patrick M. Scott, 26, guilty of threatening to shoot Ford during his visit to northern Michigan last summer. Scott faces a maximum $1,000 fine and five years in prison.

Murder Convictions Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The felony murder convictions and mandatory life sentences of two Detroit men for the Feb. 7, 1972, killing of grocery store owner Odell Moore have been upheld by the state Court of Appeals. Delvin Jones Jr. and Stanley Arno Watkins appealed their conviction before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Robert Colombo but the motions were rejected by the appeals court in an opinion released Thursday. The court held that a lineup identification of Watkins by witnesses was valid, even though it resulted from an illegal police arrest. Watkins was picked up after his car was stopped for bad brake lights.

Washtenaw Farmers File Suit

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A group of Washtenaw County farmers has filed a $123,000 lawsuit claiming their animals were contaminated by the fire retardant commonly known as PBB. The suit is the first filed in Washtenaw County Circuit Court. It quotes a county agricultural agent, Bill Ames, as saying he knew of the PBB problem in Washtenaw County, but kept it quiet to protect the farmers. The five Chelsea area residents who filed the action claim the chemical, also called polybrominated biphenyl, was mixed into cattle feed, causing death or serious illness in 50 dairy cows. Plaintiffs are William Van Riper, his wife Dorothy, Gary A. White, his wife Linda, all of Lima Township, and E. Jay Hopkins of Lyndon Township. The defendants are Farm Bureau Services Inc., and Michigan Chemical Corp., which could not be reached for immediate comment.

Help For Democrats

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The legislature gave final approval Thursday to a bill which would help Michigan Democrats avert possible challenges to their delegation at next summer's national presidential convention. The House passed 58-28 and sent to the governor legislation to allow Democrats to select national delegates in state congressional district meetings instead of during the state presidential primary next May. That will keep Michigan Democrats in conformity with national party rules forbidding selection of delegates in elections in which non-Democrats could participate. Without the measure, delegate selection during the May primary election could be influenced by "cross-over" votes from Republicans.

Bill Aims At Banning PCB

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation banning the sale or manufacture of the insulating chemical PCB in Michigan has been sent to the state House for initial action. The bill to reduce chemical contamination of food and animals — especially lake trout — cleared the House Marine Affairs Committee on a 6-0 vote Thursday. "It lets the federal government know that at least one state is taking steps in this direction," said committee chairman Rep. David Bonior of the legislation's example for nationwide action.

Police Seeking Identity Of Eight Buried Bodies

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP) — Police sources say two of eight bodies found buried near a rural farm town are believed to be the wives of two men charged with killing several other victims. Meanwhile, Florence County Sheriff William Barnes said Thursday that "the investigations are just starting" into the deaths of the eight persons whose bodies have been unearthed in the town of Prospect.

Deputies spent Thursday searching a site about a mile down Highway 341 from a cornfield where six bodies were found last week.

Two victims, believed to be a young woman and a child, were discovered at the site where deputies searched Thursday. Some sources said other sites may be searched, but Barnes wouldn't confirm it — "Whether we'll go anywhere else or not I couldn't say right now."

Barnes said he was "not at liberty to talk about a motive." A police source said the two female victims found in the cornfield site are believed to be the wives of two men charged with some of the slayings.

The source said the victims are believed to be Diane Bellamy Neely, the wife of Walter Leroy Neely, and Jessie Judy, the wife of James K. Judy. Mrs. Neely was also believed to be the sister of Dennis Bellamy, a victim whose body has been positively identified.

Signs Irk Banker

Banker

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon bank president is upset with a sign near his office which lauds his competitors for furnishing loans for a Muskegon mall project.

Lyndon D. Comstock, president of Hackley Union Bank and Trust Co., is so upset, he says he tore down two of the cardboard signs which proclaimed Old Kent Bank of Grand Rapids, Muskegon Bank and Trust Co. and the National Lumberman's Bank furnished $3 million for the mall project. "I've been tearing them up," Comstock said Thursday. "Those signs say nothing about the city and the county which loaned the project $1 million each."

"It's just an obvious attempt to cop all the credit," he said.

REP. RAY MITTAN
Small districts hurt

Michigan Budget Cuts Unfair, Says Rep. Ray Mittan

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

LANSING — State Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) said he is "angered" over the method used to cut $123.7 million from Michigan's budget.

"I am very disturbed that the budget cuts, which take effect immediately, hit smaller outstate school districts very hard while only having a minor effect on larger metropolitan school districts," Mittan said.

Mittan emphasized that he is not opposed to cutting the budget, but said he was very upset about the way the cuts were made and their "disastrous effects" on outstate school districts. Mittan noted that a quick comparison between the first executive order issued by the governor last month and the one that was approved this week "really tells the story."

"In the first order, there were cuts in Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits — in the latest order this area was untouched," Mittan said. "In the first order, there were substantial reductions in revenue sharing to local communities — in the latest order, the cuts in this area were far less drastic and of course, the biggest beneficiary of the revenue sharing program is the City of Detroit," Mittan said.

"The new order which was approved was completely devoid of cuts in areas where pressure groups debated those areas to be left alone," he said.

"I might point out that the cuts in education will be deducted from the next state aid payment — it's automatic, no questions asked," Mittan said. "I realize the budget had to be cut to avoid a deficit down the road. In fact, I'm sure the budget will have to be cut again," he said.

Mittan said he did not object to cutting the budget as opposed to raising taxes. "I do, however, object to one area having to swallow the lion's share of the cuts. In this case, it's education."

He explained that when budget cuts are necessary, the governor issues an executive order proposing spending cuts which are considered only by the appropriations committees of the State House and Senate. The entire legislature does not have a vote on cutting the state budget.

"I am told that only two of the five Republican members of the House Appropriations committee voted to approve the executive order, and three who opposed it told me that Republican members had no input whatsoever in the drafting of the executive order," Mittan said.

"It appears that the decisions were made by the Democratic leadership and the governor's office. It's quite obvious the executive office and the Democratic leadership saw fit to cut heavily in only one area rather than to cut across the board which have been equitable," he said.

Bailiff Heine Had Illustrious Music Career

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWTON — His name was Hendrik J. Buytendorp, but most of his friends just knew him as "Heine."

A long-time Van Buren circuit court bailiff and one-time symphony orchestra conductor, Buytendorp died Wednesday evening at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw. He was 79.

A colorful man who always seemed to have a smile on his face, Buytendorp had an almost musical quality in his voice when he announced in a thick Dutch accent that court was in session.

Born in The Hague, The Netherlands, on June 12, 1896, he studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music before emigrating to Kalamazoo in 1926. While in Kalamazoo he was director of the Western Michigan university band and one of the founders of the Kalamazoo Junior Symphony.

He also taught for a period at the University of Michigan. In 1935 he moved to Baton Rouge, La., to teach at Louisiana State university. About five years later he founded the Austin, Tex., Symphony Orchestra.

Buytendorp's son, Henry C. (Colonel) Buytendorp, recalled that while his father was at Austin a number of classical music stars, including Arthur Schnabel, Lawrence Melchior, and Van Cliburn appeared with the symphony.

Buytendorp even went before the Texas legislature one time in order to gain permission to have black opera star Marian Anderson appear with the symphony, a brave move then in view of the segregation laws, his son said.

Buytendorp left Austin in 1949, building a house on Gravel lake near Lawton, the next year. From then until his retirement in 1961, Buytendorp was a band and choir teacher at Decatur high school.

After his first "retirement," Buytendorp went to work for the Van Buren sheriff's department, first as a marine deputy and later as bailiff. He also served during that time as a truancy officer for the Van Buren intermediate school district.

Although he could play nine instruments, Buytendorp specialized in the cello, bass, and sousaphone, his son said.

Henry Buytendorp noted that when chiding his music students to do better, his father would always note that if he could play with false teeth, they should be able to play with real ones. Funeral services were to be held today. Burial was to follow in Oak Grove cemetery.

VARIED CAREER: Death this week closed colorful career of Hendrik Buytendorp of Lawton. The Van Buren circuit court bailiff was former director of Western Michigan university band and founder-conductor of symphony orchestra in Austin, Tex.

A man accused of breaking a woman's cheekbone with a hammer and then raping her pleaded no contest yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct.

Judge William S. White accepted the plea of Donald Gene Roberts, 33, of Bonne Terre, Mo., and remanded him to the county jail to await sentencing of up to life in prison.

The plea came just before Roberts' trial was to begin in court. He was charged with raping a 43-year-old woman from Alabama after striking her in the face with a hammer while in a car. Sept. 9 on Hildebrand road in Lake township.

Galien Man Heads County Ag Committee

BARODA — Orville Welbaum, of Galien, was reelected chairman of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee during the ASC annual county convention last night.

The three-man committee has a hand in running various federal agricultural programs implemented in Berrien county, according to Milton Francis, manager of the Berrien ASC office.

George Lozmack, of Three Oaks, was reelected vice chairman of the committee and Robert Barchett, of Bainbridge township, remains third member, Francis reported.

Lozmack's three-year term on the county committee was set to expire last night, but the convention delegates named him to another term. About 40 people were at the meeting, held here in the township hall.

PAW PAW — At least two, and possibly three candidates are expected to vie for Gov. Milliken's appointment as Van Buren circuit court judge.

The $32,402 a year post will be vacant Jan. 1 with the retirement of Judge David Anderson, Jr. Anderson's term does not expire until 1978, but the appointee would only serve until the next general election in November, 1976.

According to courthouse sources, Van Buren Probate Judge Meyer Warshawsky of South Haven appears to be the frontrunner for the post, with one senior attorney going so far as to say that Warshawsky has a "lock" on the appointment.

Challenges could come from former district court Judge Luther I. Daines of Paw Paw, who has announced he will seek the post, and District Court Judge Donald Goodwillie, Jr., of South Haven, who says he is considering it.

Another possible candidate, District Court Judge William C. Buhl of Paw Paw, has said he is not interested in the job. Buhl said however, that he might consider the post sometime in the distant future or run if and when a second circuit court judgeship is created.

Warshawsky, 53, has already received the endorsement of the Van Buren Republican Women's club for the post, and is generally felt to have the strongest support among party officials.

Another factor in his favor is his personal friendship with Gov. Milliken, who appointed him in February, 1970 to the Van Buren probate bench, replacing the retiring Judge William P. Wright. Warshawsky is also well-known by state officials after running unsuccessfully for attorney general in 1964 and the Michigan Supreme court in 1966.

Warshawsky has served three terms as Van Buren prosecutor eight years as a county circuit court commissioner. He lost to Anderson in a bid for the circuit court judgeship in 1972.

Daines, 61, resigned as district court judge at Paw Paw last Oct. 1, less than three months after an unsuccessful attempt at election to the state appeals court. He had been appointed district court judge

STEVENS VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to vote next week to confirm John Paul Stevens as a member of the Supreme Court following the unanimous recommendation of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said he hoped to bring the nomination up in the Senate on Monday.

In 1969, and was re-elected in 1972. From 1955 to 1959 he was Van Buren's prosecuting attorney.

In a letter this week to Harold G. Schuitmaker, president of the Van Buren Bar association, copies of which were sent to county attorneys, Daines said it was "generally accepted" that he was in line to succeed Anderson before he (Daines) resigned.

Daines said he resigned because he could no longer continue as district judge from an economic standpoint, citing children in college and another near high school graduation.

In a cover note to the letter,

Daines acknowledged that "another candidate (presumably Warshawsky) has already obtained commitment from certain local political sources."

Goodwillie, 35, reportedly has a number of supporters among the bar association membership, which is currently conducting a poll.

One factor which could weigh in Goodwillie's decision on whether to seek the post is the fact that he is president-elect of the Michigan District Court Judges association. He has been quoted as saying there are a number of pieces of legislation he is interested in working for through the association, something which would be precluded should he be a circuit judge.

Goodwillie was elected to the bench in 1968 and re-elected in 1972. Prior to that he had been Van Buren prosecutor for 3½ years and before that in private practice.

The Van Buren GOP executive committee is scheduled to meet Wednesday to make a recommendation on a successor to Anderson. Mrs. William (Bee) Lackey, party chairman, said she has been told by state officials that an announcement on the appointment could come as early as two weeks after the new year.

Low Hospital Bid: $3.8 Million

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

DOWAGIAC — VanderVeen Construction company of Kalamazoo was the apparent low bidder yesterday for Lee Memorial hospital's new addition and remodeling project.

The firm's low base bid of $3,814,177 was among 13 bids received by hospital officials at city hall here. Base bids ranged up to a high of $4,700,000. One bid was totally rejected by the project's architects. It came from Hewitt &amp; Royer of Kansas City, Mo., and was rejected on grounds it did not meet specifications.

Base bids submitted were as follows: VanderVeen of Kalamazoo, $3,814,177; Pearson Construction company, Benton Harbor, $3,880,000; Miller-Davis, Kalamazoo, $3,978,000; Whitaker Construction, Kalamazoo, $3,984,000; Owens-Ames-Kimball, Grand Rapids, $4,024,000; J.C. Carlson Construction, Grand Rapids, $4,038,000; Holland Construction, St. Joseph, $4,042,790; H.G. Christman Construction, South Bend, $4,048,000; Sollitt Construction, South Bend, $4,050,000; Harry H. Verkler Construction, South Bend, $4,258,000; Gariup Construction, Gary, Ind., $4,280,000; and Phi Construction, Lansing, $4,700,000.

In addition each firm submitted six alternate bids, not included in the base bid, for such items as unfinished area, care-flex environmental system, laundry remodeling, pediatric-adolescent area, dietary area, and fabric. The combined bids, base plus alternates, ranged from $4,170,945 to $5,156,096.

Including base bid plus alternates, VanderVeen Construction company was again low bidder at $4,170,945. Other total combined bids were as follows: Pearson, $4,287,090; Christman, $4,383,500; Carlson, $4,392,350; Whitaker, $4,397,245; Owens-Ames-Kimball, $4,401,950; Miller-Davis, $4,423,000; Holland, $4,427,450; Sollitt, $4,492,000; Gariup, $4,667,000; Verkler, $4,680,000; and Phi, $5,156,096.

Thomas Dube, hospital administrator, said the bids would be taken under advisement. He said the bids "were higher than we had hoped," and indicated the lowest total combined bid was about $500,000 more than expected.

Small districts hurt

Michigan Budget Cuts Unfair, Says Rep. Ray Mittan

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

LANSING — State Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) said he is "angered" over the method used to cut $123.7 million from Michigan's budget.

"I am very disturbed that the budget cuts, which take effect immediately, hit smaller outstate school districts very hard while only having a minor effect on larger metropolitan school districts," Mittan said.

Mittan emphasized that he is not opposed to cutting the budget, but said he was very upset about the way the cuts were made and their "disastrous effects" on outstate school districts. Mittan noted that a quick comparison between the first executive order issued by the governor last month and the one that was approved this week "really tells the story."

"In the first order, there were cuts in Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) benefits — in the latest order this area was untouched," Mittan said. "In the first order, there were substantial reductions in revenue sharing to local communities — In the latest order, the cuts in this area were far less drastic and of course, the biggest benefactor of the revenue sharing program is the City of Detroit," Mittan said.

"The new order which was approved was completely devoid of cuts in areas where pressure groups dictated those areas to be left alone," he said.

"I might point out that the cuts in education will be deducted from the next state aid payment — it's automatic, no questions asked," Mittan said. "I realize the budget had to be cut to avoid a deficit down the road. In fact, I'm sure the budget will have to be cut again," he said.

Mittan said he did not object to cutting the budget as opposed to raising taxes. "I do, however, object to one area having to swallow the lion's share of the cuts. In this case, it's education."

He explained that when budget cuts are necessary, the governor issues an executive order proposing spending cuts which are considered only by the appropriations committees of the State House and Senate. The entire legislature does not have a vote on cutting the state budget.

"I am told that only two of the five Republican members of the House Appropriations committee voted to approve the executive order, and three who opposed it told me that Republican members had no input whatsoever in the drafting of the executive order," Mittan said.

"It appears that the decisions were made by the Democratic leadership and the governor's office. It's quite obvious the executive office and the Democratic leadership saw fit to cut heavily in only one area rather than to cut across the board which have been equitable," he said.

South Haven To Reward Shoppers

SOUTH HAVEN — The retail division of the South Haven Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Mystery Shopper" to promote downtown shopping in the evenings the week before Christmas, according to David Szarkowski, retail division chairman.

The mystery shopper will hand out gift certificates from South Haven stores to customers in downtown businesses during the evening shopping hours from Dec. 15-19.

Certificates will range in value from $1 to $5 and are to be used in the sponsoring store against any purchase. The certificates must be redeemed by Dec. 20.

Bailiff Heine Had Illustrious Music Career

By DENNIS COGSWELL

LAWTON — His name was Hendrik J. Buytendorp, but most of his friends just knew him as "Heine."

A long-time Van Buren circuit court bailiff and one-time symphony orchestra conductor, Buytendorp died Wednesday evening at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw. He was 79.

A colorful man who always seemed to have a smile on his face, Buytendorp had an almost musical quality in his voice when he announced in a thick Dutch accent that court was in session.

Born in The Hague, The Netherlands, on June 12, 1896, he studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music before emigrating to Kalamazoo in 1926. While in Kalamazoo he was director of the Western Michigan university band and one of the founders of the Kalamazoo Junior Symphony.

He also taught for a period at the University of Michigan.

In 1935 he moved to Baton Rouge, La., to teach at Louisiana State university. About five years later he founded the Austin, Tex., Symphony Orchestra.

Buytendorp's son, Henry C. (Colonel) Buytendorp, recalled that while his father was at Austin a number of classical music stars, including Arthur Rubenstein, Lawrence Melchior, and Van Cliburn appeared with the symphony.

Buytendorp even went before the Texas legislature one time in order to gain permission to have black opera star Marian Anderson appear with the symphony, a brave move then in view of the segregation laws, his son said.

Buytendorp left Austin in 1949, building a house on Gravel lake near Lawton the next year. From then until his retirement in 1961, Buytendorp was a band and choir teacher at Decatur high school.

After his first "retirement", Buytendorp went to work for the Van Buren sheriff's department, first as a marine deputy and later as bailiff. He also served during that time as a truancy officer for the Van Buren intermediate school district.

Although he could play nine instruments, Buytendorp specialized in the cello, bass, and sousaphone, his son said.

Henry Buytendorp noted that when chiding his music students to do better, his father would always note that if he could play with false teeth, they should be able to play with real ones. Funeral services were to be held today. Burial was to follow in Oak Grove cemetery.

VARIED CAREER: Death this week closed colorful career of Hendrik Buytendorp of Lawton. The Van Buren circuit court bailiff was former director of Western Michigan university band and founder-conductor of symphony orchestra in Austin, Tex.

Galien Man Heads County Ag Committee

BARODA — Orville Welbaum, of Galien, was reelected chairman of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee during the ASC annual county convention last night.

The three-man committee has a hand in running various federal agricultural programs implemented in Berrien county, according to Milton Francis, manager of the Berrien ASC office.

George Lozmack, of Three Oaks, was reelected vice chairman of the committee and Robert Barchett, of Bainbridge township, remains third member, Francis reported.

Lozmack's three-year term on the county committee was set to expire last night, but the convention delegates named him to another term. About 40 people were at the meeting, held here in the township hall.

Lake Twp. Rapist Awaiting Sentence

A man accused of breaking a woman's cheekbone with a hammer and then raping her pleaded no contest yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct.

Judge William S. White accepted the plea of Donald Gene Roberts, 33, of Bonne Terre, Mo., and remanded him to the county jail to await sentencing of up to life in prison.

The plea came just before Roberts' trial was to begin in court. He was charged with raping a 43-year-old woman from Alabama after striking her in the face with a hammer while in a car. Sept. 9 on Hildebrandt road in Lake township.

Northern Complaining About Camellia Bowl's Weather

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Would anyone believe a football team from the chilly reaches of Michigan's Upper Peninsula is complaining about miserable California weather?

Northern Michigan University players aren't happy with the damp, foggy, 48-degree weather in which they're practicing for Saturday's Camellia Bowl, says a spokesman.

"Actually, we played in pretty good weather all season back in Marquette," said Gil Krueger, NMU sports information director. "The worst weather was when we played at Ypsilanti against Eastern Michigan."

While NMU prepared itself for the game against favored Western Kentucky, the weather back home was sunny and in the low 20s.

Western Kentucky, which owns a 11-1 season record, is favored by three to six and one-half points to beat Northern Michigan in the battle determining the NCAA Division II champion.

Captain Gil Krueger says he isn't letting the role of the underdog bother him.

"That's nothing new for us," he told reporters. "We haven't been favored all year. The seven times they (newspapers) have published odds on us, we've been the underdogs."

"Maybe it's because we really haven't overwhelmed anybody this year. Lots of our games have been close, and Western Kentucky has been in the title game before," he said.

Northern Michigan, 12-1 this season, was anything but a title contender in 1974, when the Wildcats were winless in 10 games.

Krueger has spent much time explaining the dramatic turnaround.

"Number one, we weren't that bad a football team in 1974," he says. "Seven of our 10 losses we lost late in the ballgame, the last

Heard said the team is used to being described as a modern Cinderella, and notes "we've been wearing the slipper all year long."

Northern Michigan and the Western Kentucky have the good wishes of the Senate as the teams head for the NCAA Division II football championship Saturday.

The Senate passed a resolution Thursday praising the teams. The measure was introduced by Sens. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.; Philip Hart, D-Mich.; Wendell Ford, D-Ky.; and Walter Huddleston, D-Ky.

The resolution, passed on a voice vote, reads:

"Whereas the Northern Michigan University Wildcats and coach

Gil Krueger have come back from a winless football season in 1974 to compile a 12-1 record and a victory in the Pioneer Bowl;

"And whereas the Western Kentucky University Hilltoppers and coach Jimmy Flex possess an 11-1 record in winning the Ohio Valley Conference football championship and the Grantland Rice Bowl game for the second time in three years;

"And whereas these two outstanding college football teams meet Saturday in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II championship final;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Senate of the United States recognizes the excellence and good sportsmanship displayed by both of these teams, commends them on the credit they have brought to their schools and states; and wishes both teams well in the national championship game."

Bonds, Medich Keys In Two Startling Deals

Yanks Alter Player Image

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees startled the winter baseball meetings by unloading superstar Bobby Bonds in the first of two trades designed to give the team a new player image to go with its refurbished stadium.

The question is whether the Yanks got their money's worth in deals Thursday with the California Angels and Pittsburgh Pirates. They gave up Bonds and popular pitcher Doc Medich. In return, they got a swift outfielder in Mickey Rivers, and three pitchers, Ed Figueroa, Ken Brett and Dock Ellis, and infielder Willie Randolph.

Visibly shaken by the trade, Bonds said, "The next time something like this happens, I'll want to know what's going on and why before I leave. It's going to have to be with my consent, 'cause otherwise I'm not going."

"I tried to give the Yanks everything I had last year. The most disappointing thing was not being able to play the entire year healthy. I played hurt since June and still hit 32 homers.

That's a depressing thing, that I contributed to the club and now I'm gone."

The wheeling and dealing by New York was the big news at the fifth day of the meetings, which also brought the announcement that the National League would continue to finance the financially troubled San Francisco Giants until Dec. 31. The league expects the Giants to be sold to one of a number of bidders, according to League President Charles Feeney.

Also, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in a report after the joint meetings of the major leagues, said that forbearance, not a law suit, will bring the game back to Seattle. And he declared that the philosophy of baseball is that one of the teams in the San Francisco Bay Area, the San Francisco Giants or Oakland A's must move. He wouldn't say which one.

The general consensus on the Yankees' two big deals was that they helped themselves on the trade that sent the slugger Bonds to the Angels for Rivers and Figueroa. The jury was out on the swap with the Pirates that brought the 21-year-old Randolph, untested as a major leaguer, the controversial Ellis, and Brett, who has an elbow ailment that could end his career on any pitch.

The big surprise was moving Bonds, who came to the Yankees last year from the Giants for Bobby Murcer. Bonds played hurt most of last season, but still managed to hit .270 with 32 home runs, 88 RBI, and 30 stolen bases. He set a major league record with his 30 homer-30 stolen base accomplishment for the third straight year.

Yankee President Gabe Paul

tried to explain the Bonds' trade this way: "We didn't win last season. I resisted trading him, but it opened the door for more trades."

In Rivers, New York obtained one of the fastest outfielders in baseball. The 27-year-old Rivers batted .278 with only one homer and 53 RBI, but he stole 70 bases to lead the American League. He gives the Yankees better defense in right field, and could play center if Elliott Maddox's damaged knee acts up.

Paul and Manager Billy Martin wanted Figueroa, so that Medich would be expendable in the deal with the Pirates. Figueroa, a right-hander, won 16 and lost 13 in his first full season, with a 2.90 ERA, the fifth best in the league. Medich was 16-16 with a 3.51 ERA.

Randolph comes highly recommended by scouts as a strong defensive player with a good arm. He can play second or shortstop. He appeared in 30 games for Pittsburgh last season, and hit just .164. He was leading the International League with a .339 average when recalled from Charleston by the Pirates last July.

The 27-year-old Brett is strictly a gamble. He has been on the disabled list several times in the past two seasons with a chronic elbow condition. When he's healthy, the left-hander is a fine pitcher. He was 9-5 with a 3.36 ERA in 1975.

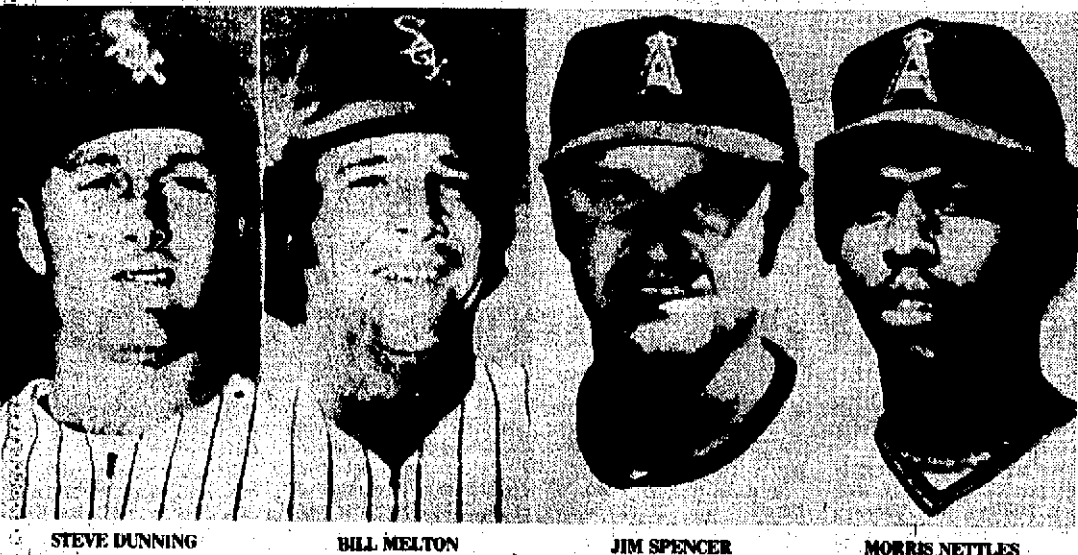

Brett also is one of the best hitting pitchers in baseball with a lifetime .286 average and 10 homers. He had a streak in 1973 of four straight home run games.

In other trades Thursday, as the deal tally mounted to 11 involving 36 players, Houston sent third baseman Dave Rader, the National League's topfielding third baseman, to San Diego for pitchers Larry Hardy and Joe McIntosh; the California Angels moved first baseman Jim Spencer, whom they acquired Wednesday from Texas, to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Bill Melton and right-handed pitcher Steve Dunning; a White Sox farmhand with previous major league experience at Cleveland.

There was speculation late Thursday night that the White Sox were working on a deal that would send veteran southpaw pitcher Wilbur Wood and outfielder Ken Henderson to the Atlanta Braves for outfield speedster Ralph Garr. The inter-league trading deadline is midnight tonight.

Archie Is Upstaged By Griffin Family

NEW YORK (AP) — Les Horvath, the former Ohio State star, once told his wife-to-be she could throw out anything in his bachelor apartment except the Heisman Trophy he won in 1944. That, he said, was something special, something she might never see again.

A short time later, they visited the Glenn Davises, who also lived in the Los Angeles area, and there was Davis' 1946 Heisman on the mantel. Not long after that they visited the Tom Harmon and there on the mantel was Harmon's 1940 Heisman.

"What's so special about that trophy?" the future Mrs. Horvath is supposed to have said. "All our friends have one."

But no one has two ... except Archie Griffin.

Ohio State's current star received his second Heisman Trophy Thursday night at the annual, $50-a-plate Heisman dinner but for once in his record-breaking career he was upstaged ... by his family.

"A long list of Griffins," Archie quipped as he introduced his parents, James Sr. and Margaret Griffin, older brothers James Jr., Larry and Darryl; younger brothers Raymond, Duncan and Keith, and 10-year-old sister-Crystal, "my little heart."

Not to mention a soon-to-be Griffin, Loretta LaPlante, Archie's fiancée.

It was a family-size real-life American success story, proving, Archie said, that "no goal is unattainable and no standard too high to reach if you're willing to put out an effort. I hope other young men and women will see the great American dream as something we can all share."

Archie Griffin, a black from a large Columbus, Ohio, family — the six oldest sons have all played college football — whose father has held two jobs for 25 years because he says his wife "has enough work to do around the house." Archie Griffin, supposedly too small at 5-foot-8 and 184 pounds to stand up to the rigors of big-time college football, who set an all-time major college rushing record of 5,176 yards.

"Archie doesn't act any different after winning two Heisman Trophies," Darryl Griffin said. "We won't let him. If he gets big-headed, we'll beat him up. We must be thankful for our parents. They really brought us up the right way. I don't know how they did it, but they did. We are what our parents made us to be."

But don't get the idea that Archie Griffin is perfect.

"He has one weakness ... he's too nice a guy," said his coach, Woody Hayes, who reportedly doesn't have that problem. "If he walks outside and 100 kids want his autograph, he won't leave until the last one is gone. He's a better young man than he is a football player."

In his acceptance speech, Griffin said the thrill of becoming the first player to win the Heisman twice "far surpasses the feeling of a year ago. Not many people expected me to win the Heisman a second time and not many people expected Ohio State to win the national championship. I want that badge that bad."

The Buckeyes are the nation's No. 1-ranked college football team and seem a cinch to win the national championship if they beat UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

Irish Nearly Break Indiana

Last-Ditch Notre Dame Rally Falls Short

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps said it was time to go, for broke when the eighth-rated Irish slipped 14 points behind top-ranked Indiana Thursday night. But the decision almost broke the Hoosiers, instead.

As it was, Indiana held on for a tense, hard-earned 63-60 victory, its third straight of the season. The loss dropped Notre Dame's mark to 4-1.

Said Phelps: "We just made a desperate run. We've got 10 guys on this team who can play basketball."

Notre Dame, using almost its entire team including three freshmen, upstaged the defense-minded Big 10 champions with a full court zone press late in the game.

The defensive pressure rattled the usually surehanded Hoosiers. Indiana turned the ball over repeatedly, and, with it, almost turned over the game.

"I've said all along that this basketball team has a long way to go," Indiana Coach Bobby Knight said. "Our concentration broke down. This is a team that has got to be better mentally if it's going to reach its potential."

But the problem was much more than cerebral.

The Hoosiers almost squandered the game after forging to a 51-37 lead midway through the second half. The Irish twice pulled to within one point in the final two minutes.

On the first occasion, Scott May hit both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation. Then, with 11 seconds to go, Quinn Buckner, who had missed a pair of free throws just seconds earlier, wrapped up the victory by hitting two.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Rutgers whipped Penn 85-80; Manhattan nipped LaSalle 78-78; Davidson nudged Baylor 88-86; Villanova routed Kings (Pa.) College 108-75; Providence walloped Evansville 89-71; Furman stopped Illinois 73-73; Kansas turned back Boise State 61-58; TCU (tripped Pan American 77-70; Georgia defeated Appalachian State 83-67; Arkansas State beat Tennessee Tech 75-74; West Texas outscored Oklahoma State 63-62 and South Alabama defeated Centenary 74-72.

Rutgers rolled past Penn behind Phil Sellers' 32 points. Rutgers led by as much as 22 1/2 in the first half, and after Penn stormed back to tie the game at 65 in the second half, the Scarlet Knights ran off 15 straight points to break it open.

The game was the opener of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. Rick Marsh scored 23 points and Tom Lockhart had 16 to pace Manhattan over LaSalle in the opener.

Davidson scored the last eight points, capitalizing on turnovers, for a come-from-behind victory over Baylor. The winners got 16 points each from center Eppe Rixey and guard John Gerdy.

Larry Herron scored 18 points and led five double figure scorers as Villanova romped past Kings College. Sophomore Bill Eason scored 22 points and led a second-half Providence surge as the Friars walloped Evansville.

Forward Craig Lynch hit a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds to go to give Furman a tense decision over Illinois. The loss was the first for the Illini this season after five victories.

Kansas went ahead on Herb Nobles' eight-foot shot and then scored eight more points in a row to beat Boise State. Thomas Bledsoe's driving layup with six seconds left carried TCU past Pan American.

Jack Dorsey fired in 29 points to lead Georgia to an easy victory over Appalachian State. Dan Henderson sank two free throws with two seconds left to lift Arkansas State over Tennessee Tech.

Brad Schreck hit an 18-foot jumper with five seconds remaining to pull West Texas over Oklahoma State. John Farmer hit a layup with five seconds left, giving South Alabama its triumph over Centenary.

Youth Awarded $5.3 Million

MIAMI (AP) — "I just hope this will prevent anyone else from being hurt this way," says permanently paralyzed Greg Stead of a federal jury's decision to award him $5.3 million damages for a high school football injury.

The judgment Thursday was against Riddell Inc., a Chicago football helmet manufacturer.

The jury also awarded the youth's father, Cyril, $78,312.19 to cover medical and maintenance expenses for the past four years.

Stead was 16 when his neck was broken during a game on Sept. 30, 1971. The injury came as he tried to make a tackle for Miami Edison in a game against Miami Norland in the Orange Bowl.

The family maintained during the five-week trial that improper design of the helmet caused the injury.

Riddell attorneys had contended there was no proof Stead was wearing one of their helmets when he was hurt.

The family sobbed openly as the verdict was read, causing Judge C. Clyde Atkins to warn against demonstrations in the courtroom.

"Thank God. Thank our attorneys. Thank this court," sobbed the youth's mother, who stayed at the side of her son's wheelchair throughout the trial. Stead is paralyzed from the neck down.

Among those who testified for Stead during the trial was retired Florida A&M University Coach Jake Gaither, who testified the faceguard on the Riddell helmet was too long and had caused the 1979 death of one of his players, Oliver Joyce.

Porter Is Out 10

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Pistons guard Kevin Porter will be sidelined for at least 10 weeks and guard John Mengelt will be out three weeks, the National Basketball Association team said Thursday.

Porter underwent surgery at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor Thursday. Doctors discovered a chipped bone in his

Doctors discovered no cartilage damage during tests Thursday on Mengelt's knee. The ailment was diagnosed as strain.

Northern Complaining About Camellia Bowl's Weather

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Would anyone believe a football team from the chilly reaches of Michigan's Upper Peninsula is complaining about miserable California weather?

Northern Michigan University players aren't happy with the damp, foggy, 48-degree weather in which they're practicing for Saturday's Camellia Bowl, says a spokesman.

"Actually, we played in pretty good weather all season back in Marquette," said Gil Krueger, NMU sports information director. "The worst weather was when we played at Ypsilanti against Eastern Michigan."

While NMU prepared itself for the game against favored Western Kentucky, the weather back home was sunny and in the low 20s.

Western Kentucky, which owns a 11-1 season record, is favored by three to six and one-half points to beat Northern Michigan in the battle determining the NCAA Division II champion.

Coach Gil Krueger says he isn't letting the role of the underdog bother him.

"That's nothing new for us," he told reporters. "We haven't been favored all year. The seven times they (newspapers) have published odds on us, we've been the underdogs."

"Maybe it's because we really haven't overwhelmed anybody this year. Lots of our games have been close, and Western Kentucky has been in the title game before," he said.

Northern Michigan, 12-1 this season, was anything but a title contender in 1974, when the Wildcats were winless in 10 games. Krueger has spent much time explaining the dramatic turnaround.

"Number one, we weren't that bad a football team in 1974," he says. "Seven of our 10 losses we lost late in the ballgame, the last

Heard said the team is used to being described as a modern Cinderella, and notes "we've been wearing the slipper all year long."

Northern Michigan and the Western Kentucky have the good wishes of the Senate as the teams head for the NCAA Division II football championship Saturday.

The Senate passed a resolution Thursday praising the teams. The measure was introduced by Sens. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.; Philip Hart, D-Mich.; Wendell Ford, D-Ky.; and Walter Huddleston, D-Ky.

The resolution, passed on a voice vote, reads: "Whereas the Northern Michigan University Wildcats and coach

Gil Krueger have come back from a winless football season in 1974 to compile a 12-1 record and a victory in the Pioneer Bowl;

"And whereas the Western Kentucky University Hilltoppers and coach Jimmy Flex possess an 11-1 record in winning the Ohio Valley Conference football championship and the Grantland Rice Bowl game for the second time in three years;

"And whereas these two outstanding college football teams meet Saturday in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II championship final;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Senate of the United States recognizes the excellence and good sportsmanship displayed by both of these teams, commends them on the credit they have brought to their schools and states, and wishes both teams well in the national championship game."

Bonds, Medich Keys In Two Startling Deals

Yanks Alter Player Image

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees startled the winter baseball meetings by unloading superstar Bobby Bonds in the first of two trades designed to give the team a new player image to go with its refurbished stadium.

The question is whether the Yanks got their money's worth in deals Thursday with the California Angels and Pittsburgh Pirates. They gave up Bonds and popular pitcher Doc Medich. In return, they got a swift outfielder in Mickey Rivers, and three pitchers, Ed Figueroa, Ken Brett and Dock Ellis, and infielder Willie Randolph.

Visibly shaken by the trade, Bonds said: "The next time something like this happens, I'll want to know what's going on and why before I leave. It's going to have to be with my consent, 'cause otherwise I'm not going."

"I tried to give the Yanks everything I had last year. The most disappointing thing was not being able to play the entire year healthy. I played hurt since June and still hit 32 homers.

That's a depressing thing, that I contributed to the club and now I'm gone."

The wheeling and dealing by New York was the big news at the fifth day of the meetings, which also brought the announcement that the National League would continue to finance the financially troubled San Francisco Giants until Dec. 31. The league expects the Giants to be sold to one of a number of bidders, according to League President Charles Feeney.

Also, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in a report after the joint meetings of the major leagues, said that forbearance, not a law suit, will bring the game back to Seattle. And he declared that the philosophy of baseball is that one of the teams in the San Francisco Bay Area, the San Francisco Giants or Oakland A's must move. He wouldn't say which one.

The general consensus on the Yankees' two big deals was that they helped themselves on the trade that sent the slugging Bonds to the Angels for Rivers and Figueroa. The jury was out on the swap with the Pirates that brought the 21-year-old Randolph, untested as a major leaguer, the controversial Ellis, and Brett, who has an elbow ailment that could end his career on any pitch.

The big surprise was moving Bonds, who came to the Yankees last year from the Giants for Bobby Murcer. Bonds played hurt most of last season, but still managed to hit .270 with 32 home runs, 85 RBI, and 30 stolen bases. He set a major league record with his 30 homer-30 stolen base accomplishment for the third straight year.

Yankee President Gabe Paul

In Rivers, New York obtained one of the fastest outfielders in baseball. The 27-year-old Rivers batted .278 with only one homer and 53 RBI, but he stole 70 bases to lead the American League. He gives the Yankees better defense in right field, and could play center if Elliott Maddox's damaged knee acts up.

Paul and Manager Billy Martin wanted Figueroa, so that Medich would be expendable in the deal with the Pirates. Figueroa, a right-hander, won 16 and lost 13 in his first full season, with a 2.90 ERA, the fifth best in the league. Medich was 16-16 with a 3.51 ERA.

Randolph comes highly recommended by scouts as a strong defensive player with a good arm. He can play second or shortstop. He appeared in 30 games for Pittsburgh last season, and hit just .164. He was leading the International League with a .339 average when recalled from Charleston

by the Pirates last July.

The 27-year-old Brett is strictly a gamble. He has been on the disabled list several times in the past two seasons with a chronic elbow condition. When he's healthy, the lefthander is a fine pitcher. He was 9-5 with a 3.36 ERA in 1975. Brett also is one of the best hitting pitchers in baseball with a lifetime .266 average and 10 homers. He had a streak in 1973 of four straight home run games.

In other trades Thursday, as the deal tally mounted to 11 involving 36 players, Houston sent third baseman Dave Rader, the National League's topfielding third baseman, to San Diego for pitchers Larry Hardy and Joe McIntosh; the California Angels moved first baseman Jim Spencer, whom they acquired Wednesday from Texas, to the Chicago White Sox for third baseman Bill Melton and right-handed pitcher Steve Dunning, a White Sox farmhand with previous major league experience at Cleveland.

There was speculation late Thursday night that the White Sox were working on a deal that would send veteran southpaw pitcher Wilbur Wood and outfielder Ken Henderson to the Atlanta Braves for outfield speedster Ralph Garr. The interleague trading deadline is midnight tonight.

Archie Is Upstaged By Griffin Family

NEW YORK (AP) — Les Horvath, the former Ohio State star, once told his wife-to-be she could throw out anything in his bachelor apartment except the Heisman Trophy he won in 1944. That, he said, was something special, something she might never see again.

A short time later, they visited the Glenn Davises, who also lived in the Los Angeles area, and there was Davis' 1946 Heisman on the mantel. Not long after that they visited the Tom Harmon and there on the mantel was Harmon's 1940 Heisman.

"What's so special about that trophy?" the future Mrs. Horvath is supposed to have said. "All our friends have one."

But no one has two ... except Archie Griffin.

Ohio State's current star received his second Heisman Trophy Thursday night at the annual $50-a-plate Heisman dinner and there on his record-breaking career he was upstaged ... by his family.

"A long list of Griffins," Archie quipped as he introduced his parents, James Sr. and Margaret Griffin, older brothers James Jr., Larry and Darryl; younger brothers Raymond, Duncan and Keith, and 10-year-old sister-Crystal, "my little heart."

Not to mention a soon-to-be Griffin, Loretta LaFitte, Archie's fiancée.

It was a family-size real-life American success story, proving, Archie said, that "no goal is unattainable and no standard too high to reach if you're willing to put out an effort. I hope other young men and women will see the great American dream as something we can all share."

Archie Griffin, a black from a large Columbus, Ohio, family — the six oldest sons have all played college football — whose father has held two jobs for 25 years because he says his wife "has enough work to do around the house," Archie Griffin, supposedly too small at 5-foot-9 and 184 pounds to stand up to the rigors of big-time college football, who set an all-time major college rushing record of 5,176 yards.

"Archie doesn't act any different after winning two Heisman Trophies," Darryl Griffin said. "We won't let him. If he gets big-headed, we'll beat him up. We must be thankful for our parents. They really brought us up the right way. I don't know how they did it, but they did. We are what our parents made us to be."

But don't get the idea that Archie Griffin is perfect.

"He has one weakness ... he's too nice a guy," said his coach, Woody Hayes, who reportedly doesn't have that problem. "If he walks outside and 100 kids want his autograph, he won't leave until the last one is gone. He's a better young man than he is a football player."

In his acceptance speech, Griffin said the thrill of becoming the first player to win the Heisman twice "far surpasses the feeling of a year ago. Not many people expected me to win the Heisman a second time and not many people expected Ohio State to win the national championship. I want that badder than ever."

The Buckeyes are the nation's No. 1-ranked college football team and seem a cinch to win the national championship if they beat UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

Basketball For Girls On Upswing In State Vast Changes In Few Years

From Associated Press

"It's not a girls' game anymore," Kathy Headley insists about basketball for Michigan high school coeds.

"The game is identical to the boys' game. Basically, we're getting on the same basis as boys' interscholastic competition," the coach for unbeaten Jenison High School added Thursday.

Her point may be debatable for some but there have been vast changes in the sport over the past few years.

On the eve of tonight's semifinals in state tournament play, Coach Theolina Horn of Kalamazoo Christian, 14-6, said the tournaments, which began three years ago, "have really helped. I think that's been the turning point."

She compared play and technique in the sport only a few years ago as being "about like guys fifth grade basketball." But she said today's female players "want to play basketball like the guys do" and succeed.

"The skills have improved

much faster than the coaching in some cases," the Class C coach added. "It's just tremendous what happened to us."

A major factor in spurring the sport's success were rule changes. Linda VanEerden, coach at unbeaten Class D semifinalist Allendale, reported only five years ago girls' basketball was a half-court contest. There were six players but none could cross the center line. After three dribbles, the ball had to be passed or shot.

"The thinking back then was that girls did not have the endurance to play a full court game. That's been disproven these past few years," Coach Horn explained.

Today's game includes such "very new aspects" as the fast break and pressure defenses, she added. Both styles of play have been staples of the male way of play.

Schedules have been lengthened, remarkably, too, as interest in the sport grew. Until this year, Allendale never played more than 13 games including tournament competition. Last year, the team made the Class D quarterfinals and still played just 13 games.

Tonight's game is Allendale's 21st this season.

Jenison, 24-0, played only eight games as recently as 1973 and Coach Headley said, "four or five years ago, we only played three or four games. Nobody wanted to practice and then play for only three weeks."

Attendance is soaring too. "We're filling a whole side of our bleachers now. Whereas before, it used to be half or a third of that. We're drawing the crowds now," Coach VanEerden said. She estimated Allendale averaged 300 to 400 spectators per game this season.

Couch VanEerden mentioned another sign of the sport's growing status. She has a male assistant.

Tonight's semifinal pairings at four Grand Rapids area gyms are:

Defending champion Detroit Dominican against Detroit Northeastern and Marquette opposing Farmington Our Lady of Mercy in Class A; Jenison versus Detroit Warren Woods and defending champ Tecumseh against West Branch Ogemaw Heights in Class B; Kalamazoo Christian meeting Hopkins and Gladwin clashes with Allen Park Cabrini in Class C; while defending title Flint Holy Rosary meets Lake City and Allendale takes on Perkins in Class D.

Western Michigan, posting the best early season non-conference record among the conference's 10 members, runs into a difficult three days. The Broncos entertain Michigan State of the Big Ten Saturday afternoon and tonight independent Detroit Monday night.

Eastern Michigan and Ball State, the only other undefeated MAC representatives, face big assignments, too. The Hurons visit Wichita State tonight while Ball State takes on big rival In-

LMC LETTER WINNERS: These six women won letters on the Lake Michigan College basketball team last year and are expected to key LMC hopes again this season. ## Worthington Triple, Starks Record Paces SJ Swim Win

St. Joseph swimmers got three firsts from John Worthington and a pool record by Tom Starks while opening their season Thursday night with an impressive 95-77 triumph over Holland West Ottawa.

freestyle (1:31.3), 100 backstroke (58.7) and teamed with Mike Borre, Tim Monahan and Fred Danaher for victory in the medley relay (1:47.0).

Starks set his pool record of 5:08.7 in the 500 freestyle. Monahan was second in 5:09.4 while also bettering the old mark of 5:10.2 set by John Stob two seasons ago.

Borre finished as a double winner as St. Joe took seven of 11 first places. The Bears also had eight seconds and eight fourths.

"The real story here was our depth," added Womer.

Besides being on the winning medley relay team, Borre also took the 200 individual medley (2:12.39). Other St. Joe winners were Randy Chinery, 100 butterfly (00.9), and Bill Crow, 100 breaststroke (1:09.2).

Dave Beckman was a triple winner for West Ottawa. He took the 50 and 100 freestyle events and was a member of Holland's winning freestyle relay squad.

St. Joseph swims Saturday in the Cerebral Bowl Relays at Battle Creek before returning to dual action Thursday, Dec. 18, at home against East Grand Rapids.

Stakes High At Pittsburgh

Playoff Spots, Title On Line Saturday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two spots in the National Football League playoffs, plus one division title could be decided Saturday when the Pittsburgh Steelers host the Cincinnati Bengals in a nationally televised game.

For the Steelers, 11-1, it's a chance to halt down the Central Division title in the American Football Conference and the homefield advantage in the playoffs that goes with it.

For the Bengals, 10-2 and a game behind division-leading Pittsburgh, a victory would guarantee at least a wild-card berth in the playoffs and give them a shot at the division title.

That seems like a lot to be riding on one game, but there may be less there than meets the eye. Consider the possibilities:

—If the Steelers lose, they can still win the division title by defeating Los Angeles next week, regardless of how Cincinnati fares in its final game against San Diego.

—If the Bengals lose, they can still become the AFC wild-card team by defeating San Diego, regardless of how Miami and Baltimore, the only other teams in the running, do in their final two games.

—In the unlikely event of a tie, the Steelers would be the division champs and the Bengals would be the conference wild-card team regardless of how anyone else does the rest of the year.

The Steelers, eight-point favorites Saturday, have already guaranteed themselves at least a wild-card playoff slot.

If Pittsburgh and Cincinnati should wind up with identical records at the end of the season, the NFL's tie-breaking procedure would award the Steelers the division title because they have fewer losses within the division.

Take away all the "ifs" and what's at stake for the Bengals is a measure of revenge for a 30-24 defeat at the hands of the Steelers earlier this year. For the Steelers it's the division title and the homefield playoff advantage.

Both teams are in pretty good physical shape going into Saturday's game with only one injury of note apiece.

Lancer Wrestling Tourney Saturday

Eight teams will be competing Saturday in the third annual Lakeshore Invitational wrestling tourney.

The preliminaries will begin at noon and run continuously with the finals starting around 5:30 p.m.

Area teams in the tourney include St. Joseph, Lakeshore, Dowagiac and Coloma. The other four squads are Coldwater, Muskegon, Reeths-Puffer, Portage Central and Loy Norrix.

"This looks to be a very competitive tourney this year," commented Lakeshore's wrestling coach, Bruce Bittenbender. "All the teams are improved. Lakeshore has three wrestlers returning to defend their titles. Terry Runge is back at 112 pounds, Scott Husnell returns at 119 pounds and Tom Rennhack at 126 pounds.

Jeff VanHusen of Dowagiac is also back. He will wrestle at either 132 or 138 pounds. "Up and down the line, all have outstanding wrestlers," said Bittenbender.

The Lancers' head man looks for Dowagiac, Reeths-Puffer and Lakeshore to make a run for the title with St. Joseph a darkhorse.

Miller Sees Flaws In Fast WMU Start

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan, the favorite to win the Mid-American Conference this season, has matched its best start in 23 seasons.

Still, Eldon Miller, the Broncos' young, intense coach, sees flaws.

"We need to improve our ability to handle half-court zone pressure defense and be more consistent with our defense," said the coach of the 4-0 Broncos.

Western Michigan, posting the best early season non-conference record among the conference's 10 members, runs into a difficult three days. The Broncos entertain Michigan State of the Big Ten Saturday afternoon and tonight independent Detroit Monday night.

Eastern Michigan and Ball State, the only other undefeated MAC representatives, face big assignments, too. The Hurons visit Wichita State tonight while Ball State takes on big rival Indiana State in Indianapolis Saturday.

Miami, expected to be Western Michigan's principal title challenger, takes Saturday off.

Kent State plunges into the first tournament play of the young season. The Flashers (1-2) are paired with Fordham tonight in the first round of the Marshall Invitational. Marshall goes against Xavier in the other contest.

Basketball For Girls On Upswing In State

Vast Changes In Few Years

From Associated Press

"It's not a girls' game anymore," Kathy Headley insists about basketball for Michigan high school coeds.

"The game is identical to the boys' game. Basically, we're getting on the same basis as boys' interscholastic competition," the coach for unbeaten Jenison High School added Thursday.

Her point may be debatable for some but there have been vast changes in the sport over the past few years.

On the eve of tonight's semifinals in state tournament play, Coach Thelma Horn of Kalamazoo Christian, 14-6, said the tournaments, which began three years ago, "have really helped. I think that's been the turning point."

She compared play and technique in the sport only a few years ago as being "about like guys fifth grade basketball." But she said today's female players "want to play basketball like the guys do" and succeed.

"The skills have improved

much faster than the coaching in some cases," the Class C coach added. "It's just tremendous what happened to us."

A major factor in spurring the sport's success were rule changes. Linda VanEerden, coach at unbeaten Class D semifinalist Allendale, reported only five years ago girls' basketball was a half-court contest. There were six players but none could cross the center line. After three dribbles, the ball had to be passed or shot.

"The thinking back then was that girls did not have the endurance to play a full court game. That's been disproven these past few years," Coach Horn explained.

Today's game includes such "very new aspects" as the fast break and pressure defenses, she added. Both styles of play have been staples of the male way of play.

Schedules have been lengthened remarkably too as interest in the sport grew. Until this year, Allendale never played more than 13 games including tournament competition. Last year, the team made the Class D quarterfinals and still played just 13 games.

Tonight's game is Allendale's 21st this season.

Jenison, 24-0, played only eight games as recently as 1973 and Coach Headley said "four or five years ago, we only played three or four games. Nobody wanted to practice and then play for only three weeks."

Attendance is soaring too. "We're filling a whole side of our bleachers now. Whereas before, it used to be half or a third of that. We're drawing the crowds now," Coach VanEerden said. She estimated Allendale averaged 300 to 400 spectators per game this season.

Coach Horn remembered Kalamazoo Christian making the finals of its regional one year and "there were only 20 spectators besides the parents of the players. Now, they're coming just to see a basketball game — a good basketball game."

Coach VanEerden mentioned another sign of the sport's growing status. She has a male assistant.

Tonight's semifinal pairings at four Grand Rapids area gyms are:

Defending champion Detroit Dominican against Detroit Northeastern and Marquette opposing Farmington Our Lady of Mercy in Class A; Jenison versus Detroit Warren Woods and defending champ Tecumseh against West Branch Ogemaw Heights in Class B; Kalamazoo Christian meeting Hopkins and Gladwin clashes with Allen Park Cabrini in Class C; while defending titlist Flint Holy Rosary meets Lake City and Allendale takes on Perkins in Class D.

Western Michigan, posting the best early season non-conference record among the conference's 10 members, runs into a difficult three days. The Broncos entertain Michigan State of the Big Ten Saturday afternoon and tonight independent Detroit Monday night.

Eastern Michigan and Ball State, the only other undefeated MAC representatives, face big assignments, too. The Hurons visit Wichita State tonight while Ball State takes on big rival Indiana State in Indianapolis Saturday.

Miami, expected to be Western Michigan's principal title challenger, takes Saturday off. Toledo also is idle this weekend.

Kent State plunges into the first tournament play of the young season. The Flashes (1-2) are paired with Fordham tonight in the first round of the Marshall Invitational. Marshall goes against Xavier in the other contest.

In other games Saturday, defending MAC champion Central Michigan (2-1) is at San Jose State, Northern Illinois (1-3) at North Carolina-Charlotte and Ohio University (1-3) at Pittsburgh.

Worthington Triple, Starks Record Paces SJ Swim Win

St. Joseph swimmers got three firsts from John Worthington and a pool record by Tom Starks while opening their season Thursday night with an impressive 95-77 triumph over Holland West Ottawa.

freestyle (1:51.3), 100 backstroke (58.7) and teamed with Mike Borre, Tim Momany and Fred Danaher for victory in the medley relay (1:47.0).

Starks set his pool record of 5:08.7 in the 500 freestyle. Momany was second in 5:09.4 while also bettering the old mark of 5:10.2 set by John Steeb two seasons ago.

Borre finished as a double winner as St. Joe took seven of 11 first places. The Bears also had eight seconds and eight fourths.

"The real story here was our depth," added Womer.

Besides being on the winning medley relay team, Borre also took the 200 individual medley (2:12.39). Other St. Joe winners were Randy Chinery, 100 butterfly (60.9), and Bill Crow, 100 breaststroke (1:09.2).

Dave Beckman was a triple winner for West Ottawa. He took the 50 and 100 freestyle events and was a member of Holland's winning freestyle relay squad.

St. Joseph swims Saturday in the Cereal Bowl Relays at Battle Creek before returning to dual action Thursday, Dec. 18, at home against East Grand Rapids.

Bid Halted By Two Pins On Last Toss

Zilke Comes Close To 300

FRED ZILKE

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Two pins.

That's all that stopped Fred Zilke from putting his name on the ABC 300 list Tuesday night.

Zilke, a 33-year-old bowler from Lake Michigan Beach, started his final game in the Twin City Kings league at Blossom Lanes with 11 consecutive strikes.

But then Zilke, feeling the intense pressure, crossed over to the Brooklyn side on his final toss and left the No. 9 and 10 pins to finish with a super 298 game, the highest sanctioned game in the area in two years.

"Just too much pressure," laughed Zilke, who started the night with games of 176 and 181. "It should of been in the pocket but crossed over. It still looked good...there was a possibility of a strike. Yea, I was a little shaky in the knees.

"When I went up there I just wanted to get the ball down the center of the alley and stay away from the foul line. With all the pressure I was thinking it would be funny to throw a gutter ball."

Zilke, whose previous high game was a 246, had struck Brooklyn hits to collect strikes in four of the first five frames.

"I felt a lot of pressure in the eighth because I had never gotten past eight in a row before," added Zilke, who carries an 108 average in the league. "But otherwise I was taking one frame at a time."

"I really wasn't doing anything different...the last game; just putting the ball down on the alley."

Zilke, bowling on lanes Nos. 25 and 26, was disappointed at not notching the 300 but happy with the 298. "I'll just keep trying for a 300," he stated.

Zilke, a pattern maker at Industrial Pattern in Benton Harbor, will get an ABC patch and ring for the 298, which helped his The Establishment No. 2 team to a 2715 team series.

In a change in the women's standings this week, Big Boys took fifth spot in high team series with a 2908 in the Friday Night Oodtimers league at Blossom Lanes. Estelle Bailey paced the effort with 559 while Jessie Smith flung 532 and Joan Haase 530.

Also, high team series leading Bank Of Three Oaks popped 2513 with Lillian Kerns and Bess Maranto leading the way with 554 and 544 series, respectively.

Barb Hersh continued her 800 bing with a 800 in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock Mixed league at Gersonde's. Barb now has three 800 series this season, tops in the area. There have been a total of 14 women's 800 series so far this season compared to 16 at this same time last year.

The Rose Die Cast squad improved its second place spot in the men's high team series listings by 13 pins with a 2959 in the Classic league at Blossom Lanes Thursday night.

Rangers Put End To Bruin Streak

Esposito Return To Boston Shocking Success

BOSTON (AP) — It was a homecoming of sorts and Phil Esposito definitely looked out of place. There was one of the Boston Bruins' all-time greats wearing the visiting blue uniform of the New York Rangers and taking pregame warm-up at the wrong end of the rink.

Esposito showed no outward emotion as he skated around to the tune of a standing ovation from a packed crowd of more than 15,000 Thursday night at Boston Garden. He tried to play it cool all the way.

Once the game started, however, he settled down and concentrated on the job at hand. Only this time he was out to beat the Bruins, not trying to win a game for them.

In his first Boston appearance since his shocking trade to the Rangers last month, the big center was credited with two assists, one on Steve Vickers' tie-breaking goal in the second period, as New York posted a 5-1 victory. The loss snapped the Bruins' 14-game unbeaten string.

"I was pressing, there's no doubt about it," Esposito said after becoming only the seventh player in National Hockey League history to crack the 1,200-point mark. "It was an emotional thing, definitely."

In Thursday night's only other NHL game, the Minnesota North Stars turned back the Kansas City Scouts 5-3. In the World Hockey Association, the Edmonton Oilers tipped the Calgary Cowboys 3-2 and the Indianapolis Racers salvaged a 3-3 tie with the San Diego Mariners.

Esposito reached 1,200 points with his assist. Then he went to 1,201 by helping set up Vickers for another goal in the third period. He now has 541 goals and 690 assists in his career. And the bulk of his scoring — 458 goals and 553 assists — came in just over eight seasons with the Bruins.

Bryan Hextall scored two goals and added two assists for Minnesota. Kansas City peppered Minnesota goalie Pete LoPresti with 10 shots in the first four minutes but came up empty-handed and the North Stars led 2-0 after the first period on goals by Hextall and Ernie Hicke. Bill Goldsworthy and Dwight Blawie gave the Stars a four-goal advantage in the second period.

Goals by Tim Sheehy and Norm Ullman in the first six minutes of the third period capped a rally that began after a pair of goals by Butch Bortner and Steve Vickers to a 2-0 lead early in the second period. Rusty Patenaude began the comeback with his 18th goal of the season at 13:18 of the second period.

Goals early in the third period by Blair McDonald and Nick Harbaruk rallied Indianapolis from a 3-1 deficit. San Diego took a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Norm Ferguson and Ray Adduono. The Racers' Al Karlender scored with 17 seconds left in the period and Adduono gave San Diego a 3-1 lead late in the second period.

New Witness Found In Carter Case

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A state assemblyman who studied the Rubin "Hurricane" Carter case says "there's a lot more going on than people think."

Assemblyman Eldridge Hawkins, D-Essex, reportedly uncovered a previously unknown witness to a triple slaying in Paterson, N.J., for which Carter, a former ranking middleweight boxing contender, and John Artis were given life sentences.

Hawkins turned his report over to Gov. Brendan T. Byrne Wednesday night, but the New Jersey governor refused Thursday to disclose the contents of the report or indicate what influence it will have on his decision.

"There is good reason why the governor can't say anything now about certain things," Hawkins said. However, the lawyer-legislator said, "I got the feeling that (Byrne) got the feel that certain things have to be done."

The two men are seeking a new trial on grounds that two key prosecution witnesses at the 1967 trial have changed their testimony in a way that would favor their case.

McGinnis 'Hunks' Victory To 76ers

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

You really have to hand it to George McGinnis.

The Philadelphia 76ers did Thursday night and as a result, had a 110-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Phoenix Suns.

McGinnis kept getting the ball from his teammates and wound up with a game-high 28 points, including 14 in the last 10 minutes.

"His offense is super," said Philadelphia coach Gene Shue. "He's been great."

McGinnis not only contributed offensively, but defensively as well. The powerhouse forward made a vital steal and turned it into a three-point play with 52 seconds left.

In the other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks defeated the Buffalo Braves 122-99; the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the New York Knicks 108-95; the Washington Bullets walloped the New Orleans Jazz 117-109 and the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Portland Trail Blazers 101-88.

Nine of McGinnis' points came in the last two minutes after Phoenix had edged ahead 100-99 with 2:30 left. The victory boosted Philadelphia's record to 17-6 and gave the 76ers six straight victories. The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for Phoenix and left the Suns at 11-9. Alvan Adams was high for Phoenix with 21.

Atlanta's John Drew came off the bench and exploited for 13 second-period points to ignite the Hawks to an easy victory over slumping Buffalo. Drew, who finished with 29 points, teamed with Tom Henderson, who popped in 10 points in the second period, as the Hawks overcame a 28-24 Buffalo first quarter margin to take a 58-44 halftime lead.

Henderson finished with 21 points. The Braves lost for the eighth time in 10 games and fell below .500 at 11-12.

Dick Snyder and Bobby Smith scored 12 points each in a third-period rally as Cleveland ended a three-game losing string by beating New York. Cleveland center Jim Chones added 10 of his team-leading 26 points in the final period to help keep the Knicks at arm's length.

Phil Chenier tossed in 24 points and got plenty of help from his teammates as Washington raced past struggling New Orleans. Jimmy Jones had 16 points while Elvin Hayes, Len Robinson and Dave Bing each had 15 in the balanced Bullet attack.

Paced by the shooting of Janual Wilkes and Charles Dudley, Golden State pulled away in the second half to beat Portland. The NBA's defending champions remained unbeaten at home through 10 games and made their over-all season record 16-6.

Palazzolo Tops Church Of God

In the junior high division, Neal Kirkwood scored 11 points as Presbyterian beat St. Joe Methodist 35-29 and Peace Temple won by a forfeit.

Billy Martin Victim Of Extortion Attempt

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia (AP) — Billy Martin, the New York Yankees manager, has been the victim of an extortion attempt by a local attorney, the daily newspaper "El Herald" reported here Thursday.

The name of the attorney was not disclosed by the paper; but it says he had asked $15,000 "to solve the case of Kelly Anne," Martin's daughter who has been held here since November 16 on drug charges.

Reports from Hollywood, Fla., quoted Martin as saying that a lawyer from Barranquilla "intended to get a big amount of money from me" with the promise of setting her free.

The case of Kelly Anne is under the jurisdiction of a military court because of the state of siege that has existed in Colombia since last June.

Miss Martin, 22, was in Colombia on vacation, and apparently she was handed a package of 445 grams of cocaine by an American named John Collins, the paper said.

Lakeshore Frosh Win

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Brad Layman scored 27 points and Joey Hager added 16 as Lakeshore's freshman basketball team handed Berrien Springs its first loss of the season Thursday night, beating the Shamrocks 62-36. Marc Florian tossed in 16 for Berrien. Both teams are now 3-1.

Covert Wins

COVERT — Leonard Berry scored 12 points as Covert's eighth grade basketball team beat Saugatuck's eighth graders 53-9 here Wednesday.

The Covert seventh graders also came up with a 27-20 win over Saugatuck. Curtis Wright led the Bulldogs with 13 points.

Zilke Comes Close To 300

FRED ZILKE

Two pins.
That's all that stopped Fred Zilke from putting his name on the ABC 300 list Tuesday night. Zilke, a 33-year-old bowler from Lake Michigan Beach, started his final game in the Twin City Kings league at Blossom Lanes with 11 consecutive strikes.

But then Zilke, feeling the intense pressure, crossed over to the Brooklyn side on his final toss and left the No. 9 and 10 pins to finish with a super 298 game, the highest sanctioned game in the area in two years.

"Just too much pressure," laughed Zilke, who started the night with games of 176 and 161. "It should of been in the pocket but crossed over. It still looked good...there was a possibility of a strike. Yea, I was a little shaky in the knees.

Zilke, whose previous high game was a 246, had used Brooklyn hits to collect strikes in four of the first five frames. "I felt a lot of pressure in the eighth because I had never gotten past eight in a row before," added Zilke, who carries an 188 average in the league. "But otherwise I was taking one frame at a time. I really wasn't doing anything different the last

Zilke, bowling on lanes Nos. 25 and 26, was disappointed at not notching the 300 but happy with the 298. "I'll just keep trying for a 300," he stated.

Zilke, a pattern maker at Industrial Pattern in Benton Harbor, will get an ABC patch and ring for the 298, which helped his The Establishment No. 2 team to a 2715 team series.

In a change in the women's standings this week, Big Boys took fifth spot in high team series with a 2508 in the Friday Night Goodtimers league at Blossom Lanes. Estelle Bailey paced the effort with 559 while Jessie Smith flung 532 and Joan Haase 530.

Also, high team series leading Bank Of Three Oaks popped 2513 with Lillian Kerns and Bess Maranto leading the way with 554 and 544 series, respectively.

Barb Hersh continued her 600 binge with a 609 in the Sunday Night Six O'Clock Mixed league at Gersonde's. Barb now has three 600 series this season, tops in the area. There have been a total of 14 women's 600 series so far this season compared to 16 at this same time last year.

The Rose Die Cast squad improved its second place spot in the men's high team series listings by 13 pins with a 2959 in the Classic league at Blossom Lanes Thursday night.

Jimmy Kashouty of Victoria, Texas, will long remember the eight day span between Feb. 13 and Feb. 20 of last year. He had three chances to roll ABC sanctioned 300's and each time settled for 299.

Split conversions in the area included the 6-7-10 by Lou Schlutt, Karol Ann Johnson, Helen Job, Denise Grau, Phil Adkins, Annie Kasischek, Pat Burkett, Carol Hetfield and Barry Craft; the 6-7 by Jim Brown, Denny Miller, Delores Huston and Bill Meeker; the 4-7-10 by Virgil Shirley and Bill Callahan; the 4-10 by Kermit Johnson and Russell Tidey; the 4-6-10 by Jim Lezak; the 7-8-10 by Sue Kuzma and the 4-7-9-10 by Joan Chester.

Roger Nelson converted the 4-9-10, 6-7 and 1-2-10 all in one night while Betty Forray hit the 6-7-10 and 5-7 in one night.

Laurel Webster won a century patch for his 259 game, exactly 100 pins over his average.

Esposito Return To Boston Shocking Success

BOSTON (AP) — It was a homecoming of sorts and Phil Esposito definitely looked out of place. There was one of the Boston Bruins' all-time greats wearing the visiting blue uniform of the New York Rangers and taking pregame warm-up at the wrong end of the rink.

Esposito showed no outward emotion as he skated around to the tune of a standing ovation from a packed crowd of more than 15,000 Thursday night at Boston Garden. He tried to play it cool all the way.

Once the game started, however, he settled down and concentrated on the job at hand. Only this time he was out to beat the Bruins, not trying to win a game for them.

In his first Boston appearance since his shocking trade to the Rangers last month, the big center was credited with two assists, one on Steve Vickers' tie-breaking goal in the second period, as New York posted a 5-1 victory. The loss snapped the Bruins' 14-game unbeaten string.

"I was pressing, there's no doubt about it," Esposito said after becoming only the seventh player in National Hockey League history to crack the 1,200-point mark. "It was an emotional thing, definitely."

In Thursday night's only other NHL game, the Minnesota North Stars turned back the Kansas City Scouts 5-3. In the World Hockey Association, the Edmonton Oilers nipped the Calgary Cowboys 3-2 and the Indianapolis Racers salvaged a 3-3 tie with the San Diego Mariners.

Esposito reached 1,200 points with his assist. Then he went to 1,201 by helping set up Vickers for another goal in the third period. He now has 541 goals and 660 assists in his career. And the bulk of his scoring — 459 goals and 553 assists — came in just over eight seasons with the Bruins.

Bryan Hextall scored two goals and added two assists for Minnesota. Kansas City peppered Minnesota goalie Pete LoPresti with 10 shots in the first four minutes but came up empty-handed and the North Stars led 2-0 after the first period on goals by Hextall and Ernie Hicke. Bill Goldsworthy and Dwight Bialowas gave the Stars a four-goal advantage in the second period.

Goals by Tim Sheehy and Norm Ullman in the first six minutes of the third period capped a rally that began after a pair of goals by Butch Deadmarsh staked Calgary to a 2-0 lead early in the second period. Rusty Patenaude began the comeback with his 18th goal of the season at 13:18 of the second period.

Goals early in the third period by Blair McDonald and Nick Harbaruk rallied Indianapolis from a 3-1 deficit. San Diego took a 2-0 lead on first-period goals by Norm Ferguson and Ray Adduono. The Racers' Al Karlander scored with 17 seconds left in the period and Adduono gave San Diego a 3-1 lead late in the second period.

New Witness Found In Carter Case

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A state assemblyman who studied the Rubin "Hurricane" Carter case says "there's a lot more going on than people think."

Assemblyman Eldridge Hawkins, D-Essex, reportedly uncovered a previously unknown witness to a triple slaying in Paterson, N.J., for which Carter, a former ranking middleweight boxing contender, and John Artis were given life sentences.

Hawkins turned his report over to Gov. Brendan T. Byrne Wednesday night, but the New Jersey governor refused Thursday to disclose the contents of the report or indicate what influence it will have on his decision.

"There is good reason why the governor can't say anything now about certain things," Hawkins said. However, the lawyer-legislator said, "I got the feeling that he (Byrne) got the feel that certain things have to be done."

The two men are seeking a new trial on grounds that two key prosecution witnesses at the 1967 trial have changed their testimony in a way that would favor their case.

McGinnis 'Hands' Victory To 76ers

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
You really have to hand it to George McGinnis.

The Philadelphia 76ers did Thursday night and as a result, had a 110-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Phoenix Suns.

McGinnis kept getting the ball from his teammates and wound up with a game-high 28 points, including 14 in the last 10 minutes.

"His offense is super," said Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue. "He's been great."

McGinnis not only contributed offensively, but defensively as well. The powerhouse forward made a vital steal and turned it into a three-point play with 32 seconds left.

In the other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks defeated the Buffalo Braves 122-99; the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the New York Knicks 109-95; the Washington Bullets walloped the New Orleans Jazz 117-109 and the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Portland Trail Blazers 101-89.

Nine of McGinnis' points came in the last two minutes after Phoenix had edged ahead 100-99 with 2:30 left. The victory boosted Philadelphia's record to 17-6 and gave the 76ers six straight victories. The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for Phoenix and left the Suns at 11-9. Alvan Adams was high for Phoenix with 21.

Billy Martin Victim Of Extortion Attempt

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia (AP) — Billy Martin, the New York's Yankees manager, has been the victim of an extortion attempt by a local attorney, the daily newspaper "El Herald" reported here Thursday.

The name of the attorney was not disclosed by the paper, but it says he had asked $15,000 "to solve the case of Kelly Anne." Martin's daughter who has been held here since November 16 on drug charges.

Reports from Hollywood, Fla., quoted Martin as saying that a lawyer from Barranquilla "intended to get a big amount of money from me" with the promise of setting her free.

The case of Kelly Anne is under the jurisdiction of a military court because of the state of siege that has existed in Colombia since last June.

Miss Martin, 22, was in Colombia on vacation, and apparently she was handed a package of 445 grams of cocaine by an American named John Collins, the paper said.

Officials have accused Miss Martin of attempting to board a plane for the U.S. with the cocaine concealed on her person.

Stardom and success are often transient commodities, but the really good professionals have a remarkable staying power. One man who has endured countless musical periods and generations of listeners is Perry Como, the subject of this week's cover story. His "Mr. Nice Guy" image and mellifluous voice have earned him perennial popularity. This week, Perry shares some fond memories of his Italian upbringing and offers a great festive salad to spruce up the traditional Christmas feast. Perry feels that it's important to have traditional meals at holiday time, but when you have to watch your weight, as he does, his recipe for Christmas Ribbon Salad comes in handy, yet still has an elegant, holiday appeal. ## Ethics Speedup On Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to speed up implementation of Michigan's new political ethics act has won approval in a Senate committee.

The three-bill package would permit the immediate appointment of a Political Ethics Commission, provided for under the bill. It was approved unanimously Thursday by the Senate Municipalities and Elections Committee.

The new law does not take effect until April 1, and supporters say that won't give the commission time to draft guidelines for the law to cover next fall's elections.

Thus legislation was introduced to give "immediate effect" to the portion of the bill calling for the ethics commission to permit its appointment next month so it can begin drafting rules under the new law.

The legislation has already passed the House and will need a two-thirds vote in the Senate to obtain the "immediate effect." The original law failed to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary for immediate effect and was delayed until April.

Final Word Is Milliken's On Navy Seafarer Project

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken, not the Defense Department, will apparently have the final word on whether Project Seafarer is built in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, a top Milliken aide said Thursday.

Executive assistant George Weeks said Asst. Defense Secy. Thomas Reed reaffirmed by phone last week "our understanding that the Defense Department did not intend to recommend Michigan as the site for Seafarer if the governor objected."

Who held the power to decide the project's fate was in dispute briefly after a Navy lieutenant commander, in an Upper Peninsula speech, inferred Congress could decide where the underground antenna grid would be built — regardless of Milliken's opinion.

Milliken has strongly opposed the project, which would provide a communications system for the Navy and its submarines.

Weeks said Milliken would write to Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld by Monday "to seek in writing the assurance we already have verbally."

"We assume the civilian leaders in the Defense Department speak with greater authority than a lieutenant commander," said Weeks.

At Milliken's invitation, the Navy is studying the impact the project would have on the land, environment and people in the U.P. It is also looking at sites in Nevada and New Mexico as alternatives.

Off-Road Vehicle Bill Ready For Milliken's Pen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to regulate the use of off-road vehicles in Michigan has won final approval in the state Legislature.

The Senate voted 25-1 Thursday for a bill which would require registration of such vehicles and spell out where they can be operated on public and private lands. The bill gives the Department of Natural Resources wide authority to designate where such vehicles could be used in state parks and game areas — a matter of controversy between ORV enthusiasts and other recreation users.

The bill is intended to curb abuse of the growing recreation sport — expected to include some 400,000 vehicles within three years — and curtail damage to the environment from the ORV's.

Affected by the bill would be motorcycles, dune buggies, all-terrain vehicles and other such vehicles. It would not affect registered snowmobiles or farm, military, fire, emergency, law enforcement or construction machinery.

Vehicles operated only on their owners' land or in special events held with a permit from the government would be exempt from the registration requirement.

But all other ORV's would have to be registered with the Department of State under a three-year fee of $8. The bill also requires vehicle identification numbers and sets insurance standards for those who offer ORV's for rent.

The vehicles could be operated only on designated roads, trails or other areas while in state game areas, parks and recreation areas.

On other state lands, the state Natural Resources Commission would establish rules for their operation.

ORV's could not be operated in forest nurseries or planting areas, in dedicated natural areas or where their operation would create erosion or damage or destroy trees or crops.

They could not be operated on private property without the consent of the owner, and the operator would be liable for any damage to private property. Their use would be curtailed during the firearm deer season and they would be banned from cemeteries, railroad rights of way, streams — except to cross them at designated spots — and for hunting.

The bill spells out required equipment on the ORV's. It also permits local governments to further regulate them within the law.

Law enforcement officers could issue tickets for violation of the new act which would constitute a misdemeanor.

The new law does not take effect until April 1, and supporters say that won't give the commission time to draft guidelines for the law to cover next fall's elections.

Thus legislation was introduced to give "immediate effect" to the portion of the bill calling for the ethics commission to permit its appointment next month so it can begin drafting rules under the new law.

The legislation has already passed the House and will need a two-thirds vote in the Senate to obtain the "immediate effect." The original law failed to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary for immediate effect and was delayed until April.

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of Britain's junior hospital doctors and the Labor government agreed early today on a wage formula that may result in resumption of normal hospital operations after a two-week slowdown.

Final Word Is Milliken's On Navy Seafarer Project

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken, not the Defense Department, will apparently have the final word on whether Project Seafarer is built in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, a top Milliken aide said Thursday.

Executive assistant George Weeks said Asst. Defense Secy. Thomas Reed reaffirmed by phone last week "our understanding that the Defense Department did not intend to recommend Michigan as the site for Seafarer if the governor objected."

Who held the power to decide the project's fate was in dispute briefly after a Navy lieutenant commander, in an Upper Peninsula speech, inferred Congress could decide where the underground antenna grid would be built — regardless of Milliken's opinion.

Milliken has strongly opposed the project, which would provide a communications system for the Navy and its submarines.

Weeks said Milliken would write to Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld by Monday "to seek in writing the assurance we already have verbally."

"We assume the civilian leaders in the Defense Department speak with greater authority than a lieutenant commander," said Weeks.

At Milliken's invitation, the Navy is studying the impact the project would have on the land, environment and people in the U.P. It is also looking at sites in Nevada and New Mexico as alternatives.

Off-Road Vehicle Bill Ready For Milliken's Pen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to regulate the use of off-road vehicles in Michigan has won final approval in the state Legislature.

The Senate voted 25-1 Thursday for a bill which would require registration of such vehicles and spell out where they can be operated on public and private lands. The bill gives the Department of Natural Resources wide authority to designate where such vehicles could be used in state parks and game areas — a matter of controversy between ORV enthusiasts and other recreation users.

The bill is intended to curb abuse of the growing recreation sport — expected to include some 400,000 vehicles within three years — and curtail damage to the environment from the ORV's.

Affected by the bill would be motorcycles, dune buggies, all-terrain vehicles and other such vehicles. It would not affect registered snowmobiles or farm, military, fire, emergency, law enforcement or construction machinery.

Vehicles operated only on their owners' land or in special events held with a permit from the government would be exempt from the registration requirement.

But all other ORV's would have to be registered with the Department of State under a three-year fee of $9. The bill also requires vehicle identification numbers and sets insurance standards for those who offer ORV's for rent.

The vehicles could be operated only on designated roads, trails or other areas while in state game areas, parks and recreation areas.

On other state lands, the state Natural Resources Commission would establish rules for their operation.

ORV's could not be operated in forest nurseries or planting areas, in dedicated natural areas or where their operation would create erosion or damage or destroy trees or crops.

They could not be operated on private property without the consent of the owner, and the operator would be liable for any damage to private property. Their use would be curtailed during the firearm deer season and they would be banned from cemeteries, railroad rights of way, streams — except to cross them at designated spots — and for hunting.

The bill spells out required equipment on the ORV's. It also permits local governments to further regulate them within the new law.

Slick Roads Trigger Rash Of Smashups

Icy roads caused by freezing rain over a 16-hour period Thursday and early today were blamed for 41 traffic accidents, one which hospitalized a woman and six that injured eight others, Twin Cities area police reported.

A Benton township woman was listed in "fair" condition with broken ribs today at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, sustained in a one-car accident, one of three reported to township police. The woman was identified as Edna Jane Nagle, 60, route 2, box 238, Blue Creek road. Police said her car slid off Benton Center road into a ditch north of Napier avenue about 7:30 p.m.

Benton Center road, south of Britain avenue shortly after 5:30 p.m., township police said a car driven by Betty Jo Ballard, 29, of 3608 Fieldtree road, Benton township, slid off the road and rolled over in a field. She was treated for cuts and bruises and released from Mercy hospital.

Ruth Ann Meade, 27, of 252 Clardelle drive, Benton township, told township police her car slid into the raised sidewalk on the Euclid avenue overpass over East Main street about 8:10 p.m. She sought her own treatment for apparently minor injuries, police said.

Township police indicated no tickets were issued in any of the three accidents.

St. Joseph township police said the driver of a truck, loaded with cheese, was injured when his truck flipped over after hitting a patch of ice on Washington avenue at the overpass over I-94. Cyril Edward Spleer, 27, Grand Rapids, was treated for a back injury and released from Memorial hospital. St. Joseph, after the 7 p. m. accident. No ticket was issued, police indicated.

Four persons were hurt in two accidents investigated by Berrien sheriff's deputies. A car driven by Bradley James Bryan, 18, of 1611 Sun Prairie drive, St. Joseph township, hit a patch of ice on Washington avenue south of John Beers road, Lincoln township, rolling over into a ditch ditch, deputies said. Bryan and a passenger, Jim Christopher, 16, of 1010 Broad street, St. Joseph, were treated and released from Memorial hospital after the 9:20 p.m. accident.

Two Indiana men were treated and released from Memorial hospital after their pickup truck spun off I-196 near Hagar Shore road, Hagar township shortly after midnight today, deputies said. Driver of the truck was identified as Joseph T. Mackey, 37, Gary, and his passenger was listed as J.C. Desormeaux, 28, Hammond.

Deputies said no tickets were issued in the two accidents.

Benton To Study Foster Home Bid

The Benton township planning commission sent to committee last night a request to operate an adult foster care home at 1709 Wood avenue.

Thelma Thomas, who said she worked for Gateway Inc. in Berrien Springs, requested a special-use permit to operate the foster home for 11 mentally handicapped adults. The 17-room house is located on City of David property, between Crystal and Euclid avenue.

The planning commission sent the request to committee for further study and also directed the land-use committee to determine if the request would fall under special-use permit or rezoning. A license from the State of Michigan is also required to operate a foster care home.

The commission also sent to committee a request by Abe Lieberman of August Pohl Auto Wreckers, 2870 Territorial road, to construct a non-conforming 60 by 100-foot addition to their present warehouse. Lieberman said the company would use the warehouse to strip down automobiles during the winter.

The township planning commission's next meeting will be Jan. 8. The regularly scheduled meeting, which falls on Christmas Day, will not be held.

New Buffalo Township Okays Water Plan

NEW BUFFALO — An engineer's master plan for providing municipal water for residents of New Buffalo and Chikaming townships was approved by the New Buffalo township board last night. The plan calls for the construction of three different water lines from New Buffalo city which would carry water to the two townships.

The New Buffalo township approval of the plan sets the stage for public meetings on the proposal in January, February and March. The plan approved last night did not mention possible construction costs, or how water rates would be determined.

In approving the plan from Williams and Works, a Grand Rapids engineering firm, the township also voted to pay the costs of the study, not to exceed $5,600.

A second line from the New Buffalo city limits to the Indiana-Michigan state line via US-12.

And a third transmission line from the New Buffalo city limits to just beyond Wilson road via LaPorte road (M-239).

The New Buffalo township board said it will meet with New Buffalo city council and Chikaming township officials prior to public meetings tentatively set for Jan. 29, Feb. 26 and March 25.

In other areas, township officials urged a strong letter campaign to state officials to protest the proposed curtailment in office hours of the New Buffalo state police post.

Form letters are available at the township office, township officials said.

Township Supervisor Joseph Svehla said the township's tax roll was returned Monday by the state tax commission.

The tax roll was seized by the tax commission in April after it received allegations of unfair or unequal property valuation assessments.

The tax commission said it could find no willful errors in the tax roll.

Svehla said 33 properties in the township that the commission had said had been omitted from the roll are under water.

Mrs. Joanne Fleck, township supervisor, said tax bills are to be sent out prior to Jan. 8.

Also last night, the board approved a letter of commendation to township Fire Chief Norman Lubke who is retiring after 25 years of fire department service, the last 11 as chief.

Beer Firm Strike Hearing Scheduled

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) has set March 18 for a formal hearing on unfair labor practice charges arising from a contract dispute between South End Beverage, Inc., 1200 South Crystal avenue, Benton township, and its 12 striking workers.

John Ciaramitaro, NLRB representative, said the NLRB recently found "reasonable cause to believe" that South End had violated unfair labor charges filed by the striking workers.

Truck drivers and warehousemen for the beer distributing firm have been on strike since negotiations broke down seven weeks ago.

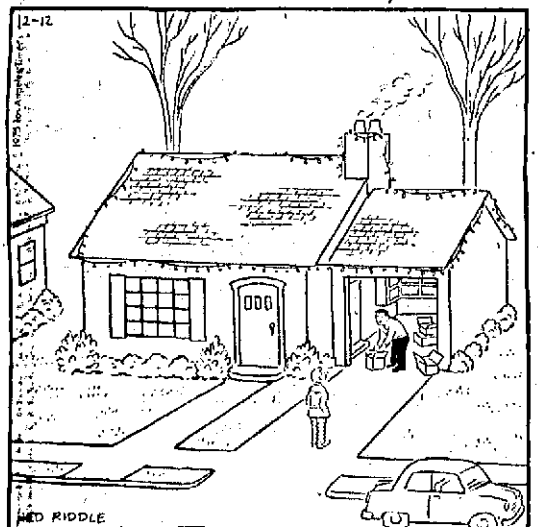

Harry Reynolds, representative for Teamsters Union Local No. 7 which represents the distributor's workers said the workers went on strike because "management has refused to pay wages, benefits and other working conditions equal to other distributors in the area."

South End Beverages distributes Budweiser, Busch, Michelob, and Stroh's beer to stores and taverns.

China On Verge Of Finding Gold In Its Oil Deposits

TOKYO (AP) — China may be ready to start exporting more of its oil to finance industrial development at home, Japanese and Western petroleum experts here say.

The Chinese haven't given out any figures on their oil wealth but some foreign estimates have put their reserves at around 70 billion barrels. Others put the potential even higher than that, when possible offshore deposits are considered. Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil nation, says its reserves are at least 164.5 billion barrels.

A clearer picture of China's intentions is expected when Peking signs its first long-term oil agreement with Japan, possibly next spring. The Japanese want to diversify their sources of oil, which they now get chiefly from the Middle East.

But the experts say a number of obstacles stand in the way of China's admission into the circle of major oil exporting countries. Chinese oil, heavier than Arabian oil and higher in wax content, costs more to refine. Chinese ports still can handle tankers only one-sixth the size of supertankers, making transport costs relatively more expensive.

However, many Western countries like the United States, France and Australia, for a variety of reasons, have shown interest in purchasing Chinese oil.

China's reasons for exporting oil are seen as political as well as economic, although Peking has operated quite unlike members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) since it began selling oil in 1973.

"I don't see China using oil as a weapon like OPEC — threatening to cut it off," said a Western diplomat here. "This is not Chinese behavior."

China already has tried to persuade Japan not to invest in Soviet oilfield development. It also has sold refined petroleum products at terms favorable to Thailand and the Philippines to sweeten the proposition of establishing diplomatic relations.

Romania, which China has courted, could be the first European market for Chinese oil with the recent purchase of 3.5 million barrels of crude, Petroleum Intelligence Weekly has reported.

Some Western observers predict the Chinese will be exporting as much as 700 million barrels a year by 1980, but others say more realistic estimates would be about half that.

The Japanese experience in the past 2½ years it has purchased Chinese oil indicates there are some serious shortcomings which may limit foreign sales.

The high cost of refining due to heavy weight and high wax content and inadequate port facilities are chief among Japanese complaints.

Japan today is China's top customer for oil, contracting for 40.6 million barrels this year, up from 28 million barrels bought in 1974, according to Japan's External Trade Organization (JETRO). JETRO estimated the Chinese will have exported a total of 70 million barrels in 1975.

Toshio Komoto, Japan's minister of international trade and industry, recently returned from talks in Peking expressing confidence that China's present $12.30 a barrel price to Japan will drop during negotiations for what reportedly will be a five-year agreement. The Japanese now pay $11.48 a barrel for Middle East oil.

But many of Japan's refiners don't share Komoto's enthusiasm for Chinese oil, citing the large capital outlays needed to build costly cracking plants to process the heavy oil. Chinese oil also requires higher liquefaction temperatures than Arabian oil during refining because of its high wax content, which makes it less profitable at present prices, they say.

China's geographic proximity to Japan doesn't make shipping costs any lower because Chinese ports up until now have been able to load only 20,000-ton and a few 50,000-ton tankers — compared to the 300,000-ton supertankers that can berth at Mideast oil ports, oil sources say.

China recently announced it has built more wharves, some able to facilitate 100,000-ton tankers. But the Chinese report gave no indication how many large wharves were built nor when they would be operative.

With transport for the time being limited to smaller vessels, the per barrel shipping cost from China to Japan ranges from 70 to 80 cents — roughly the same as shipping charges from the Middle East.

One advantage of Chinese oil over Arabian oil for the pollution-conscious Japanese is its relatively low sulphur content. But refiners say they already have constructed the expensive desulphurization equipment and the savings now would be minimal.

A Japanese official said Japan's desire to diversify its sources of petroleum, now heavily concentrated in the Middle East, was only one of the reasons why Komoto would like to sign a long-term agreement with the Chinese.

"The Chinese are complaining we import much less than we export," he said.

Japan's exports to China in 1974 amounted to $1.99 billion while imports from China totaled $1.3 billion.

China On Verge Of Finding Gold In Its Oil Deposits

TOKYO (AP) — China may be ready to start exporting more of its oil to finance industrial development at home, Japanese and Western petroleum experts here say.

The Chinese haven't given out any figures on their oil wealth but some foreign estimates have put their reserves at around 70 billion barrels. Others put the potential even higher than that, when possible offshore deposits are considered. Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil nation, says its reserves are at least 164.5 billion barrels.

A clearer picture of China's intentions is expected when Peking signs its first long-term oil agreement with Japan, possibly next spring. The Japanese want to diversify their sources of oil, which they now get chiefly from the Middle East.

But the experts say a number of obstacles stand in the way of China's admission into the circle of major oil exporting countries. Chinese oil, heavier than Arabian oil and higher in wax content, costs more to refine. Chinese ports still can handle tankers only one-sixth the size of supertankers, making transport costs relatively more expensive.

However, many Western countries like the United States, France and Australia, for a variety of reasons, have shown interest in purchasing Chinese oil.

China's reasons for exporting oil are seen as political as well as economic, although Peking has operated quite unlike members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) since it began selling oil in 1973.

"I don't see China using oil as a weapon like OPEC — threatening to cut it off," said a Western diplomat here. "This is not Chinese behavior."

China already has tried to persuade Japan not to invest in Soviet oilfield development. It also has sold refined petroleum products at terms favorable to Thailand and the Philippines to sweeten the proposition of establishing diplomatic relations.

Romania, which China has courted, could be the first European market for Chinese oil with the recent purchase of 3.5 million barrels of crude, Petroleum Intelligence Weekly has reported.

Some Western observers predict the Chinese will be exporting as much as 700 million barrels a year by 1980, but others say more realistic estimates would be about half that.

The Japanese experience in the past 2½ years it has purchased Chinese oil indicates there are some serious shortcomings which may limit foreign sales.

The high cost of refining due to heavy weight and high wax content and inadequate port facilities are chief among Japanese complaints.

Japan today is China's top customer for oil, contracting for 40.6 million barrels this year, up from 28 million barrels bought in 1974, according to Japan's External Trade Organization (JETRO). JETRO estimated the Chinese will have exported a total of 70 million barrels in 1975.

Toshio Komoto, Japan's minister of international trade and industry, recently returned from talks in Peking expressing confidence that China's present $12.30 a barrel price to Japan will drop during negotiations for what reportedly will be a five-year agreement. The Japanese now pay $11.48 a barrel for Middle East Oil.

But many of Japan's refiners don't share Komoto's enthusiasm for Chinese oil, citing the large capital outlays needed to build costly cracking plants to process the heavy oil. Chinese oil also requires higher liquefaction temperatures than Arabian oil during refining because of its high wax content, which makes it less profitable at present prices, they say.

China's geographic proximity to Japan doesn't make shipping costs any lower because Chinese ports up until now have been able to load only 20,000-ton and a few 50,000-ton tankers — compared to the 300,000-ton supertankers that can berth at Mideast oil ports, oil sources say.

China recently announced it has built more wharves, some able to facilitate 100,000-ton tankers. But the Chinese report gave no indication how many large wharves were built nor when they would be operative.

With transport for the time being limited to smaller vessels, the per barrel shipping cost from China to Japan ranges from 70 to 80 cents — roughly the same as shipping charges from the Middle East.

One advantage of Chinese oil over Arabian oil for the pollution-conscious Japanese is its relatively low sulphur content. But refiners say they already have constructed the expensive desulphurization equipment and the savings now would be minimal.

A Japanese official said Japan's desire to diversify its sources of petroleum, now heavily concentrated in the Middle East, was only one of the reasons why Komoto would like to sign a long-term agreement with the Chinese.

"The Chinese are complaining we import much less than we export," he said.

VB Farm Bureau Calls For Quick Replacement Of District Hort Agent

Responding to questions raised by the Van Buren County Farm Bureau, a state extension service official said it's "entirely possible" that the position of Southwestern Michigan district horticulturist will remain vacant until next July.

Because of state-imposed budget cuts, the extension service doesn't know when the position, vacant since Jordan Tatter's resignation Nov. 1, can be filled, said Dr. Fred Peabody, associate director of the MSU extension service.

Les Dowd, of Lawrence, president of the Van Buren Farm Bureau, recently wrote the extension service a letter.

He urged the service to find a way around its budget problems without leaving Southwestern Michigan without the technical assistance of a full-time horticultural agent, required to produce high quality fruit and vegetables.

Peabody told this newspaper Wednesday that due to budget reductions "we just don't have money enough to staff all our positions." So tight is the budget squeeze, he explained, that 40 of the service's 400 job positions are now vacant.

The service's answer is to "leave positions open for a while," and apply the money saved in salaries in one area to pay salaries in other areas, said

Peabody. Peabody agreed with the Farm Bureau letter, which called the horticulturist's information about spraying and cultural practices "vital."

He said the service is looking for a qualified, experienced man to fill the vacancy. "We're really anxious to fill the position."

Dowd, in his letter, said farmers and consumers alike will benefit by quick replacement of Tatter, who is now president of Southern Michigan Cold Storage. Peabody agreed, saying that better quality produce is in the interest of all Michigan residents.

Craig Campbell, president of Welch Foods, chat about what they think is the "healthy state" of the Concord grape business. ## Welch/National Presidents: Expanding Markets Will Keep Concord On Top Of Heap

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

In years to come Concord will keep its title of "the bread and butter grape of Michigan and other states," the president of National Grape Cooperative predicted.

In fact, the president of Welch Foods calls the Concord grape "an underdeveloped product." R. Craig Campbell, Welch president, and Harold W. Buchholz, National president, were in Southwestern Michigan this week in connection with a series of meetings being held nationwide for Welch growers.

They talked about overseas trade, pros and cons of co-op membership, the plight of the small grape grower and the future of the American wine industry when interviewed Tuesday. Campbell, who has been Welch president since 1970, is "very bullish" on the future of the two companies. Besides a growing U.S. market, fed by a line of new products, "We now look worldwide — and that's a big market out there."

Over 1 million cases of Welch products — mostly "concentrate" grape juice — have been exported this year, said Campbell.

Buchholz said chances for expanding the market of Concord-based products are very good because the United States is the only producer of the grapes. They hope to slowly build a larger foreign market.

Buchholz, who grows two acres of French hybrid grapes among his 40 acres of Concord, believes that the American wine industry made a mistake when it began peddling "pop wines." He said the cheap, fruity wines "gave the public a bad taste for wine."

He said a high quality product should be made, and he added there is a market for good table wines. The North East, Pa., grower said "Pop wines were a fad."

Campbell mentioned that Welch got out of the wine business 20 years ago and doesn't intend to re-enter that market. "Our plate is pretty full now," he explained.

"It's going to be rough" for the small grape grower in the future, Buchholz predicted. In general, all phases of American agriculture are getting bigger — smaller profit margins force this — he said.

Campbell advised small growers to join a good marketing organization.

Will it be possible for growers without Welch contracts to join the Co-op? Future expansion is planned, the men replied.

Campbell, who lives near the headquarters in Westfield, N.Y., believes that co-ops get food on the table cheaper than any other form of business.

According to Campbell, the goals of any co-op are different from those of other businesses. To pay growers as much as possible, yet put food on the tables of consumers as cheaply as possible.

The men feel that Welch growers, over the years, will earn more per crop than independent growers. Earnings on the 1974 crop in Michigan were some $50 a ton more for Welch growers, as shown by a comparison with company figures and local processors' prices. And Buchholz predicted that Welch growers will earn $100 a ton more on the 1975 crop.

Campbell said there is one disadvantage to co-op membership: "You miss the opportunity to throw the dice and win once in a while." In his opinion, this is overshadowed by the fact that a man has an assured market for his crop.

National, a growers' co-op, bought Welch, a processor, in 1966.

Grape Pruning Shows In Three Counties

Grape pruning experts from National Grape Cooperative and the extension service will demonstrate their craft at four locations next week.

On Dec. 17, a pruning demonstration will be held in both Van Buren and Kalamazoo counties. Berrien growers can view the demonstration at two farms on Dec. 18.

Sites and times follow:
Dec. 17 at 9:30 a.m. at the Ex Oxley farm, Nursery road, Lawton, where Concord, Niagara and French hybrid grapes will be pruned by Bill Greveling, grower relations director for National who will attend all the meetings, and Bob Earl, Van Buren extension director.

Dec. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Peter Dragicevich farm, on Sixth street just south of Q Avenue, Texas township, Kalamazoo county, where Concord and Geneva Double Curtain and standard trellis will be cut.

Dec. 18 at 9:30 a.m. at the Roy Forreht farm, Lemon Creek and Lauer roads, Oronoko township. At 2 p.m. the demonstration, headed by Berrien Horticulturist Harvey Belter, will be given at the Tom Uphues farm, Black Lake and Harner roads, Pipestone township. Belter said that all types of grapes and trellis systems will be available

New Storage Method May Beat CA

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — A Washington State university horticulturist is among scientists at the school developing low-pressure storage which may, within a few years, extend the purchase life of fresh produce nearly the year round.

In many ways low-pressure storage is a refinement of controlled-atmosphere storage, which now makes possible purchase of fresh apples the year round, although the crop is harvested only in summer and fall.

Controlled-atmosphere storage combines temperatures slightly above freezing with an atmosphere of one to four per cent oxygen (ambient air contains about 20 per cent) to slow respiration and therefore aging of apples.

Low-pressure storage adds a third factor, reduced air pressure. The lower pressure allows release of naturally occurring hormonal gas called ethylene from the stored produce. The gas causes ripening in fruit and vegetables.

Great Milk Cow Dead At 19

ADRIAN (AP) — Orwin Mastpiece Riva, the cow that reportedly held the world's record for milk production, died of old age recently. The 19-year-old cow produced an unofficial lifetime total of 346,000 pounds of milk.

Grape Day Set Dec. 15 At LMC

The possibility of selling French hybrid grapes on the fresh market will be discussed, along with many other topics, during Grape Day Dec. 15 at Lake Michigan College.

The meeting will run from 9 a.m. to about 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the college, located on Napier avenue, Benton township. Wine and juice grapes will be discussed at the session by two panels and seven Michigan State university specialists.

Migrant Stream Still Drying

Fewer migrant workers evidently came to Michigan this year than in 1974, says Norman Papsdorf, chief of the Agricultural Labor Camp section of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Although a census of migrant workers is not made, Papsdorf said that the number of agricultural labor camps licensed during 1975 was 1,086, a decrease of 43 from the number of camps licensed in 1974. From these figures, he said, one can infer that fewer migrants journeyed here this year.

This year there was a 2.2 per cent decline in the maximum capacity of adults allowed in Michigan camps, he added. Licensed capacity was 31,492 adults this year and 32,180 in 1974.

This year, however, the average licensed camp capacity increased from 28.5 to 29 adults. Under law, a camp must allow 60 square feet of cabin space per adult and 30 square feet per child.

In 1973, there were 1,163 licensed camps with a capacity for 35,420 adults.

Besides being good to eat, because of high sugar content, hybrids are much tougher skinned than Concord or Niagara, and could ship better. While Antle believes that growers now make better money selling the grapes to wineries, he wants to be prepared in case a glut of wine grapes in California depresses Michigan prices.

During the morning session: Stan Howell will talk on growing juice and wine grapes for production, quality and hardiness; Don Ramsdell will discuss diseases; Economist Myron Kelsey will outline costs of production; and Ron Lockman will tell about weed control.

In the afternoon:

Burt Cargill will speak on trash removal from mechanically harvested grapes; Jerry Cash will look at grape processes and products; George Bird will talk about nematodes; a panel will discuss fresh market opportunities; another panel will discuss experiences growing French wine grapes.

Dec. 18 at 9:30 a.m. at the Roy Forrant farm, Lemon Creek and Lauer roads, Oronoko township. At 2 p.m. the demonstration, headed by Berrien Horticulturist Harvey Belter, will be given at the Tom Uphues farm, Black Lake and Harner roads, Pipestone township. Belter said that all types of grapes and trellis systems will be available at the Berrien sites.

The pruners welcome comments from growers, and encourage those who are skilled in the craft to bring along their pruning shears.

New Storage Method May Beat CA

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — A Washington State university horticulturist is among scientists at the school developing low-pressure storage which may, within a few years, extend the purchase life of fresh produce nearly the year round. In many ways low-pressure storage is a refinement of controlled-atmosphere storage, which now makes possible purchase of fresh apples the year round, although the crop is harvested only in summer and fall.

Controlled-atmosphere storage combines temperatures slightly above freezing with an atmosphere of one to four per cent oxygen (ambient air contains about 20 per cent) to slow respiration and therefore aging of apples.

Low-pressure storage adds a third factor, reduced air pressure. The lower pressure allows release of naturally occurring hormonal gas called ethylene from the stored produce. The gas causes ripening in fruit and vegetables.

Great Milk Cow Dead At 19

ADRIAN (AP) — Orwin Mastertpiece Riva, the cow that reportedly held the world's record for milk production, died of old age recently. The 19-year-old cow produced an unofficial lifetime total of 346,000 pounds of milk.

Demands Excessive —Truckers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargainers for the nation's trucking industry say a contract demanded by the Teamsters union would raise labor costs for trucking companies by 50 to 60 per cent.

Chief industry negotiator William McIntyre said hard bargaining would be needed "to preserve our ability to provide efficient transportation service to the public."

He said "more realistic proposals" by Teamsters officials are expected because of the nation's troubled economy and because of federal plans to deregulate the industry.

DETROIT (AP) — With less than two working weeks remaining, U.S. auto production for 1975 is expected to total 6,727,000 cars, a five-year low for the industry.

Carlos Liberalizes Cabinet

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Leftist opposition to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's political heirs is expected to continue despite the appointment of the most liberal cabinet since Franco crushed the Republic four decades ago. ## White Students Planning Boycott In South Boston

BOSTON (AP) — White students planned to boycott South Boston High School today and anti-busing organizations promoted a "day of mourning" to protest a federal court takeover of the racially troubled school.

Meanwhile, the Boston School Committee voted to ask U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. to name the committee members he referred to as "the majority" in his Tuesday order stripping the committee of much of its power.

The judge said he believed the majority of the committee had failed to implement actively his orders to desegregate public schools.

White Students Planning Boycott In South Boston

BOSTON (AP) — White students planned to boycott South Boston High School today and antibusing organizations promoted a "day of mourning" to protest a federal court takeover of the racially troubled school.

Meanwhile, the Boston School Committee voted to ask U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. to name the committee members he referred to as "the majority" in his Tuesday order stripping the committee of much of its power.

The judge said he believed the majority of the committee had failed to implement actively his orders to desegregate public schools.

Demands Excessive --Truckers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargainers for the nation's trucking industry say a contract demanded by the Teamsters union would raise labor costs for trucking companies by 50 to 60 per cent.

Chief industry negotiator William McIntyre said hard bargaining would be needed "to preserve our ability to provide efficient transportation service to the public."

He said "more realistic proposals" by Teamsters officials are expected because of the nation's troubled economy and because of federal plans to deregulate the industry.

 DETROIT (AP) — With less than two working weeks remaining, U.S. auto production for 1975 is expected to total 6,727,000 cars, a five-year low for the industry.

Stock Trading Is Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower today amid concern over the possibility of an upswing in interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped about a point and a half in the early going, and losers opened up a 5-3 advantage over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

After the close Thursday the Federal Reserve reported that the nation's money supply had jumped to a record level in the latest reporting week.

That statistic in theory might prompt the Fed to tighten its credit policy in order to pursue its avowed goal of holding down inflationary pressures.

Another depressant was the most recent University of Michigan survey of consumer confidence, which showed that the gradual rise in optimism during the first nine months of the year had halted.

Today's early prices included Occidental Petroleum, unchanged at 14 1/2; Denny's, up 1/4 at 18 1/2; Anaconda, up 1/4 at 17; and Merck, down 1/4 at 75 1/2.

In Thursday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.26 to 832.73.

But, gainers managed a very slight edge over losers in the over-all tally on the NYSE.

The exchange's composite index lost .11 to 46.28.

Big Board volume was a moderate 15.30 million shares.

WHO'S PROFITEERING IN FOOD?

The average retail cost of a marketbasket of U.S.-produced foods — enough to feed a typical American household for one year — climbed $126 to $1,860 in the first nine months of 1975.

Only $33 of this $126 went to the farmer. A whopping 74 per cent or $93 of the $126 rise went to the faceless, ever-increasing middlemen: bottlers, meat packers, transporters, processors, wholesalers, grocers.

Overall, for every dollar you spend on food, only 40 cents goes to the farmer — and even this is 6 cents less than he was getting two years ago. Details on specific foods simply underline that central fact. Of the price you pay for a half-pound of American cheese, middlemen take 51 per cent; of the price for a 10-pound sack of potatoes, they take 64 per cent. Of the price for a one-pound loaf of bread, they get 80 per cent. So it goes.

Why? Why are we paying ever more for food, while the farmer's share stays the same or actually falls? What are the reasons for this food price trend? Are today's prices fair or have they been inflated by profiteering and lack of competition?

The startling answer is: we don't know. In fact, the House Agriculture's subcommittee on domestic marketing and consumer relations reported a short while ago that "data presently collected by the government on the food marketing system is not sufficiently specific or timely to allow meaningful interpretation of price changes and profit margins throughout the system."

It was way back in 1966 that the National Commission on Food Marketing completed the last major study of the multi-billion-dollar food industry. There has been no investigation as thorough or conclusive since then.

A 1972 Federal Trade Commission study of 17 food and food-related industries suggested that consumers pay $2.6 billion a year overcharge, because the industries are not competitive. But the FTC never officially endorsed this conclusion, on the basis that the data available was inadequate.

Another FTC investigation grew out of that fiasco. It was begun in June, is called the National Food Program and is receiving 18 per cent of the FTC's $15 million antitrust enforcement budget.

But this probe also may falter because of lack of essential in-

Dow Seeks Tax Break For Project

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. has asked for a 12-year property tax exemption of its planned $2.35 million rehabilitation of the Dow brake fluid production facility.

The Midland city council scheduled a Dec. 22 public hearing on the request.

The fluid plant is in the Dow-Midland complex. The property carries a state equalized value assessment of $118,445.

Dow also asked that councilmen create an "industrial development district" for its proposed construction of a $8.4 million aromatic fire retardant plant. Creation of the district would permit exemption of 50 per cent of the new plant's value from local taxes.

Both requests were made under the Michigan Industrial Rehabilitation Act of 1974.

They were the third and fourth requests by Dow under the new law. The first two were approved by the council, although one was overturned by the State Tax Commission.

Investor Decline: Good And Bad News

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The news is bad," said the chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, James Needham, in announcing the latest shareholder census this week, the first one ever to show a decline.

The details included a drop to 25.2 million shareholders from 30.9 million in 1970, a rise in the median age of shareholders to 53 from 48, and an increase in portfolio size to $10,050 from $7,100.

The announcement came in an atmosphere of foreboding. Confidence has weakened. American industry won't be able to raise capital. People's capitalism is eroding.

"Some reasons were offered. 'Incessant meddling in the securities marketplace' by government, was one. The generally poor performance of the economy was correctly cited. Double taxation of dividends clearly has hurt."

While acknowledging the existence of reasons to be concerned, could there also be a more positive aspect to this census? There could be.

There is the clear suggestion in this census that share ownership has risen too fast, from 12.5 million in 1959 to 17 million in 1962 to more than 20 million in 1965 — and then to nearly 31 million in 1970.

Why Too fast? — Educational attainment did not grow apace, as was demonstrated by the naivete of many stockholders during the 1960s, when spurious advice was accepted uncritically.

"The market structure itself could not accommodate them. It fell apart. Many brokers knew nothing about their customers. They couldn't handle the transactions. They lost track of accounts."

Studying the collapse of scores of brokers, the Securities Industry Protection Corp. found that mismanagement and a lack of understanding of the business itself were high on the list of reasons why.

The behavior of large segments of the marketplace was acknowledged to be scandalous. Disorder and bad ethics prevailed. The industry created superstars and glamor issues to promote sales. Madison Avenue and Wall Streets joined.

An atmosphere existed — not totally but perceptibly — in which the cautionary wisdom of the few was interpreted as the whinnies of weary minds that couldn't adjust to the new modern realities. They weren't with it.

Meanwhile, the institutions moved into control. The big mutual funds, the pension funds, the bank-administered trusts, the insurers, the foundations, took over an increasing share of the trading.

Not only were these institutions growing in size; they were adjusting to the swinging new ways. They were trading more often, sometimes turning over their entire portfolios within a year's time.

Suddenly the mice of men and women who had ventured into the marketplace for the first time found they were playing a game with excited elephants. And the elephants herded; they piled on and off the same stocks at the same time.

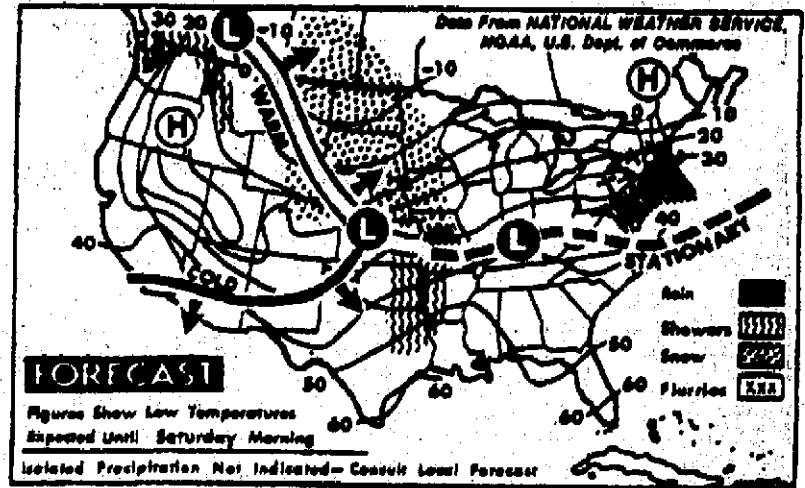

Eventually the individual investor found that such concentrated power could strip him of hundreds and thousands of dollars if he just failed to look at the quotations for a day or so. He pulled out. Mice and elephants can't play together.

So — if you view the decline in share ownership as the inevitable corrective process, you might agree that the news isn't all bad, as Needham said and as many commentators seemed to agree. There are still twice as many shareholders as there were in 1959. A lot of the speculators are gone and so are some of the bad actors among brokers, and the government is seeking to restructure the marketplace.

Maybe a lot more still needs to be done. Perhaps the actions now being taken aren't the best. But there is at least movement toward a better marketplace.

While the exchanges mightn't like what has happened and is happening, you have to take a very broad leap to say that what is bad for them is necessarily bad for the United States of America.

And besides, a new generation of stockholders is always coming on.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Strong Preferreds Good For Income

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am 60, holding some oil company preferred which I bought at a much higher price and which is callable at 10 1/2%. At my age I'll never see the day. A. O.K., but you can hope? You bought the stock for income (I assume) when it was yielding 4.87 per cent. It is now yielding 8 per cent. If you liked it then you should love it now.

If interest rates should decline (although I don't see any signs of a long-term decline) the stock would recover and if rates ever get back down to 4 1/2 per cent or 5 per cent you might even get your cost back.

Incidentally, that call provision is not what you evidently think it is. It is NOT a promise to pay you, or your heirs, 10 1/2%. It represents only an option the corporation has to buy back the stock at 10 1/2% after a certain date. It is not a requirement. It means very little to the shareholder and most likely would never be put into effect unless money rates for A quality preferreds dropped to below 3 1/2 per cent — which is about as likely as milk going back to 8 cents a quart.

Meanwhile, you have a strong preferred, paying a good return.

After the close Thursday the Federal Reserve reported that the nation's money supply had jumped to a record level in the latest reporting week.

That statistic in theory might prompt the Fed to tighten its credit policy in order to pursue its avowed goal of holding down inflationary pressures.

Another depressant was the most recent University of Michigan survey of consumer confidence, which showed that the gradual rise in optimism during the first nine months of the year had halted.

Today's early prices included Occidental Petroleum, unchanged at 14 1/4; Denny's, up 1/4 at 18 1/4; Anaconda, up 1/4 at 17; and Merck, down 1/2 at 75 1/2.

In Thursday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.26 to 832.73.

But gainers managed a very slight edge on losers in the over-all tally on the NYSE.

The exchange's composite index lost .11 to 46.29.

Big Board volume was a moderate 15.30 million shares.

WHO'S PROFITEERING IN FOOD?

The average retail cost of a marketbasket of U.S.-produced foods — enough to feed a typical American household for one year — climbed $126 to $1,860 in the first nine months of 1975.

Only $33 of this $126 went to the farmer.

A whopping 74 per cent or $93 of the $126 rise went to the faceless, ever-increasing middlemen: bottlers, meat packers, transporters, processors, wholesalers, grocers.

Overall, for every dollar you spend on food, only 40 cents goes to the farmer — and even this is 6 cents less than he was getting two years ago. Details on specific foods simply underline that central fact. Of the price you pay for a half-pound of American cheese, middlemen take 51 per cent; of the price for a 10-pound sack of potatoes, they take 64 per cent. Of the price for a one-pound loaf of bread, they get 80 per cent. So it goes.

Why? Why are we paying ever more for food, while the farmer's share stays the same or actually falls? What are the reasons for this food price trend? Are today's prices fair or have they been inflated by profiteering and lack of competition?

The startling answer is: we don't know. In fact, the House Agriculture's subcommittee on domestic marketing and consumer relations reported a short while ago that "data presently collected by the government on the food marketing system is not sufficiently specific or timely to allow meaningful interpretation of price changes and profit margins throughout the system."

It was way back in 1966 that the National Commission on Food Marketing completed the last major study of the multi-billion-dollar food industry. There has been no investigation as thorough or conclusive since then.

A 1972 Federal Trade Commission study of 17 food and food related industries suggested that consumers pay $2.6 billion a year overcharge, because the industries are not competitive. But the FTC never officially endorsed this conclusion, on the basis that the data available was inadequate.

Another FTC investigation grew out of that fiasco. It was begun in June, is called the National Food Program and is receiving 18 per cent of the FTC's $15 million antitrust enforcement budget.

But this probe also may falter because of lack of essential in-

Dow Seeks Tax Break For Project

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. has asked for a 12-year property tax exemption of its planned $2.35 million rehabilitation of the Dow brake fluid production facility.

The Midland city council scheduled a Dec. 22 public hearing on the request.

The fluid plant is in the Dow-Midland complex. The property carries a state equalized value assessment $119,445.

Dow also asked that councilmen create an "industrial development district" for its proposed construction of a $8.4 million aromatic fire retardant plant. Creation of the district would permit exemption of 50 per cent of the new plant's value from local taxes.

Both requests were made under the Michigan Industrial Rehabilitation Act of 1974.

They were the third and fourth requests by Dow under the new law. The first two were approved by the council, although one was overturned by the state Tax Commission.

Investor Decline: Good And Bad News

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "The news is bad," said the chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, James Needham, in announcing the latest shareowner census this week, the first one ever to show a decline.

The details included a drop to 25.2 million shareholders from 30.9 million in 1970, a rise in the median age of shareholders to 53 from 48, and an increase in portfolio size to $10,050 from $7,100.

The announcement came in an atmosphere of foreboding. Confidence has weakened. American industry won't be able to raise capital. People's capitalism is eroding.

Some reasons were offered. "Incessant meddling in the securities marketplace" by government, was one. The generally poor performance of the economy was correctly cited. Double taxation of dividends clearly has hurt.

While acknowledging the existence of reasons to be concerned, could there also be a more positive aspect to this census? There could be.

There is the clear suggestion in this census that shareownership has risen too fast, from 12.5 million in 1959 to 17 million in 1962 to more than 20 million in 1965 — and then to nearly 31 million in 1970.

Why Too Fast?
—Educational attainment did not grow apace, as was demonstrated by the naive of many stockholders during the 1960s, when spurious advice was accepted uncritically.

—The market structure itself could not accommodate them. It fell apart. Many brokers knew nothing about their customers. They couldn't handle the transactions. They lost track of accounts.

Studying the collapse of scores of brokers, the Securities Industry Protection Corp. found that mismanagement and a lack of understanding of the business itself were high on the list of reasons why.

The behavior of large segments of the marketplace were acknowledged to be scandalous. Disorder and bad ethics prevailed. The industry created superstars and glamor issues to promote sales. Madison Avenue and Wall Streets joined.

An atmosphere existed — not totally but perceptibly — in which the cautionary wisdom of the few was interpreted as the whinings of weary minds that couldn't adjust to the new modern realities. They weren't with it.

Meanwhile, the institutions moved into control. The big mutual funds, the pension funds, the bank-administered trusts, the insurers, the foundations, took over an increasing share of the trading.

Not only were these institutions growing in size; they were adjusting to the swinging new ways. They were trading more often, sometimes turning over their entire portfolios within a year's time.

Suddenly the mice of men and women who had ventured into the marketplace for the first time found they were playing a game with excited elephants. And the elephants herded: they piled on and off the same stocks at the same time.

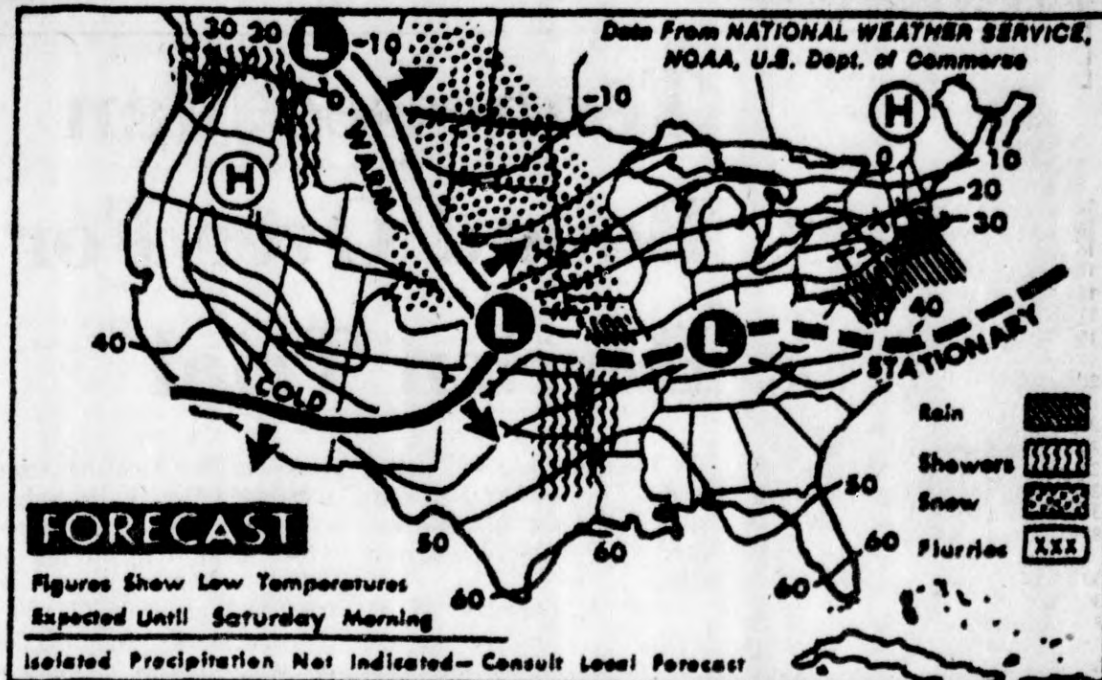

Eventually the individual investor found that such concentrated power could strip him of hundreds and thousands of dollars if he just failed to look at the quotations for a day or so. He pulled out. Mice and elephants can't play together.

So — if you view the decline in share ownership as the inevitable corrective process, you might agree that the news isn't all bad, as Needham said and as many commentators seemed to agree. There are still twice as many shareholders as there were in 1959. A lot of the speculators are gone and so are some of the bad actors among brokers, and the government is seeking to restructure the marketplace.

Maybe a lot more still needs to be done. Perhaps the actions now being taken aren't the best. But there is at least movement toward a better marketplace.

While the exchanges mightn't like what has happened and is happening, you have to take a very broad leap to say that what is bad for them is necessarily bad for the United States of America.

And besides, a new generation of stockholders is always coming on.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Strong Preferreds Good For Income

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I am 69, holding some oil company preferred which I bought at a much higher price and which is callable at 10 1/2. At my age I'll never see the day.

A. O.K., but you can hope? You bought the stock for income (I assume) when it was yielding 4.87 per cent. It is now yielding well over 8 per cent. If you liked it then you should love it now.

If interest rates should decline (although I don't see any signs of a long-term decline) the stock would recover and if rates ever get back down to 4 1/2 per cent or 5 per cent you might even get your cost back.

Incidentally, that call provision is not what you evidently think it is. It is NOT a promise to pay you, or your heirs, 10 1/2. It represents only an option the corporation has to buy back the stock at 10 1/2 after a certain date. It is not a requirement. It means very little to the shareholder and most likely would never be put into effect unless money rates for A quality preferreds dropped to below 3 1/2 per cent — which is about as likely as milk going back to 8 cents a quart.

Meanwhile, you have a strong preferred, paying a good return.

Man Awaits Hearing On Car Theft Charge

CASSOPOLIS — An Alma, Mich., man was in the Cass county jail here awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge stemming from an attempted armed theft of a car Tuesday.

Sheriff's deputies said the man was arrested after the car became stuck in snow and a relative of the car's owner fired a shotgun into the air.

Deputies said John Bowers, 23, Alma, demanded the preliminary hearing on a charge of armed robbery when arraigned Wednesday in Fourth District court. He was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

According to deputies, Andrew Owens, rural Cassopolis, told them a man armed with a rifle took the car from him while he was warming it up about 6:30 a.m. in his driveway.

The car became stuck in snow as the man backed the car toward the road, deputies were told, and Owens' son fired the shotgun.

Deputies said the son came out of the house as the car became stuck.

According to deputies, the man in the car tossed the rifle out of the car after the shotgun was fired.

Deputies said the man was taken into custody at the Owens' property.

Woman Charges She Was Raped

A 17-year-old South Haven woman told Benton Harbor police Thursday she was raped by a man who offered her a ride from the home of a friend to another friend's house.

The woman, who said she had been in the Benton Harbor area a week looking for a place to live, said the man drove her to a house where he said her friend could be found, forced her into a bedroom and raped her.

She said the man then drove her to the intersection of Fair and Highland avenues and let her out about 10 p.m.

She was found by two officers pounding on the door of the Northeast Body Repair shop, 386 North McCord street, about 11:30 p.m.

A large tool box with assorted tools, valued at $500, was reported stolen from a Benton Harbor Engineering warehouse, 622 Langley avenue, St. Joseph police said. Police said the tools were owned by an employee, Daniel Fillmore, route 2, Hartford.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A record player, valued at $80, from a room at Columbus elementary school, 815 Columbus avenue.

—Fifty-five dollars in cash from the home of Geneva Osby, 115 Oden street.

P.O. Losses Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The financially ailing Postal Service says it lost $161 million more during the last fiscal year than the record deficit officials had earlier anticipated. The Postal Service severely underestimated workers compensation payments to employees injured during the fiscal year, a spokeswoman said Thursday. The service only recently learned of the higher workers compensation costs from the Labor Department, making the Postal Service deficit $989 million for the last fiscal year instead of the previous estimate of $828 million, she said.

Warren Family Wins $90,000 Judgment

A $90,000 consent judgment stemming from a car-truck accident which killed a Warren, Mich., woman was entered yesterday in Berrien Circuit court on behalf of the surviving family members.

'Last Hurrah' For Old Square Rigged Sailing Vessels

EDITOR'S NOTE — As part of the American Bicentennial celebration, 20 nations will crowd New York and Boston harbors next July with a huge fleet of old sailing ships.

BOSTON (AP) — "We think it will be the biggest event of the 1976 Bicentennial," says Harry Lynch, a retired Coast Guard captain. "There is no doubt about it being the biggest spectacle of 1976."

"My son will be in it, aboard the Harvey Gamage," says Samuel Eliot Morison, the noted naval historian.

They are referring to Operation Sail '76, when many of the last square rigged sailing ships in the world will be assembled, along with other antique sailing ships, to help celebrate the nation's 200th birthday.

The focus is on a grand parade of sail up New York Harbor on July 4 and another into Boston Harbor six days later. Between 75 and 100 ships are expected to take part.

"I don't think you'll see anything of this magnitude again," said Lynch, who heads the Boston end of the operation.

The Boston parade is expected to be led by the USS Constitution — under tow. She is considered too frail and too much of a national treasure to have sails strain at her rigging.

The gathering is connected with the Tall Ships '76 races between Britain and the United States. The first race begins from Plymouth, England, on May 2; the second, the return leg to Plymouth, starts in Boston on July 15.

"It will be the greatest armada of sailing ships ever seen in this hemisphere," says Barclay Warburton of Newport, R.I., an organizer of the gathering. Warburton skips one of the last privately owned square riggers in the United States — the Black Pearl.

The biggest vessels expected are the powerful, graceful square-rigged training ships, between 200 and 375 feet long. At least 15 of these are due in New York, and as many as 10 in Boston.

About 75 smaller square rigged ships — barkentines; brigantines, hermaphrodite brigs — along with topsail schooners, coasting and cruise schooners, and seagoing ketches, yawls and cutters also are expected.

More than 20 nations will be represented.

The Tall Ships contingent is racing to this country in stages, and will rendezvous with vessels from Latin America and the Far East.

From Bermuda, the armada sets out June 20 on a race to Newport, R.I., where the ships will prepare to sail to New York on July 1.

"As far as the spectator fleet is concerned, on that (arrival) day in Newport it will probably be comparable to — if not more than — the America's Cup," said Coast Guard Capt. Thomas McKenna.

"In Boston, I don't think our problem will be as great as Newport," he added. "From what I understand, it will be a matter of escorting the ships to assigned berths, and I think the majority of spectators will come from shore."

In Boston, most of the fleet is to tie up at the old Boston Army base where many will be opened to the public.

Warburton, who organized the American Sail Training Association in 1972, hopes the Tall Ships visit will spur the United States to develop sail training vessels for young people.

"The idea is to help get youngsters aboard deep water vessels as a part of character training," he said.

The Coast Guard Academy bark Eagle, virtually the only such vessel in U.S. waters, will take part in Operation Sail, but is not expected in Boston because of commitments for the academy's 100th birthday celebration.

Others that may come to Boston include the Soviet Union's 375-foot bark Kruzenshtern; the Gloria of Colombia; Esmeralda, Chile; Amerigo Vesputi, Italy; Sagres, Portugal; Juan Sebastian de Elcano, Spain; Dar Pomorza, Poland; Sir Winston Churchill, England; Duenna, East Germany; HMS Gladan, Sweden; Danmark, Denmark, and Norseman, Holland.

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday Dec. 12, the 349th day of 1975. There are 19 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1642, the Dutch navigator Abel Tasman discovered New Zealand.

On this date: In 1792, 22-year-old Ludwig Van Beethoven paid 10 cents for his first music lesson — from Franz Joseph Haydn.

In 1804, Spain declared war on Britain.

In 1884, Japanese troops invaded Korea.

In 1937, the U.S. gunboat

"Panay" was sunk by the Japanese on the Yangtze River in China.

In 1944, Tokyo was partially evacuated, because of fire-bombing by American planes.

In 1964, Kenya became an independent republic within the British Commonwealth.

Ten years ago: the countdown for the Gemini 9 space flight had to be halted because of an electrical malfunction.

One year ago: eight Latin American countries issued a declaration of agreement to limit armaments and stop acquiring offensive weapons.

Today's birthday: singer Frank Sinatra is 60 years old.

Thought for today: A great man is always willing to be little — Ralph Waldo Emerson, American essayist and poet, 1803-1882.

Bicentennial footnote: 200 years ago today, Benjamin Franklin wrote: "I am very old and can scarcely hope to see the event of this great contest, but, looking forward, I think I see a powerful dominion growing up..."

HEALTH TIP

from beauty expert George Carroll, North Hollywood: "When standing, sitting or lying down — tense the muscles of the abdomen and hold for a full six seconds, several times during the day."

A Harbinger? A new record album has the title, "Songs for the New Depression!"

Overworked Expression: "He's got his head on straight..."

Sign in a jewelry store window: "Buy a Diamond and Make Somebody Happy — US!"

Beauty Hint from singer Freda Payne: When applying eye cream at night, never rub it in.

Always pat the cream from the outer corner of the eyelid to the inner corner. This prevents stretching the muscles around the eye."

Longevity Note: "Friday With Frank," hosted by deejay Sid Mark on Philadelphia radio station WWDB, on Nov. 21 celebrated its 10th anniversary of playing nothing but records of Frank Sinatra!

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Try using a highly-seasoned mushroom sauce when you prepare veal chops to give them an extra zip (Tail O' the Cock, N. Hollywood).

For an unusual sauce for roast chicken, combine soy sauce with a teaspoon of sesame seed (Gaslight Club, NYC).

For a different salad, substitute chopped black olives for the croutons (Mrs. B's kitchen).

PAID PHRASES: "It's a May-December marriage."

"Don't bite off more than you can chew" and "I have an appointment with my sawbones."

'Last Hurrah' For Old Square Rigged Sailing Vessels

EDITOR'S NOTE — As part of the American Bicentennial celebration, 20 nations will crowd New York and Boston harbors next July with a huge fleet of old sailing ships.

BOSTON (AP) — "We think it will be the biggest event of the 1976 Bicentennial," says Harry Lynch, a retired Coast Guard captain. "There is no doubt about it being the biggest spectacle of 1976."

"My son will be in it, aboard the Harvey Gamage," says Samuel Eliot Morison, the noted naval historian.

They are referring to Operation Sail '76, when many of the last square rigged sailing ships in the world will be assembled, along with other antique sailing ships, to help celebrate the nation's 200th birthday.

The focus is on a grand parade of sail up New York Harbor on July 4 and another into Boston Harbor six days later. Between 75 and 100 ships are expected to take part.

"I don't think you'll see anything of this magnitude again," said Lynch, who heads the Boston end of the operation.

The Boston parade is expected to be led by the USS Constitution — under tow. She is considered too frail and too much of a national treasure to have sails strain at her rigging.

The gathering is connected with the Tall Ships '76 races between Britain and the United States. The first race begins from Plymouth, England, on May 2; the second, the return leg to Plymouth, starts in Boston on July 15.

"It will be the greatest armada of sailing ships ever seen in this hemisphere," says Barclay Warburton of Newport, R.I., an organizer of the gathering. Warburton skippers one of the last privately owned square riggers in the United States — the Black Pearl.

The biggest vessels expected are the powerful, graceful square-rigged training ships, between 200 and 375 feet long. At least 15 of these are due in New York, and as many as 10 in Boston.

About 75 smaller square rigged ships — barkentines, brigantines, hermaphrodite brigs — along with topsail schooners, coasting and cruise schooners, and seagoing ketches, yawls and cutters also are expected.

More than 20 nations will be represented.

The Tall Ships contingent is racing to this country in stages, and will rendezvous with vessels from Latin America and the Far East.

From Bermuda, the armada sets out June 20 on a race to Newport, R.I., where the ships will prepare to sail to New York on July 1.

"As far as the spectator fleet is concerned, on that (arrival) day in Newport it will probably be comparable to — if not more than — the America's Cup," said Coast Guard Capt. Thomas McKenna.

"In Boston, I don't think our problem will be as great as Newport," he added. "From what I understand, it will be a matter of escorting the ships to assigned berths, and I think the majority of spectators will come from shore."

In Boston, most of the fleet is to tie up at the old Boston Army base where many will be opened to the public.

Warburton, who organized the American Sail Training Association in 1972, hopes the Tall Ships visit will spur the United States to develop sail training vessels for young people.

"The idea is to help get youngsters aboard deep water vessels as a part of character training," he said.

The Coast Guard Academy bark Eagle, virtually the only such vessel in U.S. waters, will take part in Operation Sail, but is not expected in Boston because of commitments for the academy's 100th birthday celebration.

Others that may come to Boston include the Soviet Union's 375-foot bark Kruzenstern; the Gloria of Colombia; Esmeralda, Chile; Amerigo Vespucci, Italy; Sagres, Portugal; Juan Sebastian de Elcano, Spain; Dar Pomorza, Poland; Sir Winston Churchill, England; Duenna, East Germany; HMS Gladan, Sweden; Danmark, Denmark, and Norseman, Holland.

HIGHLY-UNLIKELY HAPPENINGS: Becoming unglued, hitting the bottle, getting stoned, throwing caution to the wind, batting your eyes and spitting hairs. . . . Celebri-Tip from Dinah Shore: Put a little brown sugar, coconut and cinnamon in fruit salad to give it a fresh new flavor. . . . Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "A jack rabbit can jump 10 times the length of his body in a single bound. The greatest human jumpers can't leap more than five times their body length." . . . A Sagittarian (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) finds great happiness if married to one of his (or her) own sign, or one born under Gemini. . . . Those Laws: A herd of cows may be walked through the streets of Maryland, providing they are led by a farmer with a red lantern! . . . Sudden Thought: People wouldn't get divorced for such trivial reasons if they hadn't gotten married for such trivial reasons! . . . Folklore: A mole on the right leg indicates a good disposition; one on the left leg, a bad temper.

HEALTH TIP from beauty expert George Carroll, North Hollywood: "When standing, sitting or lying down — tense the muscles of the abdomen and hold for a full six seconds, several times during the day." . . . A Harbinger? A new record album has the title, "Songs for the New Depression!" . . . Overworked Expression: "He's got his head on straight." . . . Longevity Note: "Friday With Frank," hosted by deejay Sid Mark on Philadelphia radio station WWDB, on Nov. 21 celebrated its 19th anniversary of playing nothing but records of Frank Sinatra!

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Try using a highly-seasoned mushroom sauce when you prepare veal chops to give them an extra zip (Tail O' the Cock, N. Hollywood). . . . For an unusual sauce for roast chicken, combine soy sauce with a teaspoon of sesame seed (Gaslight Club, NYC). . . . For a different taste in your next Caesar's Salad, substitute chopped black olives for the croutons (Mrs. B's kitchen).
